By Arthur Brisbane

KING PRAJADHIPOK, of Siam, is in America with his Queen, charming couple, and welcome. He, believed to be a direct descendant of Gautama, is known officially as "Supreme Arbiter of the Ebb and Flow of the Tide." That is a heavier load of responsibility.

His Queen's title is "Glorious Lady of God," and she carries the magnificent name modestly and gracefully.

Her name is Rambai Barni. The King has no other wife. His grandfather had 600 wives, 124 sons and 236 daughters. That makes a good many descendants for Gautama, who left his father's palace when his first baby was born.

There are more followers of Gautama, known as Buddha, today than of any other religion, and all they ask is "Nirvana," which means an end to consciousness, eternal rest and seems rather a dull reward. Nirvana, it is said, comes from the word "nibutta," meaning happy. Once, as the young prince passed through a gateway, a young girl called out, "Nibutta, nibutta!" Gautama remembered that.

Our wise young visitor, King Prajadhipok, will attain Nirvana more rapidly than others, presumably, on account of his ancestor, who will be anxious to see him. But he seems in no hurry about it, and comes here to consult American doctors and surgeons. May he find all that he seeks.

Boys and girls knowing little, caring less about Gautama, will teach parents and friends the first lines of "The National Anthem of Siam."

Sung to the tune of "My Country 'Tis of Thee," the Siamese national anthem goes as follows:

"Anrah tannah Siam Geevah tannah Siam"

Later the one deluded learns that he has been singing:

"Oh, rat an ass I am,
Oh, rat an ass I am," etc.

This anthem was composed by the secretary of a U. M. C. A. who had it written on a blackboard and persuaded a party entrance to sing it solemnly.

Sir James Jeans, British astronomer, physicist and mathematician, arrives in New York today bound for Mount Wilson, Cal. On May 29 he will be in Philadelphia to receive the Franklin medal, highest award for physical science in the United States. It is hoped the nation will indicate knowledge of the fact that Jeans is here, and he, at least, as much interested as it would be in the arrival of another giant ape, Primo Carnera, or somebody with a big title and a small brain.

The difference between Jeans and the average man is the difference between an eagle and a hen. The hen knows about her barnyard. The eagle knows many mountain ranges.

The average citizen knows this little earth. Jeans knows the universe. Every intelligent man should read his books, "The Mysterious Universe," "The Universe Around Us," "The Stars in Their Courses," published by MacMillan, and "Eos," published by Dutton & Co. Read those books and you will know something about the universe in which you and your solar system are like one grain of sand on the shores of the Pacific. Don't be like a rat in the bottom of a ship, not even knowing which way the ship is headed.

Your sun is on its way to the blue star Vega, and you are going with it.

Friends in Europe are realizing that Americans can really fly. They learned when Lindbergh landed in Paris, and again yesterday when Capt. Frank M. Hawks decided to see what he could do about a flight from London to Rome. The record, held by the British Wing Commander Kingsford-Smith, was a little over 12 hours.

Hawks flew the distance in less than half that time, 5 hours and 20 minutes. He left London at 6:30 a. m., reached Rome at 11:50. Stayed for lunch, left Rome at 1:42 p. m., and, because of a leaky gas pipe, landed 85 miles south of Paris at 4 p. m.

Landing in Rome he remarked that it was a matter of a trip over the Alps. He had to go up 23,000 feet. He used the plane in which he made his transcontinental record in this country, and is now our champion flier.

If this nation ever gets an adequate air fleet, it will have no difficulty in finding first-class pilots. And after it gets the fleet, plus an adequate submarine fleet, it will have no difficulty with foreign nations. They will leave us alone.

At about the same hour Ben-

MORE X-RAYS FOR RUTH TODAY

Has to Stay in Hospital, and Two Doctors, Two Nurses Are Caring for Him

PICTURE ON PAGE 18

By GEORGE GRIMM

He will be there at least three or four days more, perhaps a week.

He is out of the game for an indefinite period, missing the Yanks' and to baseball what a bad knee and nerves turn in the legs, thighs and back. He is in considerable pain.

The injury suffered by the Big Bam of baseball during yesterday's game with the Red Sox is more serious than at first believed.

He was given a narcotic injection last night to lessen the pain. New rays were taken today.

Even when confined to a hospital cot, Babe Ruth is thinking of the children in orphanages and hospitals who are always asking to see him, and never in vain.

WORRIED ABOUT BOBBY

While physicians were examining him to learn the extent of his injuries he was more concerned over the plight of nine-year-old Bobby Anderson, a patient at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, than he was over his own ailments.

Babe just about saved the life of little Bobby, who has been in bed for almost three years, by visiting

MURDER TRIO ESCAPE IS DESCRIBED

Mrs. Mary L. Bagni, widow of the murder victim, collapsed on the stand while testifying. Mrs. Bagni, dressed in deep mourning, was led sobbing from the stand by court attaches after she told of the bullets gaming out the at... of the shooting when he was brought home by Russell E. Deane.

TELLS OF KILLERS.

Russell E. Deane, a draftsman in the employ of a chain store organization, told of seeing the killers fleeing the scene of the shooting, of trailing their car for a short distance in Alystle ave., and of returning later and taking the dying man to his home.

"I was driving in Shore Drive toward Bagni's station on the evening of Feb. 24 when I saw two men standing in the doorway of the brightly lighted station," Deane said. "As I watched they suddenly ran from the station toward a sedan parked across the corner.

"One of them, as he ran, tried to shove into his pocket a shiny object he held in his right hand.

"They jumped into the car, in which a third man sat at the wheel, and drove away. I pulled alongside and followed them un-

NURSE'S BODY TO BE EXHUMED

Fall River, April 23—The body of Verna Russell, slain student nurse, will be exhumed by Massachusetts authorities for a second autopsy, to be performed by Dr. George B. Magrath, before the end of this week, it was learned today.

The Boston Evening American has also learned that this move is being made solely because of the dissatisfaction of Massachusetts authorities with the first autopsy, performed by Dr. Charles W. Bryant, of Tiverton, and Dr. F. L. Pessoley, of the Truesdale Hospital.

The conference yesterday between Rhode Island and Massachusetts investigators with Dr. Magrath and Dr. Bryant present, ended with the recommendation by Dr. Magrath for exhumation.

It is pointed out that Atty.-Gen. McLyman of Rhode Island is in a position where he must give consent to this move. The work of the Rhode Island examiner and his assistant are so unsatisfactory in the eyes of the Massachusetts offi-

'TAX RACKET' UNCOVERED BY MAYOR CURLEY

Threatening grand jury action, Mayor Curley today declared that a "racket" was indicated by the requests of owners of $150,000,000 worth of Boston property for reductions in the assessed valuations amounting to $50,000,000.

The mayor said that it appeared that attorneys and other representatives of property owners had entered into a scheme to procure abatements on a percentage basis.

He announced that the city would reject the applications and instructed Corporation Counsel Silverman to gather facts for presentation to the district attorney.

A condition that brought about serious situations in Chicago and Fall River, he said, would not be permitted to gain a foothold here.

One petition asks an abatement of approximately $3,000,000, the mayor said, while most were from persons of "wealth and standing in the community." The number from small home owners, he said, was negligible.

INFLUENCE CLAIMED

The lawyers and others whom he blamed for the applications probably claimed to have influence with city officials, the mayor said.

He statements came after a conference in his office with Chairman Frank A. Goodwin of the Finance Commission, City Auditor Rupert S. Carven, Budget Commissioner Charles J. Fox, Corporation Counsel Silverman and Assistant Corporation Counsel Joseph P. Lyons, Edward T. Kelly, chairman of the board of assessors, and Henry L. Daily and Nell Holland, members of the board.

In a formal statement, which he supplemented with a general discussion of the situation, he said:

"DEFINITE RACKET."

"The examination of petitions pending seems to indicate that a definite racket is again in process of development whereby attorneys or representatives of property owners have entered into a scheme to procure abate-

"FIVE and TEN"—By FANNIE HURST—Begins in Tomorrow's Boston American

FATHERS! -:- MOTHERS! -:- SONS! -:- DAUGHTERS!

You are all seeking the door to happiness? Will the acquisition of great wealth give you the key to that door?

Will the ability to gratify your most extravagant whim give it to you?

Read about the Raricks—the thirteenth richest family in the country. Gold was theirs. Father and son, mother and daughter, had millions. Were they happy?

Did the father understand his daughter or his son?

Did the wife properly appraise her husband?

Did the multi-millionaire understand his wife?

Yet they all sought love, romance, happiness. Why did they fail to find them?

Read about the Raricks in Fannie Hurst's famous novel, "FIVE AND TEN."

This epochal novel begins tomorrow in this newspaper. It's a serial for all the family. Follow it day by day.

CHURCH SURRENDERS LEADERSHIP OF 500-YEARS IN SPAIN

ALL SECTS NOW HAVE EQUAL LIBERTY

Religious Conflict Averted; Property Rights of Clergy Respected

By GEORGE W. HINMAN, JR.
(Copyright, 1931, Universal Service, Inc.)

Madrid, April 23—With the church and the state resolved to pursue carefully, each within its own sphere, the task of promoting the welfare of the Spanish people, the danger of a religious conflict threatening the internal peace of the Spanish republic today seems definitely a thing of the past.

Spain, which for five centuries had been a kingdom with a ruler known as "His Most Catholic Majesty" gives every indication of becoming a land with complete religious freedom and equality, with Papal consent.

RECOGNIZE REPUBLIC

The church's foremost spokesmen avow openly Rome's determination to recognize the full secular sovereignty of the republic and within the republican structure to work out promotion of general welfare of all Spaniards.

Sensing the delicacy of the situation, the government is dealing most discreetly with the religious question. While emphasizing the complete equality of all sects and forbidding official participation in sectarian religious ceremonies, it has not interfered with the personal desires and beliefs either of state officials or private citizens.

CHURCH LANDS SAFE

Similarly, the government has demanded that in distribution of lands to the people, church holdings—described as comparatively small—be respected.

Fernando De Los Rios, Minister of Justice—an office formerly known as Minister of Grace and Justice, Grace being the religious aspect of his previous duties—insists that priests must not mix into politics.

This last ruling affects republicans as well as monarchists, it being recognized that a goodly portion, if not even a majority of the lower clergy in the cities, are of republican sympathies.

SOVIET LUMBER AT PROVIDENCE FOR LAW TEST

Providence, April 23—Loaded with 4,000,000 feet of Soviet Russian lumber valued at $100,000 the tramp steamer Anversoise arrived in this city today and the cargo is expected to furnish the first test case since the Treasury Department's ban against convict labor products.

Unless the shippers can prove that convict labor was not used, the lumber will not be permitted to enter the United States.

Customs Collector Emery J. San Souci said today he would not permit the unloading of the cargo until he receives instructions from Washington.

SOVIET DEMANDS TEST

Treasury officials awaited examination of the cargo by experts to determine whether Russia had sent the lumber to test the new regulations barring convict labor productions. It was announced in Russia by Soviet officials that the cargo was sent to the United States for the express purpose of testing the new regulations against convict-made goods.

A. G. Magidson, import representative of Amtorg, the Soviet trading corporation, was in this city to handle the interests of the organization relative to the shipment.

All lumber produced in Russia north of latitude 60 has been barred by the United States Government officials unless the shipper or importer can prove that convict labor was not used in its production.

U. S. EXPERTS ON HAND

United States Treasury officials say they have information that the cargo that arrived here today is spruce from southern Russia where no question of convict labor has been raised. Three experts of American lumber corporations who have been in Providence several days awaiting arrival of the steamer planned to examine the cargo in co-operation with government officials to determine whether the lumber came from southern or northern Russia.

The test the Russian Soviet wishes to make is whether the United States government has a legal right to place the burden of proof upon the importer that no convict labor was used.

Last summer the Treasury Department barred six shiploads of lumber and pulp wood from Russia at Providence and Poughkeepsie, but later admitted it after Assistant Secretary Lowman ruled that evidence was not conclusive that convict labor had entered into its production.

til had taken their license number. Then I returned to the station.

BAGNI STAGGERED OUT.

"As I pulled into the driveway, Bagni staggered out, holding his hands to his stomach, with a look of agony on his face. Inside the station I could see the form of a police dog stretched on the floor in a pool of blood.

"I took Bagni to his home, and assisted his wife in getting him to bed. Then I returned to the station, where a crowd had gathered."

The witness' wife, Mrs. Dorothy A. Deans, followed her husband to the stand and corroborated his testimony. She was riding with her husband on the night of the murder when he saw the bandits flee and later when he took Bagni home in his car.

Another witness introduced by the prosecution was Miss Dorothy A. Kenney of Ashland st., Malden, whose car was used by the bandits in the holdup.

CAR OWNER TESTIFIES

Miss Kenney told of parking her car in Gardner st., Cambridge, early on the evening of the shooting. She returned at 11 o'clock, she said, and found it gone. It was returned to her four days later by police, after it had been identified as the one used by the bandits.

Before the trial got under way today the jury visited the scene of the killing in Somerville.

Dist. Atty. Warren L. Bishop made a brief opening address and then led the way to a bus, which took the jurors to the filling station at Mystic ave. and Shore drive, East Somerville.

The prosecutor called attention of the jurymen to various features of the location and upon the return to court used this information to outline the story of the slaying, as the government expects to prove it.

Prior to the departure to the death scene, Dist. Atty. Bishop asked permission of the court to have the jurors view the exterior of Bagni's home, too, but the defense objected to this as irrelevant and immaterial.

Judge John M. Gibbs refused his consent. Bagni lived on Temple st., Somerville, a few rods from the scene of the shooting.

DEFENDANTS ABSENT.

The defendants did not take advantage of their right to accompany the jurors to the scene, but their attorneys, William H. Lewis for Oliver, Isadore H. Fox for Wall and James S. Cannon for Sousa, went along, as did Judge Gibbs and a court stenographer.

Atty. Lewis, acting as spokesman for the defense lawyers, asked the jurors to take special notice of the dimensions of the interior of the filling station, the doors and the windows.

The jury was completed last night after 137 were examined. More than eight hours were required for the selection of the last juror.

FEDERALS WIN VICTORIES IN HONDURAS

Many Rebels Slain or Captured as Heavy Fighting Is Waged in North

Tegucigalpa, Honduras, April 23 (AP)—The Government today claimed important victories against the revolutionary armies in northern Honduras. Heavy fighting continued near Chamelecon, not far from San Pedro Sula, and reinforcements were rushed to aid the regulars.

A total of 29 dead and many wounded was counted in yesterday's fighting in several minor engagements, but so fierce was the battle being fought in the San Pedro Sula area that it was impossible to estimate the casualties.

ATTACK REPULSED.

The battle at Chamelecon, which has for its prize the railway key point at San Pedro Sula, between Tegucigalpa and the coast, began Tuesday night. The Government forces repulsed an attack on the town and there was a lull, but the attack was renewed yesterday afternoon.

Latest word from the area said Government troops were holding the rebels, but aid was asked and troops were rushed to the regulars' assistance.

PRISONERS TAKEN.

Federal troops attacked a rebel detachment at Guaymas, eight kilometers from Tela, and defeated the group, killing 15 rebels, including Col. Canales, the commander. Several prisoners were taken. The government troops lost three dead and a few wounded.

A rebel attack on Olanchito was beaten off, with a loss of 12 insurgent dead.

Honduras Minister Reports Rebels Quiet

Washington, April 23 (AP)—Minister Lay, to Honduras, informed the State Department today that except for a few skirmishes in the region of San Pedro Sula, there have been no military activities in northern districts recently disturbed by the revolutionary outbreak.

The minister said the major rebel concentration near San Pedro Sula, westernmost of the banana ports, consisted of not more than 400 poorly armed men.

JAP EMPEROR SENDS THANKS

Washington, April 23 (AP)—Friendly messages were exchanged today by Emperor Hirohito of Japan and President Hoover on the visit to the United States of the emperor's brother, Prince Takamatsu and Princess Takamatsu.

The emperor, in a message to the President, thanked him for the hospitality extended the prince.

"I wish to express to you my cordial thanks and deep appreciation of the generous and courteous hospitality extended to my brother, Prince Takamatsu and his Princess Consort by yourself and your government and people," the emperor messaged.

In his reply President Hoover said:

"I thank Your Majesty for your telegram and assure you that it has been a sincere pleasure to have as our guests your distinguished brother and his princess consort. The cordial friendship evinced by our imperial guests has completely won our hearts, and their visit will remain a most pleasant memory."

Simultaneously announcement was made of arrangements for an exchange of programs between the United States and Japan over the National Broadcasting System April 26, at 8:15 a. m., in celebration of the 30th birthday anniversary of the Emperor.

Speaking from Washington, Secretary Stimson will broadcast his address, to be transmitted through out the United States and to Japan for rebroadcasting in that country. Baron Shidehara, Japanese foreign minister, will reply to the Secretary in an address broadcast from Japan.

JUGO-SLAVS FOR TEUTON PACT

Copyright, 1931, by International News Service

Berlin, April 23—Heralding the break up of the Little Entente and menacing France's carefully built-up European structure, Jugo-Slavia is seriously considering adherence to the proposed customs union between Austria and Germany.

Such action would be a radical departure from the code prevailing since the signing of the treaty of Versailles and a signal victory for Germany against the so-called "French Hegemony."

Since the war, Jugoslavia has been an integral part of the "French structure" and with Czecho-Slovakia and Rumania, a member of the Little Entente designed for protection against Hungary and Bolshevist aggression and for promotion of trade along the Danube.

Spain's President Had a Better Time in Jail

Madrid, April 23 (INS)—President Niceto Alcala Zamora, head of the Republican provisional government of Spain, is not sure he wouldn't rather be back in jail, where the monarchy had him lodged, than in the President's office.

"The President's job is not such a soft one," Zamora informed the foreign press correspondents today. "It was much quieter in jail.

CHINA BANDITS 'SOFTENING'

Frank P. Lockhart, American consul-general at Hankow, informed the State Department today that the bandits who have been holding Bert N. Nelson and Kristofer N. Tvedt, a Norwegian missionary, were captured last October. Tvedt, released on payment of ransom, has just reached Hankow. He reported Nelson was well.

"As a result of these discoveries, I have today requested the corporation counsel to designate one of his associates to make a thorough examination of the entire situation and to present to the district attorney all the facts with a view to instituting proceedings before the grand jury to procure indictments for conspiracy and barratry in the case of attorneys who have entered into the racket of encouraging these petitions for abatements.

"The tax abatement racket was responsible for the present financial condition of the city of Chicago and to a great extent was the cause of the financial plight of the city of Fall River, as recently disclosed by James Jackson, financial commissioner of Fall River.

TO BE REJECTED

"I do not propose to allow this racket to gain a foothold in the city of Boston.

"The board of assessors, after a thorough examination of the petitions pending, have decided that in most instances they are without merit and propose to reject them, leaving the petitioners to their statutory remedy in courts of law."

Lawyer Leaps 18 Stories to Death

New York, April 23 (AP)—The body of William E. Carnochan, 63, socially prominent lawyer and resident of a Fifth ave. penthouse apartment, was found early today on a sidewalk. Police said he fell or jumped from his apartment on the eighteenth floor.

The body was identified by his sister, Mrs. Sara Willard. He was a graduate of Williams College in 1887.

METHODISTS TO DEFY PROTESTS

Washington, April 25 (INS)—Disregarding agitation for purchase of its headquarters building opposite the Capitol by the government, the Methodist Board of Temperance and Morals is taking preliminary steps to enlarge the "Methodist Vatican" by building an addition.

Wrecking crews today were engaged in razing old buildings on the property as a preliminary to erection of an addition containing apartments, it was explained at the board's offices.

When the Methodist board made known its intention of enlarging its five-story building, an outcry was raised.

Rep. George Holden Tinkham (R), of Massachusetts, assailed the board as a lobbying organization, which disregarded separation of Church and State and placed its buildings "within the shadow of the Capitol" to further its lobbying efforts."

A bill was introduced by Senator Keyes (R), of New Hampshire, chairman of the Senate Public Buildings committee, to acquire the Methodist building and two blocks of old houses adjacent to the Senate office buildings.

20,000 DOUGLAS LETTERS FOUND

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 23 (AP)—Discovery in a barn of more than 20,000 letters of Stephen A. Douglas which indicate that "had he been elected President in 1860 the Civil War would have been postponed, and possibly altogether averted," was announced by George Fort Milton today, the 118th anniversary of Douglas' birth.

Mr. Milton, editor of the Chattanooga News and author of "The Age of Hate," a biography of Andrew Johnson, is engaged in writing a biography of Douglas.

Finding of the correspondence in an old box in a barn at the home of one of Douglas' grandsons, Robert Dick Douglas, in Greensboro, N. C., was described by Milton as "certainly one of the two or three most important discoveries of source material for the history of America in the 19th century, made in recent years."

Milton says perusal of the letters leads "to the conclusion that in all probability the Civil War was an avoidable war." A similar opinion, as well as the view that Douglas likely would have averted the conflict, are forcibly presented by Edgar Lee Masters in his recent volume on Lincoln.

Wales to Fly Home From Bordeaux

Gibraltar, April 23 (AP)—The British cruiser Kent, en route from China to England and due to stop at Lisbon and pick up the Prince of Wales and Prince George, reached here today. It will put in at Lisbon Saturday and probably leave there with the princes Sunday.

The cruiser will proceed from Lisbon to Bordeaux, whence the princes will fly home April 28, an official announcement at London today said.

Wider Power Urged for Utilities Board

Legislation giving the public utilities commissioners the same regulatory power over gas and electric holdings companies that they now exercise over operating companies was urged at a State House hearing today by Rep. Leo M. Birmingham of Brighton.

LOCAL AFFAIRS OF CONCERN SCANNED

Assistant U. S. Attorney Parker Moves After Department of Justice Starts Inquiry

Local federal officials today began an inquiry into the affairs of the American Bond & Mortgage Co., as part of a nation-wide investigation of the Department of Justice.

The local angle of the probe was launched by Asst. U. S. Atty. Haven Parker following a conference in the Federal building with two representatives of the Attorney General's office in Washington.

The Department of Justice was stirred to action by a flood of complaints against the $100,000,000 concern, which has financed the erection of hotels and apartment houses from coast to coast.

Federal investigation follows legal action instituted in this city and in Augusta, Me., by bondholders of properties located in Brookline and Boston, charging conspiracy to defraud.

LOCAL PROPERTIES.

The local properties involved particularly are 250 Beacon st., an apartment house; Pelham Hall at Coolidge Corner and the Warwick Apartment, in Beacon st., Brookline.

While bondholders' suits here charge conspiracy to defraud and gross mismanagement, it is understood the Federal officials are seeking to determine if sales activities of the company had violated mail laws.

Following the conference, Asst. U. S. Atty. Haven said:

"We are investigating the activities of the American Bond & Mortgage Company, which is nation-wide in scope. The investigation in these parts concerns four transactions in Brookline and four in Boston relative to property matters.

NAMES WITHHELD

"These cases undoubtedly will dovetail in with other affairs of the company in other sections of the country. We want to be sure of our ground before disclosing the names of the parties involved.

"The conference dealt with the propositions to which I referred until such time as we check up I am not at liberty to disclose names. I will say we are going into every ramification."

Residents of Boston and New England are heavy investors in the American Bond & Mortgage Co., in which Judge Joseph Force Crater, missing New York Supreme Court justice, was said to have been involved financially.

SUITS PENDING.

Law suits are now pending in this city and Maine to obtain injunctions restraining the respondents from transferring any cash, books, papers or other property of the company.

The bondholders claim that William J. Moore of Chicago and his son, Harold, with others, are manipulating the properties and planning to sell certain of them at foreclosure sales.

MODERN BOYS 'HALF-WITS'

New York, April 23 (AP)—The modern young man, said Cosmo Hamilton today, is just about 50 per cent below the modern young woman.

It may be due to rickets, Hamilton thinks.

Or it may be because the modern young man "watched the laurel wreaths die" during and after the World War and "grew up in a world without heroes, without illusions, without God."

At any rate, the British author who divides his time between New York and London, observes that:

"The modern young man is afflicted with half-wittedism, a vacuous ego, undesire and inability to earn his living, a tender sidn and mental freckles.

Bandits Rob Society Women of Jewelry

Chicago, April 23 (AP)—Two robbers held up Mrs. Claire E. More and Mrs. Horace L. Hayward, society women, when their automobile stopped in front of Mrs. More's Gold Coast apartment last night and stripped them of jewelry valued at $12,200. They were returning from a loop theater at the time.

Chester & Becket R.R. to Be Abandoned

Washington, April 23 (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today authorized abandonment of the Chester & Becket railroad in Hampden and Berkshire counties, Massachusetts. The railroad was leased to the Boston & Albany and is five miles long.

YOUTHS HELD IN 'KIDNAPING' OUTRAGE

SERGT. BUKER MERLE WILLIAMS EDWARD BURKE

Two Braintree youths held in connection with attack on Miss Harriet Shanly, daughter of Atty. Michael Shanly, of Braintree. The boys are Merle Williams and Edward J. Burke. Williams is held in $20,000 for committing the alleged assault. Young Burke is held in $200 bail on a minor complaint in connection with the case. The boys are shown in custody of Sergeant Edward Buker of the Braintree police. (Staff photo.)

CHUM IS ALSO DETAINED IN ATTACK CASE

Son of a Prominent Family Is Accused of Attacking Victim on an Auto Ride

Charged with attacking a 16-year-old South Braintree girl, daughter of a Boston attorney, Merle Williams, 18, of Grove st., South Braintree, was held in $20,000 bail in the Quincy district court today.

Edward J. Burke, 18, of Plain st., South Braintree, was held in $200 bail on a charge of assault and battery, as the driver of the car in which the attack occurred. According to the victim's story, Burke refused to stop the car or defend her against Williams' attack when she cried for help.

The boys are both members of prominent South Braintree families.

The girl is Miss Harriet Shanly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Shanly of Plain st., South Braintree. Shanly is associated with John P. Feeney, with offices in Tremont st., Boston.

Williams was arrested early today as he slept in a car parked in Columbia st., Cambridge. He told police he had gone to Cambridge to hide and was planning a flight to New York.

Although the assault occurred about 9:30 p. m. Tuesday, the girl said nothing about it until last night when she was questioned by her father, who noticed her hysterical condition.

The father immediately notified police, and called Dr. Cornelius A. Sullivan, who examined her. In court this morning Dr. Sullivan testified that his examination showed that she had been the victim of a criminal attack.

The girl was not in court, and it was reported that her hysterical condition had made her appearance impossible.

APPROACHED NEAR HOME

Sergt. N. Eric Nelson was assigned to the case and made both arrests. He was accompanied by Patrolman Joseph Illingworth.

The girl was walking along Plain st. toward her home when a car, which police say is owned by William, approached. Burke was driving the auto, the girl said, and Williams was riding with him.

Williams got out of the auto and greeted her, Miss Shanly told police. As she replied he seized her and forced her into the car, she related.

The boys drove to a rifle range in Elbert st., in the outskirts of Braintree. There, Miss Shanly says, Williams began making advances to her. She tried to resist him, she said, and appealed to Burke, but the other youth made no move to come to her aid. She told police that after the attack her memory became hazy and she finally found herself at home.

Three other boys, said to have been with Williams and Burke earlier in the automobile ride, but who left the car before the attack occured, were to be questioned by police today.

Burkhardt Elected

Holyoke, April 23 (AP)—George R. Burkhardt, vice president and general manager of the White & Wyckoff Manufacturing Company, paper manufacturers, was today elected to the presidency to succeed the late J. Louis Wyckoff. Mr. Burkhardt will continue as chairman of the board of directors.

DEAD OFFICIAL $4109 SHORT

Ayer, April 23 (AP)—A shortage of $4109.87 in the accounts of the late Herbert Phinney, Ayer tax collector, was reported to the selectmen today by Theodore N. Waddell, director of the state division of accounts.

In addition to the tax shortage, Waddell informed the selectmen there was a deficiency of $30.51 in the water department collection accounts, which occurred while Phinney had temporary authority over that department.

Phinney died last October, aged 76 years.

Smoking in Bed Starts Fire That Routs 3 Families

Smoking in bed early today, James M. Tooney of Winthrop ave., Revere, suddenly realized the bedding was afire.

Finding the flames beyond his control, he called the fire department and then aroused two other families living in the house.

The flames were confined mostly to the bedroom and damage was estimated at $250.

Tooney lives on the second floor of the structure, which is a three-family wooden house. His wife was away, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fox and Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Walker fled from the other apartments.

FULL PAYMENT TO VETS URGED

Dallas, Tex., April 23 (AP)—Congressman Wright Patman of Texarkana, Democrat, said here today he would introduce a bill at the December session of Congress to provide for immediate full payment of veterans' adjusted compensation certificates.

Patman estimated it would take approximately $1,500,000,000 to pay the certificates in full, in addition to a like sum which he calculated would be paid out in the 50 per cent loans on the certificates.

HAM, EGGS FOR SIAM'S KING

Purchase, N. Y., April 23 (AP)—King Prajadhipok of Siam, a slight and travel-worn figure who holds absolute power of life and death over his 11,000,000 subjects, has settled down at Ophir Hall to gain strength for an operation on his eyes.

Educated in England, the King served in the British army before he was called to the throne. He plays golf and tennis and prefers bacon and eggs for breakfast. He speaks French and English fluently and reads American newspapers. And, by mistake, he entered Ophir Hall for the first time yesterday through the servants' entrance.

For the time he remains in the United States Ophir Hall, the country estate of Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, will be the official residence of the royal party. There he will rest, except for a brief trip to Washington next week, until an operation to remove a cataract from one of his eyes is performed next month.

BOSTON EXPERT IN BABY CASE

Houlton, Me., April 23—Dr. George Burgess Magrath, Boston medical examiner, took the stand in Superior court today as the final government witness against Lena True, 22, of Fort Fairfield, charged with the murder of her infant.

Called from Fall River, Mass., where he was working on the Hathaway murder, Dr. Magrath arrived here this morning in time to permit the government to complete its case again the girl defendant.

He was expected to testify regarding an examination he made of the body of the child after it was found at Fort Fairfield in June of 1930, with a string tied around its neck.

At that time Dr. Magrath expressed the opinion that the week-old infant was alive when born, and an indictment of Lena True followed.

After the discovery of the body by William Davis, a farmhand, the defendant, employed as a domestic at Fort Fairfield, went to Presque Isle and lived under an assumed name, according to the Government.

Labor Leader Dies From Bullet Wound

Miami, Fla., April 23 (A)—Abraham Wilson, 37, vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, died in a hospital here last night from a bullet wound police described as self-inflicted.

Woolworth Son-in-Law Dead

New York April 23 (AP)—James P. Donahue, son-in-law of the late Frank W. Woolworth, founder of the Woolworth stores, died today at a Madison ave. sanitarium of acute uremia.

FIRST ALIENS TO LEAVE FRIDAY

The first group of the aliens captured in Danbury, Ct., recently, will be deported tomorrow from Providence on the Fabre liner Sinai, Mrs. Anna C. M. Tillinghast, immigration commissioner, announced today.

Authority has been received to deport eight in this group, and Mrs. Tillinghast said she would seek permission from the Department of Labor to add 11 others from the total of 47 captured.

The immigration commissioner is asking immediate action on the group of 11, whose cases have just been heard, as the Sinai is the last boat to call for Mediterranean ports for one month.

The eight aliens, all natives of Portugal, stated when captured they had each paid $400 or $500 to members of a Massachusetts ring to be smuggled into this state, Commissioner Tillinghast said.

At the hearings the first 19 refused to give any information as to the identity of members of the ring.

Texas Taxes Smokes

Austin, Tex., April 23—Governor Ross Sterling has signed a bill levying a tax of three cents a package on cigarettes. Proponents estimated the tax would raise about $5,000,000.

She Must Pay

99,610 DROPPED BY SOVIETS

Moscow, April 23 (AP)—After a considerable "cleansing" period the Communist party announced today that 99,610 members had been expelled on a variety of charges, including sympathy with Leon Trotsky, exiled leader, anti-Soviet activities, drunkeness and "anti-morality."

The number of members subjected to the "cleansing" process was listed at 1,273,000, of which 130,497 were ordered dropped, but thousands appealed and were reinstated. Reprimands were issued in 136,916 for such misdemeanors as drinking in public places and laxity in observing party discipline.

Other charges were embezzlement, lavish living and ostentation, belief in religion and failing to disclose that near relatives were traders, priests or army officers under the old regime.

Under the heading of anti-morality, Communists may be punished for beating their wives and children or for immoral relations.

Courthouse Lawn to Be Golf Course

Beardstown, Ill., April 23 (AP)—The county needs money and the county board indicated today it would raise funds by renting the court house lawn for a miniature golf course.

DEATH IN EXILE FOR ISABELLA

Paris, April 23 (AP)—The Infanta Isabella, aunt of Alfonso of Spain, died in a hospital here this afternoon. She was 80 years old.

Princess Isabella

The other members of the royal family followed separate paths into exile, leaving Isabella in her private palace, not even telling her the throne had fallen.

Last Monday she crossed the frontier with Infanta Beatrice, sister of Queen Marie of Rumania. She was desperately ill and her condition was aggravated by the excitement. She made the trip by train and at Hendaye on the border she was carried from one train to the other on a stretcher.

School Diplomas in N. Y. Are Made to Fit Apartments

New York, April 23 (AP)—High school diplomas in the big city are to be smaller, 6 by 8 inches, instead of 14 by 17.

It is explained the old size took too much space in modern apartments and the new ones cost $2.65 instead of $4.05.

ITALY OPPOSES FRENCH PLAN

Rome, April 23 (AP)—Italy's reply to new French proposals for the tripartite naval treaty now being drafted in London soon will be presented.

It was learned on good authority Italy intends to reiterate denial of the right of any party to modify the accord accepted by Italy, France and Great Britain March 1.

The French ambassador conferred with Dino Grandi today and it was assumed, presented a proposal for France to build replacement tonnage for use after expiration of the accord in 1936. This was not provided for in the March 1 agreement.

DERCUM, NERVE EXPERT, DIES

Philadelphia, April 23 (AP)—Dr. Francis X. Dercum, noted neurologist and president of the American Philosophical Society, died suddenly today as he was about to open the annual meeting of the famous scientific organization founded by Benjamin Franklin.

The 74-year-old physician slumped over as he sat in the president's chair. He died in an adjoining room a few minutes later.

"He died as a scientist would wish," was the remark made by a scientist when word came from the room that he had passed away.

Rudy Vallee Wants to Play He-Man Role

New York, April 23—Rudy Vallee has an ambition to play dwo-fisted he-man roles in the movies.

Back from a tour in which he and his orchestra crossed $22,000 a week, he says he is tired of being known as an effeminate kind of crooner.

Jamin Goldhut shot himself and died going to the hospital.

Isidor Scheidlinger, engaged in the clothing business, jumped from the sixth story, struck several clothes lines on the way down, fell on soft grass and only broke his legs. Meditating on the clothes lines and soft grass he concluded, reasonably, that Providence must have something important for him to do, and will continue to live.

More and more use the power of gravitation on their way out of life, and a majority of us take that power too much for granted. It is very mysterious.

When men fly in thick fog, it is said they cannot tell whether they are flying upside down or right side up. Mr. Ketterling, brilliant engineer of General Motors, said to a pilot: "If you should ever be in doubt throw out a monkey wrench. If it goes up, you are flying upside down. If it goes down, you are flying right side up."

We decide to recognize the new government of Spain, our ambassador at Madrid made a polite bow at the Spanish foreign offices yesterday. Nobody knows how long the new republic will stand, and nobody knew how long our republic would stand when we invited King George out of the country. The least, it seems, that one republic can do is to recognize another and try to look happy about it.

Former Star Sues Count for Divorce

Paris, April 23 (AP)—Countess Alice Cocea de La Rochefoucauld, former actress, filed suit for divorce here today from Count Stanislas de La Rochefoucauld, member of one of the oldest families in France.

Their marriage in 1926 created a sensation and was opposed by his family. She is the daughter of a Rumanian general.

MAN IS HELD IN DEATH THREAT

The alleged failure of a "nigger pool" agent to pay $2400 due on a winning ticket, resulted in the arrest today of Joseph Hatsis, 30, of Seaver st., Roxbury, charged with assault and battery with a revolver.

According to police, Hatsis threatened to shoot Samuel Mossman of 293A Northampton st., South End, if not paid the money, which he claimed was the balance of $3900 won by his ticket.

SIX INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

Haverhill, April 23—Six persons were taken to Gale Hospital, three in a serious condition, following collision of a sedan and a truck here today.

The seriously hurt were Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Phelps of Hillsboro, N. H., and Geneva Smith, 14, of Andover, N. H.

BYRD'S DELAY IS CRITICIZED IN FOKKER'S BOOK

New York, April 23 (INS)—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd is chided rather sharply by Anthony H. G. Fokker Dutch airplane builder, in the latter's life story, "Flying Dutchman," which will be published tomorrow.

In the book Fokker takes Byrd to task for the "interminable series of test flights" that preceded his transatlantic venture in 1927.

While Byrd was testing his trimotored Fokker at Roosevelt Field preparatory to a New York-to-Paris flight, a then comparatively unknown youth, Charles A. Lindbergh, took off—and, as every one knows, thrilled the world by accomplishing the feat.

"I could never understand why Byrd did not take off before Lindbergh," writes Fokker. "He could easily have done so."

Fokker says Byrd publicly contended that he was simply flying the Atlantic for science, a New York newspaper, "and a little bit, maybe, for himself, but he was in truth, naturally, anxious to be the first to Paris as he had been the first to the Pole by air."

In some detail, Fokker recounts how the three planes to be commanded by Byrd, Lindbergh and Clarence Chamberlin were making ready for the epic adventure.

"Suddenly, with the abrupt but carefully considered decision to which the world has to become familiar, Lindbergh took off May 20 for Paris while Byrd was sending out invitations to members of the French colony for an elaborate dedication, May 21," writes Fokker. "It was a joke on us, for my sales manager afterwards told me he had turned Lindbergh down when he wanted to buy a Fokker plane for the flight."

SEES DANGER IN LONGER LIFE

Vienna, April 23 (INS)—"The increase of the average length of human life may easily become a serious danger to human society.

"The decline of births on the one hand, and the increase of the number of persons attaining old age, are insofar unfavorable as there are too few young people and too many old living together. The too scarce younger generation has to carry along the heavy burden of those who are no longer able to provide for themselves."

This is the startling conclusion reached by Prof. Wagner Jauregg, famous Vienna alienist and Nobel prize winner, himself 72 years old.

"It is true that the average duration of human life has, during the last 50 years, been extended 20 years. But it is a mistake to consider these 20 years as so much cash credited to the account of the average individual.

"The principal reason for the favorable death statistics in the last decades is that medical science succeeded in reducing infant mortality to a minimum.

"In relation to the total population many more attain 70 than half a century ago. From a sociological point of view, however, this is a most precarious development unless the long living aged are offset by a corresponding number of fresh and active young people."

Wedding Denied

Pilgrims Gather to Observe Birth of Shakespeare

Stratford-on-Avon, Eng., April 23 (AP)—Visitors flocked here by the hundreds today for celebration of Shakespeare's birthday. A feature of the ceremonial was a procession of pilgrims with votive offerings from the poet's supposed birthplace to the parish church where floral tributes were placed on his tomb.

At a luncheon John Drinkwater, playwright, proposed a toast to "The Immortal Memory" and Sir Nigel Playfair to "The Drama." "A Winter's Tale" will be performed tonight by the Stratford festival company.

COUNSEL TWICE VISITS NOBLE

Lawrence, April 23—Russell Noble, 17-year-old schoolboy charged with the hammer slaying of Mrs. Clara E. C. Ellis, wealthy Haverhill widow, received two visits from his counsel, Richard J. McCormick, yesterday.

On the first visit the attorney was accompanied by Noble's older brother, Clarence, who has just come out of the Gale Hospital following an appendicitis operation. The brothers had an affectionate reunion and chatted for some time.

McCormick made his second visit last night, but refused to comment on the reasons for it. He said the youth is in good spirits and is eagerly awaiting the next visit of the alienists who are testing his sanity.

HUBBLE HOPES TO FIND MANY OLD 'STARS'

Before the astronomers and astro-physicists of the Carnegie Institute of Washington laboratory here yesterday he discussed explorations among distant nebulae with a 100-inch telescope, now the world's largest.

Problems had developed, he said, that perhaps will be solved only by the proposed new 200-inch telescope of the Carnegie Institution in Southern California.

Then, he said, it will be known whether some remote island universes are traveling at apparent velocities of two and a quarter million miles a minute away from the neighborhood of the skies.

The present 100-inch telescope has an observable limit of 300,000,000 light years. A light year is equivalent to six million million miles, being the distance light travels in a year. Spectrographic analysis of nebulae is possible at only half that distance.

Dr. Hubble said the proposed 200-inch telescope would reveal four to six times as many distant island universes as the present instrument.

G. O. P. TO AVOID DRY ISSUE

Washington, April 23 (AP)—Prohibition is being sidetracked in Republican leaders' plans for the 1932 campaign.

They seem to have agreed to accept the proposed Democratic issue of economics, and apparently are willing to center the presidential race on tariff and agriculture, instead of more controversial liquor laws.

After a meeting yesterday, at which they determined to carry out in the farm belt a vigorous defense of the tariff and the farm board, [illegible]resentative Cable, Republican, Ohio, today issued a statement suggesting that "President Hoover put through a strong, restrictive immigration policy, whereas Congress fell down on the proposition."

Chairman Fess of the Republican national committee attacked as "confidential smearing" and "a brazen falsehood" statements attributed to Chairman Shouse of the Democratic national executive committee in a recent Los Angeles speech.

Shouse, Fess charged, said the Republican national committee bought for distribution 10,000,000 copies of a magazine article which discussed the "religious affiliations" of Chairman Raskob of the Democratic national committee.

Third of Estate to Mrs. Nirdlinger

Philadelphia, April 23 (AP)—Mrs. Charlotte Nash Nixon-Nirdlinger will receive one-third the income from the estate of her husband, Fred G. Nixon-Nirdlinger, Philadelphia theatrical magnate, whom she shot to death in Nice, France, March 11.

Charities will ultimately receive the bulk of the estate, valued at approximately $750,000, it was revealed yesterday when the will, executed Nov. 26, 1930, in Paris, was filed for probate.

RICHMAN BROTHERS CLOTHES

FOUNDED 1853

The facts and specifications listed here may be a bit technical. But this is what they mean: Richman Brothers have made use of market conditions to give you more quality, more style, more value, more beauty and more serviceability at our low price than ever before was possible in the history of man.

Richman Brothers Clothes are quality clothes in the important unseen parts as well as in the parts you can see and feel. As a result, Richman Brothers Clothes will wear as well as they look.

For the truth of this statement, we pledge our word of honor and our 78-year reputation for honest clothes making and fair dealing.

ANY SUIT, TOPCOAT OR DRESS SUIT IN EVERY RICHMAN BROTHERS STORE IN THE U. S. IS ALWAYS THE SAME PRICE

ALL $22.50

1 We are giving you much better fabrics, in fact the finest we've ever tailored; and that means 78 years.

2 We use only the highest grade linen canvas, cut in one piece and reinforced with genuine Mohano.

3 We employ nothing but the best grade of haircloth, guaranteed to prevent the hair coming through the armholes and shoulders. Clothes at $50 to $85 use the same grade of haircloth.

4 Linings have all the lustre, sheen, smoothness and beauty of silk; and wear even better.

5 All our clothes are sewn with silk sewing thread. It is sturdier than cotton and represents a refinement usually found only in expensive custom tailored clothes.

7 Pockets will not sag or open; buttonholes will not ravel.

8 Scores of tailoring operations in coats, vests and trousers, have been raised to a new high level of quality, including many hand tailored features.

RUTH STILL IN PAIN; KEPT IN HOSPITAL

him last summer. Hearing the youngster now could get out occasionally, he invited the boy and his mother to be his guests at the ball game today.

"What am I going to do about Bobby," he wailed. "The lad may suffer a setback when he discovers he can't see me and that must never happen.

"I can't hit any home runs for him now, but I must do something.

"If he would like to return the visit I paid him last summer, I will try to arrange it. He must not be disappointed."

STILL IN PAIN

He was better this morning when I saw him than he was last night, but he was still suffering sharp pain, particularly across his back.

A veritable avalanche of personal well-wishers (none of them allowed to see him) and a flood of telephone inquiries resulted in the hospital establishing a bulletin service. The first bulletin, issued after a visit by Drs. Francis Newton and John Homans before the second batch of X-rays was taken this morning, was as follows:

"Babe Ruth shows improvement this morning. Signs of muscle and nerve injuries resulting from his injury are becoming less marked. Further X-rays will be taken today."

SMOKING BIG CIGARS

The Babe is in a large private room on the third floor of the hospital. There, lying in bed, his back bolstered with pillows, he smoked cigars nearly the size of his bats today while his wife, who arrived at the hospital at 7 a. m. to have breakfast with him, sat nearby, to minister to his every want.

There is about $50,000 lying in that hospital bed with the Sultan of Swat—the well-known cash representing the extra the Babe would have drawn at the Fenway and at Washington, the next stop of the Yanks, where he will not be among those present.

"It hurts a little across my back," he said, and Mrs. Ruth punched the pillows into more comfortable shape.

GOING HOME TO REST

"I'm not going to be here long, but when I get out I probably won't be able to get right back into the game again. I'll probably go home for a rest."

"When do you figure you hurt yourself, Babe?" we asked.

"Coming into the plate when Berry blocked me off. You remember going into third on that play in the fifth inning. I stumbled into some kind of a hole or something, but I wasn't hurt then.

"When I went for the plate Berry was blocking. That was his right, although he had no chance to make the play. I could very easily have hurt him, but I was careful not to. When I went into him I struck against those heavy stiff leather shinguards he wears and went over him.

"I didn't feel much then, just a little pain in my right thigh, but I was sort of dazed. When I went after that ball in the first of the sixth I just collapsed. It felt like something weakened had given way. Then you know the rest."

The Babe wanted it made plain that he holds no hard feeling toward the Red Sox catcher. The Red Sox bunch as well as the Yankee players were on the telephone at the hospital all during the day asking about the Babe's condition; not a few arrived in person and were denied entrance.

Mrs. Ruth requested that he have no visitors today. Johnny Igoe, Huntington ave. druggist and one of Babe's closest friends in Boston, was an exception.

WHERE ARE THE CIGARS?

Igoe arrived at the hospital last night with a box of 50 cigars for Ruth. This morning, when we arrived, half the cigars were gone.

"Holy Mike, Babe, where'd the cigars go?" Igoe asked.

"What usually happens to cigars?" said the Babe with a stub between his teeth. "I smoked 'em." And from the stub he lit a fresh one.

Igoe accompanied Mrs. Ruth to the hospital and took along a radio which was installed in the Babe's room.

GLAD IT'S RAINING.

"It's raining," Johnny said.

"Well," said the Babe, "let it rain. That'll be one less game I'll miss."

The Babe's legs are slim legs, supporting a huge frame, and any injury to them is a serious injury from the standpoint of baseball. How serious the present injury will prove to be from a baseball standpoint remains to be seen.

He is getting every attention that money can buy at the hospital. A frame over his legs makes a canopy of the bedclothes so the light pressure from them will not aggravate his injury. He is a very large and restless behemoth under a tent, consuming a great deal of nicotine, discussing baseball with his wife and reading the newspapers.

PLENTY OF FLOWERS

It would be possible to start a good sized florist shop with the flowers at his bedside. The smoke screen being thrown up from the bed dulls their perfume.

Outside of missing his place in the Yankees' lineup, the Babe's principal regret is that he missed a large stuffed-pig dinner last night at Arbeiter Turnverein Hall in Jamaica Plain.

The Babe makes no pretense of disliking his groceries and a very special invitation to dinner had been extended to him. Arthur Crowley and others of his close friends planned to help him dispose of the pig.

"And of course," said the Babe, "I have to miss that. I said I'd be there unless I broke a leg. Well, I didn't break one, but I did the next thing to it."

Dr. Newton is a staff physician. Discussing the Babe off the bulletin, he said:

"I can assure you that there is nothing very serious the matter. What he needs most, what his injury requires, is complete rest. For how long a period depends upon himself."

NEW AUTOPSY ON BODY OF SLAIN NURSE

The Massachusetts probers believe they will exhume the girl's body before the end of this week and that Dr. Magrath will perform his autopsy immediately.

Massachusetts probers declare that the autopsy conducted by Dr. Bryant and Dr. Peasley, if presented in court, would be riddled by the defense.

They assert that the examination was far from thorough. They state the examination to be conducted by Dr. Magrath will cover every phase of the case and will reveal the most minute details as far as the medical aspects of the case go.

It is pointed out that these medical angles, highly important in the case, have apparently been overlooked or only lightly touched in the examinations thus far conducted.

Another important detail which will be covered in Dr. Magrath's autopsy will be the examination of the girl's throat. Dr. Magrath intends to determine the pressure exerted on it and whether this was sufficient to cause strangulation. Dr. Bryant's examination on this point was only superficial.

Arrest in Holden Ends 9-Year Hunt

Worcester, April 23—Following a nine-year search, Ernest Labier, 35, formerly of Altona, N. Y., was arrested in Holden today and held as a fugitive from justice for the New York state police who want him on a charge of assault.

Labier is charged with firing on State Troopers F. D. Henry and C. D. Hurdic at Moores, N. Y., April 18, 1922, when they attempted to stop his auto. Labier will be held awaiting extradition.

British Air Head Killed in Crash

Seahurst Park, Sussex, Eng., April 23 (AP)—Air Vice-Marshal Felton Vesey Holt, commander of the air defenses of Great Britain, was killed today in an airplane collision.

His pilot, Flight Lieutenant Henry Moody, also was killed, but the occupant of the other plane escaped injury.

Gives Style Tips

"STUDY YOUR COLORS," SAYS STYLIST

"Women who understand color will have a beautiful time this summer, but those who do not should consult someone who does, in order that they, too, may enjoy this mode," Miss Helen Cornelius, associate editor of Harper's Bazaar, told the personnel of E. T. Slattery Company at a style show at that store today.

Miss Cornelius was introduced by Miss Ruth M. Chamberlain, personnel director for Slattery's.

"Clothes are strictly 1931," Miss Cornelius said, in analyzing the individuality of the mode, as revealed by the report of the Paris bureau of Harper's, "even though we have taken the best from the 1860, 1890 and 1900."

Four hundred business girls heard an unexpected feature at Filene's Clothes Institute class when Miss Margaret Matson, director, presented Miss Cornelius there.

"This is the day of the individualist," Miss Cornelius explained. "Becomingness is important and graciousness and charm are the order of the day in clothes. Smartness as the expense of prettiness is demode."

Soft effects expressed in neckwear constitute one of fashion's means of reflecting femininity, she said, and the jacket is one of fashion's strongest allies.

"This jacket racket knows no hours or occasions," Miss Cornelius added. "Even the nightgown has its jacket and the evening gown is not complete without one."

Other fashion high lights jotted down by the class, were:

THAT skirts are sensibly short for daytime and the ankle length is best after 6.

WATCH the second Empire feeling in millinery. This will bring the hat on the head and over one eye.

New Bedford Boy, 3, Killed by Truck

New Bedford, April 23—While playing in the street a short distance from his home, Augusto Fonseca, 3, of Howland st., this city, was killed when run over by a truck.

Police said the truck was driven by Abrahim Stuart, of Fair st., this city. Stuart told police that the child, the youngest of five children of Mr. and Mrs. James Fonseca, darted in front of the truck.

Hoover and King Set Style in Pet Dogs

New York, April 23 (AP)—President Hoover and the King of Siam have started something. Mr. Hoover has a pet elkhound named Ronnie. The king has a kennel of the breed at Bangkok.

Now five brothers or sisters of Ronnie, with a dozen others, are being imported from Germany by a New York financier.

We're all for REALISM— in Fro-joy flavors!

FRO-JOY fresh fruit ice creams are doubly delicious — due both to the real berries and other fine fruits we use and to our method of blending them at exactly the right moment with pure rich cream.

For Strawberry Fro-joy Ice Cream we use big fresh sugared berries, straight from Washington State. Other fresh fruits, too, such as pineapple, are sugared to taste, kept ice cold until needed, then added fresh without cooking to Fro-joy. In fact, pure, fresh ingredients are always used for all Fro-joy flavors. In Maple Fro-joy, for instance, you get pure Vermont maple syrup. Fro-joy is a finer ice cream; that's why so many people prefer it!

GENERAL ICE CREAM CORPORATION

DRIVE AGAINST DOPE LOOMS IN GENEVA

By WINIFRED BLACK
Universal Service Special Correspondent

(Copyright, 1931, Universal Service, Inc.)

Geneva, April 23—Is the League of Nations really going to do something at last about the curse of "dope," which is settling over the world like a black pestilence?

It begins to look just now as if the meeting of the opium advisory committee at Geneva in May might possibly turn out to be something besides an agreeable junket to a beautiful country and a talk fest which means little and leads to less than nothing in the way of honest, sincere reform.

APPEAL TO AMERICA

The victim nations are tired of being victims—they have called upon America to help them fight this fearful evil which is undermining the morale of half a dozen different countries.

America has answered the call of the victim nations—what chance is there of doing any real honest work in this May opium conference?

Interesting this, this conference to think out ways and means of stamping out the opium traffic. Interesting people, too, in important positions on the opium committee.

There is Senor Vasconcellos, president of the committee, for instance. Charming man, suave, smiling, dignified and sweetly reasonable about the opium trade in every country—but his own. Dope is such a terrible thing it makes Senor Vasconcellos of Portugal shiver from head to foot, even to think of it.*

Be calm, be sane, be just—when it comes to meddling with Macao, a Portuguese island where they raise opium poppies enough this very day to put half the world to sleep forever.

WOULD HIT BUDGET

Stamp out the drugs in China—wipe it out in Germany, get rid of it in France, but in the name of common sense do not disturb the opium fields of Macao.

The vice-president is Gaston Bourgois of France. M. Bourgois is a fine big man with a vocabulary of sonorous and heart-moving phrases that curdle the very blood to hear. He hates the opium traffic, too.

He makes magnificent speeches about it, in a splendid voice of rolling thunder but, after all, France and the budget of France must be protected from sentimentalists who dare to think of human beings when they ought to be thinking of France, and sous, and centimes.

Nicaragua Has No Bananas

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

We have gone to war for liberty, democracy and capable substitutes, but this Nicaragua business is the first time we have gone to war for bananas.

Honduras, Nicaragua and the rest of the syncopated geography are where our bananas come from when they arrive.

And in order to prevent the revolutionists from verifying the banana song we must send our marines down there to protect the industry.

They chase Sandino, then Sandino chases them. Houses are burned, men are killed, our cruisers shell the hills. Finally, a stalk of bananas arrives in New Orleans and a centipede jumps out.

When we were singing that banana anthem so joyfully a few years ago we never thought of the poor old marines who would have to go to Nicaragua for the second chorus.

WIFE DRIVEN TO GIGOLO

Jenny Rarick was a wife to whom virtue was an easy garb—that is, for the first 20 years of marriage. She was proud of her husband, who had become a five and ten cent store magnate through the shrewd investment and manipulation of the $2500 inheritance she had brought to their marriage.

But he was an annoying man—a bit of a tryrant, who was unemotional, yet kind; who imposed his will in irritating things, then poured out the dollars to heal the hurts he had caused.

And so, Jenny drifted into the arms of Ramon, gilded son of a dying Spanish fortune. She was always a bit self-conscious about her relations with her gigolo. She was always trying to justify her action.

Read how her problem worked itself out. Read and decide whether she was justified.

'LAW OF RENO' SEES NEW YORK

New York, April 23 (AP)—The "law of Reno"—Sheriff C. Russell Trathen, of Washoe County, Nevada—has come to town to see New York's night life, and so far it has left him cold.

This morning he said he had been unimpressed with his first night's observations.

"I went for a walk," he said. "Then I retired early. What is this night life business, anyway?"

"I don't aim to boast," said the sheriff, "and I'm not denying that this is some town. I even hear there are some 'floating' crap games hereabouts. Out in Reno, where we have legalized gambling, we've got real crap games. You can shoot the worws and the state collects the licenses.

"Of course, I haven't exactly gotten used to it all yet," the sheriff said. "Before they legalized things I wasn't supposed to go into a gambling den. Now I've got to drop in regularly to see everything is O. K. Sometimes they take out licenses for only three crap tables and then they run in five in me. That isn't right."

FAST DAY HELD IN N. HAMPSHIRE

Concord, N. H., April 23 (AP)—Mills were silent in New Hampshire today and stores were closed, for the Granite State was observing Fast Day, a holiday that has come down from earliest colonial times.

The day originally was set aside each year by the Puritans as one of fasting and prayer in which to offer thanks for surviving the bitter New England winter and in which to pray for the success of crops in the forthcoming season.

No special observances now mark the day, for changing times and customs have made it merely a holiday.

Governor John G. Winant, in proclaiming Fast Day, expressed the wish that people might return to the early form of observance, although he doubted that they would sacrifice the custom of making it a day of pleasure.

American Greed Aids Soviet Reds Says Fish

Springfield, April 23 (AP)—Congressman Hamilton Fish, Jr., addressing the Exchange Club here today, urged deportation of alien communists, saying:

"Communism is today the most important, serious and far-reaching issue affecting the civilization of the world and the happiness and safety of our people."

Greed of American capitalists for profit has "done more to build up communism in Russia in the last three years than any otehr country," he said.

Police in Student Rum Raids Scored

Lansing, Mich., April 23 (AP)—The Ann Arbor police officers who raided five University of Michigan fraternity houses in search of liquor were characterized as "indiscreet and over-zealous" by a special committee of the State House of Representatives, which today reported the results of its investigation of drinking at the university.

The report said the padlocking of the fraternity houses by university authorities was excessive punishment and that drinking is not a common practice at the university.

Hoover Presents Better Homes Award

Washington, April 23 (AP)—President Hoover presented the Better Homes Gold Medal to Reginald D. Johnson today for his small house architectural design.

Sea Gives Up 1901 Relic

Reykjavik, Iceland, April 23 (AP)—A buoy marked "Baldwin Zeigler Expedition, 1901," was washed ashore maong the ice floes at Reykjanes. It was recalled here that this expedition set out from America in that year and spent the winter in Franz Joseph's Land.

A QUESTION being answered both HERE AND ABROAD

How Much more power will Esso give me?

An Esso pump in Algiers, Northern Africa. Already Esso pumps dot twenty foreign countries, and now they line American highways from Maine to Louisiana. Car-owners in France, Italy, Germany, Switzerland, Holland, Belgium, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Finland, Poland, Malta, Tunisia, Cuba, Porto Rico, Nassau, B. I., Martinique, Guatemala, and British Honduras, as well as in Algeria and the United States, choose Esso when they want the best.

Note how far superior to all other premium fuels Esso's knock-rating is. These results were obtained with the Midgley Bouncing Pin Machine developed by General Motors and accepted and used by the Ethyl Gasoline Corporation. Esso will show the same superiority with any other testing system, even those ranking some fuels at "zero." The samples on which this chart is based were picked at random from roadside pumps March 16, 1931.

If your car has been purchased in the past three or four years, the chances are that the motor has a "high-compression ratio." In motors of this type, Esso often delivers as high as 20% more power than is possible with ordinary gasolines.

Even if your car is an old model, however (or if the "compression ratio" is low) you'll get noticeably better driving results with Esso.

Esso was developed in the laboratories of the world's leading oil company. It has already won outstanding success not only along the Atlantic seaboard all the way to the Gulf, but in twenty foreign countries—including no less than eleven of the leading nations of Europe.

Make a 10-day test. Start that test today—you will notice a difference immediately.

GET THESE ADVANTAGES IN YOUR CAR

- NEW SENSATIONAL POWER. Even before Ethyl fluid is added, Esso is refined to a point reached by no other fuel. Result: up to 20% more power in new high-compression engines; better driving results in any motor.
- QUICKER STARTING. Quick starting depends upon the amount of gasoline vaporized at the low temperatures. Tests at the 158° point show approximately 20% greater vaporization with Esso than with the average of the 11 other leading premium fuels.
- SAVES YOUR MOTOR. Every time your engine knocks (even though you do not hear it!) you do more than lose power. You get the hardest kind of engine wear. Esso saves your motor by giving the lowest of all knock-ratings.
- NO CRANKCASE DILUTION. When gasoline is not completely vaporized, it seeps into the crankcase, diluting lubricants. Esso's "final boiling point" or "end point" is equaled by only two other Ethyl motor fuels. This means that it completely vaporizes at temperatures at which most other fuels are still partly liquid.
- COSTS NO MORE PER MILE. Esso, per gallon, costs slightly more than ordinary non-Ethyl fuels. But most former users of these fuels report that Esso gives greater mileage, and with its reduction of repair expenses, costs no more per mile in a year's running.

BLIND VILLAGE IS REVEALED IN MEXICO

Washington, April 23 (AP)—A village of 900 people, all totally or partially blind, who never venture from their homes until after sun-down, was described by Dr. Miguel Bustamante, Mexican delegate to the second Pan-American conference of directors of health.

The village is Tilipec, in the state of Oaxaca, Mexico. Hidden away in the mountains, it is reached only by a few horse trails and has almost no contact with the outside.

The malady which blinded the inhabitants is known in the medical world as onchocercosis.

Tests have shown, Dr. Bustamente said, in his speech yesterday, that an insect has been found the cause of blindness. Eradication of this insect, he added, have given hope in the fight on the malady, of which little is known.

The disease causes blindness and, in addition, sensitiveness to light, so that persons stricken with it cannot stand sunlight. It is estimated there are 20,000 cases in Mexico.

A visitor to the village recently had difficulty in establishing contact with the people. They speak Zapotec, an Indian language complete in itself. They live in crude huts. There is not a school, church, a store or a public building in the village.

D. A. R.'S 'EDIT' FISH'S SPEECH

Washington, April 23 (AP)—Mrs. William Sherman Walker, chairman of the national defense committee of the Daughters of the American Revolution, today issued a statement explaining why the organization had blue penciled a speech on communism prepared by Representative Hamilton Fish of New York.

An attack by Fish on the policy of the State Department in dealing with Soviet Russia was deleted from the speech.

Mrs. Walker's statement read:

"Mr. Fish submitted to us the introduction to his address before the Continental Congress D. A. R.

"Due to the fact that the reading public has too often interpreted the utterances of our speeches as being the expression of policy of the society, we requested Mr. Fish to allow certain changes to be made.

"To this request he most graciously consented with the results that the original introduction was recalled.

"The Daughters of the American Revolution is on record as heartily approving the splendid work of Mr. Hamilton Fish and his committee in the recent investigation of Communist activities."

U. S. Missionary Is Freed by Chinese

Hankow, China, April 23 (AP)—Lutheran mission headquarters received advices from Kingchow saying two missionaries, Miss Esther Nordlund, American, and Miss Augusta Nelson, Swedish, were released today by bandits who kidnaped them April 17. Headquarters of the mission are at Chicago.

The dispatch gave no details and did not mention the Rev. Oscar Anderson, Swedish missionary, kidnaped at the same time.

Texan Held in $10,000 on Assault Charge

Lowell, April 23—Joseph Kane, 26, of Beaumont, Tex., was held in bonds of $10,000 today on a charge of assault with intent to murder Patrick J. Fallon April 17.

Fallon was beaten with a black jack and had been shot through one side. The police believed the Fallon, a barber, was mistaken for the manager of a chain grocery. Kane pleaded not guilty.

Girl Identifies Man in $50,000 Holdup

Baltimore, Md., April 23 (AP)—Miss Peggy Stewart, one of the debutante victims of a holdup last week when homeward-bound opera-goers were stripped of $50,000 in jewels, today identified a suspect and said gems valued at $25,000 he had worn part of the loot.

The suspect, Leo Navarro, 26 was arrested yesterday at his home. He said he had found the jewels in a park.

Boy Places Byrd Above Santa Claus

Memphis, Tenn., April 23 (AP)—Santa Claus has a rival—Rear Admiral Byrd. Six-year-old Sidney Farnsworth, Jr., who talked to the explorer here, was asked if he had a message to be delivered to Santa should Byrd return to the Polar regions.

"I'd rather see you than Santa Claus," Sidney said.

Boat Blast Shakes Ontario Village

Sudbury, Ont., April 23 (AP)—With an explosion that shook the fishing village of Killarney, 80 miles from Sudbury, the Killarney quarry mail boat blew up at dock there late yesterday. Four persons aboard were injured. Fire followed the explosion.

Walter Burke, operator, who was unhurt, said he believed the blast was caused by gasoline from a leaky carburetor.

The members of this class is composed of Mrs. Charles Francis Adams, Mrs. William G Borland, Mrs. Edward S. Dodge, Mrs. Richard D. Fay, Mrs. Louis G Frothingham, Mrs. F. S. Goodwin, Mrs. W. F. H. Lothrop, Mrs. Henry Lyman, Mrs. Frederick Parker, Mrs. John D Phillips, Mrs. M. P. Snelling, Mrs. R. H. Stevenson, Mrs. Robert B. Storer, Miss Edith Sturgis, Miss Adele Hooper and Mrs. George T. Keyes.

MR. OTIS CHATFIELD-TAYLOR, brother of Mrs. Hendricks Whitman of Boston, was married in All Angels' Church in New York this week to Miss Janet Burr Benson, daughter of Mrs. Burr Benson of New York and Mr. Alfred J. Benson of Chicago. Only members of the immediate families were present at the ceremony. Mr. Chatfield-Taylor attended Yale and Oxford Universities and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hobart C. Chatfield-Taylor of Chicago. He is a playwright, as is his sister, Mrs. Whitman, whose play, "Heritage," was produced in Boston at the Copley Theater recently. His bride is a graduate of the Howe-Marot School of Connecticut. The bridal couple are on their way to Europe on the Berengaria and on their return will reside in New York.

MRS. JOHN WHEELWRIGHT WENDELL of Dedham has returned from Memphis, where she has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Frances Estey. Mrs. Wendell and Mrs. Estey will spend the summer in Cohasset as usual.

C. Douglas Dillons Return to Boston From Honeymoon

MR. AND MRS. C. DOUGLAS DILLON (Phyllis Ellsworth) who were married recently have returned to Boston and are in their apartment at the Ritz-Carlton until June. Mr. Dillon will receive his diploma from Harvard then and immediately afterward he and his bride will sail for an extended trip to Europe.

MRS. CARL P. DENNETT and Mrs. William Paulton have arrived at the Ambassador in New York after spending the winter in Palm Beach.

SOCIETY FOLK ARE GRADUALLY drifting homeward from the South to open their summer homes. Mrs. Albert Farwell Bemis of Chestnut Hill is at the Westbury Hotel in New York; Mrs. Harrison G. Reynolds is at the Berkshire and Mrs. Frederick W. Sears, Jr., is at the St. Regis for a visit before returning to Boston.

THE FINAL BRATTLE HALL dance of the season is Saturday night of this week and will wind up the debutante festivities of the season. These dances have been in vogue for several years and are very popular with the debs and post-debs. The invitation list was in charge of Mrs. Stockton Dell of Brattle st. this season.

Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller Presides at Table During Open House

MRS. ALVAN T. FULLER is presiding at the tea table during Open House Day which is this afternoon from 3 until 5:30 at the Boston Home Information Center, 87 Beacon st., at which time Mrs. James J. Storrow is the official hostess. Miss Katherine Cunningham Gray is acting as chairman of a group of prominent young girls who are serving at the tea tables. During the afternoon, Prof. John Orth plays a group of piano solos.

MRS. J. LAURENS VAN ALEN has opened her villa at Newport, Wakehurst, in preparation for the wedding on May 15 of her daughter, Miss Louise Astor Van Alen, and the Prince Alexis Z. Mdivani.

MRS. B. H. BRISTOW DRAPER is chairman of a special committee from the ladies' board of the Free Hospital for Women which is about to undertake a new method of commercial advertising for the benefit of the hospital. A recent meeting was held to discuss plans for the coming season.

MR. CHESTER A. HOWE, who is head of the committee for the Memorial Day horse show which is held at the Longwood Cricket Club grounds each season, has returned from an eight weeks' travel trip through the West with Mrs. Howe. They visited California, New Mexico and Arizona, and Mr. Howe will now give his attention to preliminary plans for the coming horse show.

PATRONESSES FOR THE review of the dance to be given at Longwood Towers, Saturday, are Mesdames Theodore Storer, Leslie B. Cutler, Redmond Clark, Sohier Shaw, Howard Sprague and Philip S. Dalton.

FROM HONDURAS COMES the announcement of the engagement of Lawrence Higgins, secretary of the American legation and son of Mrs. Marion Higgins of Beacon st., to Elizabeth Jenkins of Los Angeles, California. Miss Jenkins is the daughter of Mr. Oscar Jenkins, wealthy sugar magnate of Los Angeles.

Governor Invited to Charlestown Dinner

Gov. Ely and leaders in military, naval and civic circles have been invited to attend the military ball of Bunker Hill Post, 26, American Legion, in the State Armory, Bunker Hill st., tomorrow night.

One of the features of the ball will be a prize drill in which teams from Greater Boston and other parts of the state will compete.

Women Attend Statecraft Institute

By NANCY BREWSTER

The fourth annual Statecraft Institute of the Women's Republican Club of Massachusetts opened today at the Beacon st. headquarters with Miss Katherine Vose Parker presiding.

Around the general topic, "Youth and Its Responsibility in Political Life," the morning session was built and on this subject Judson Hannigan, president of the Republican Club of Massachusetts; William S. Youngman, Jr., Harvard Law School student; Donald S. Potter, Boston University senior, and Rev. Russell Henry Stafford, minister, Old South Church, were to speak.

The afternoon session will be devoted to "crime" and the explanation of its phases, its spreading influence, its seriousness in the community. On this question H. Addington Bruce, author and lecturer; Dr. William Healy, Judge Baker Foundation, and Henry Higgins, secretary of the Massachusetts Prison Association are speakers.

The institute session will be climaxed with a dinner at 46 Beacon st., tonight at 7 o'clock. Introduced by Miss Sybil Holmes, assistant attorney-general of the state; Charles F. Sisson, assistant attorney general of the United States, and Cong. Hamilton Fish, Jr., of New York will be the principal speakers.

The club's statecraft committee, headed by Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, founder and honorary president, includes Mrs. Franklin W. Hobbs, Miss Katherine Vose Parker, Mrs. Frederick E. Judd, Mrs. Charles F. Adams, Mrs. Samuel Barron, Jr., Mrs. Frank H. Batchelder, Mrs. Frank A. Besse, Mrs. Frederick S. Elodgett, Mrs. Fred C. Brigham, Mrs. H. Addington Bruce, Mrs. Austin H. Chic Contrast Under the Coat

By ANN ARDEN

MANY A charming frock modestly hides beneath the new spring coat, in fact there will be little sombreness under any coat this year. Color is the melody.

* * *

IN A general way the silhouette remains unchanged. It has "boiled itself down" to a more or less staple outline (for the time being at least) with fewer innovations or bizarre notes which were offered to the public last season, and which not having been accepted, have now definitely been put among the discards of fashion.

* * *

WHETHER YOUR frock is two-piece or not it should look as though it were. Jaunty little peplums, a ruffle or so, wide tucks, all aid in the deception if the frock is one piece underneath it all. Not only is this true of the woolen frock that has gone two-piece with such abandon, but silk frocks are also of this type.

* * *

THE CHOICE of gowns in soft cloudy pastels to contrast with your dark coat is a very smart one; white contrast has become an axiom; while heels are lower on all types of shoes. All of these new notes are present in the attractive spring-like costume pictured. The frock is one piece, but has the effect of two, the material is silk crepe, and the color Vionnet rose, a dusty pink. The skirt is circular, and the wide revers, with surplice closing, cross-over peplum and edge of near-elbow length sleeves are finished in a triple loop cording of the dress material. Contrast is achieved in the black baku hat, with white ribbon band beneath its flare brim, chalk white necklace and bracelet; black calfskin bag; white doeskin gloves and black kid one strap shoes.

* * *

WHETHER OR not you have included a set of clips in your spring budget you are bound to be tempted by the new ones made of colored stones instead of the clear crystals and brilliants that have been so widely used. One coral worn on your hat accents your coral blouse amazingly well and one of emeralds or something like emerald repeats any green accents. And so on.

HAWKS BREAKS PARIS-LONDON AIR RECORD

Boston, England, April 23 (AP)—Capt. Frank Hawks, who holds most of the air speed records in the United States, today clipped the record for flight between Paris and London almost in half, flying here in 99 minutes to complete his record-breaking flight to Rome and Paris.

Leaving Le Bourget at 8:53 a. m., E. S. T., after covering 87 miles from a village north of Paris in 24 minutes, he streaked to Heston and landed here at 8:32, E. S. T.

His time was 43 minutes better than the previous record, that of Lieut. Glenn Kidston, who flew from Paris to Croydon in 68 minutes.

Yesterday Hawks set a new record of 5¼ hours for a flight from London to Rome, where he had been expected to land after a stop in London but was forced down on his return trip through fuel exhaustion at Pouilly-Le-Chen.

MEDFORD BANK CLERK SUICIDE

Geoffrey H. Moulder, assistant treasurer of the bank, after he had been notified that young Marshall had not returned to his home last night.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Marshall of 401 Salem st., Medford, and in addition to his parents leaves three brothers, Lawrence of Chicago, Llewellyn of Medford and Stanley "Bevo," Jr., also a baseball star.

The shooting occurred in a retiring room on the first floor of the bank, which is located on High st., Medford sq.

Marshall had worked on the books last night, and apparently took his life after finishing his work, using a revolver owned by the bank.

His mother discovered about 8.30 today that Ernest had not been home and telephoned Moulder. The assistant treasurer, aware that the young man was subject to epileptic fits, hurried to the bank, where he found the body stretched out on a bench. The revolver, with one empty cartridge, was lying on the floor.

HAD MANY ATTACKS

Following graduation from high school he attended the school of business administration of Boston university, where he also played football.

Later he entered the employ of the Medford bank but after a time left to work in Gloucester.

There he contracted typhoid fever, with the result he was forced to remain in the country seven months, being ill with epilepsy.

On his return to the country Marshall again went to work for the bank as a clerk in the savings department.

He had several attacks of epilepsy and recently fell down a flight of stone stairs at his home and was a victim of one of them.

Medical Examiner Dr. Frits W. Foley of Malden, after pronouncing Marshall a victim of suicide, removed the body to the undertaking rooms of Edward J. Gaffey, Medford sq.

Tardieu Routs Foes With Tin Whistle

Toulouse, France, April 23 (AP)—Andre Tardieu, former premier and now minister of agriculture, gave an audience of hecklers a dose of their own medicine here today at the inauguration of the Toulouse fair.

They booed him and whistled at him while he was speaking and Tardieu drew a tin whistle from his pocket and sent back a series of ear-splitting blasts. The laughter and cheers of his partisans drowned out the hecklers.

Boston Men Sign Will; Lose Bequests

Biddeford, Me., April 23—Because they were witnesses on the document two Boston men, legatees under the will of the late Dr. Theodore Jewett Eastman of this city and South Berwick, lost their bequests when the will was allowed in York County Probate Court today.

Dr. Joseph Payson Clark and Frederick G. Hopkins, both of 71 Marlboro st., Boston, lost $500 each because of the law that forbids witnesses from benefiting in a will drawn in Massachusetts and Maine.

Watch Your Butts! $50 Fine in R. I. Now

Providence, R. I., April 23 (AP)—Motorists caught tossing lighted cigarette or cigar butts from autos on Rhode Island highways will be fined $50 henceforth if caught.

A new law went into effect today when it was signed by Governor Norman S. Case.

The measure is expected to aid in preventing forest fires, of which the state has had a large number this spring and in former years.

Gov. Ely Confers on Railway Wage

Governor Ely conferred today with trustees and representatives of the carmen of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. on a new wage contract and working agreement. The present contract expires May 1.

Another conference he held was with Frank J. Donahue of the Fall River Finance Commission regarding the unfilled place on the commission. The Governor may submit a nomination for the commission and fix a vacancy on the superior court bench tomorrow, when he is expected to call a special meeting of his council.

SOVIET AIMS TO EXTERMINATE 'KULAKS'

Moscow, April 23 (AP)—A new campaign of extermination against the Kulaks, or land-owning peasants, is being planned by the Soviet Union.

Under its plan the "hated Kulak" will be branded openly as an enemy of the Communistic government, compelled to register with and report his movements to police wherever he may go, and relegated to unimportant work to earn his bread.

Details published in Isvestia, official organ of the central executive committee of the Soviet Union, reveal that banning the Kulaks from government jobs will force them to resort to manual labor or cease to exist.

The Kulaks crime is that he owns land and sometimes a horse or cow, with which he maintains himself and his family. He resented the collectives, which took these holdings away from him, and put him on an equal footing with those who owned nothing at all.

It is estimated that there still are 3,000,000 Kulaks in Russia, not including the number who have been executed or banished to the Arctic regions where they live in lumber camps on a "no-work, no-food" basis.

Scribe to Face Jury on "Murder" Story

Springfield, April 23 (AP)—Dist. Atty. Thomas F. Moriarty today announced he would summon Henry J. Logan, a State House reporter, before the May grand jury in an effort to learn the identity of a "Springfield legislator" quoted by Logan in a newspaper story as saying apparently "everybody who is familiar with bootlegging conditions in Springfield knows pretty well who murdered Frank Wilson except the official who ought to know."

WRONG ARTICLE CITED BY FESS, SAYS SHOUSE

Washington, April 23 (AP)—Chairman Shouse of the Democratic national executive committee today denied the charge by Chairman Fess of the Republican national committee that he had said in a California speech the Republican organization purchased for distribution 10,000,000 copies of a magazine article attacking John J. Raskob on religious grounds.

Shouse said Fess' allegations were based upon "an alleged publication in a San Francisco newspaper," which quoted Shouse as saying the Republican committee purchased 10,000,000 copies of a magazine containing an anti-Raskob article by Robert Cruise McManus, a newspaperman.

ANOTHER ARTICLE.

He said he had never heard of McManus and added he referred in his San Francisco speech to an article published in Scribner's Magazine last September.

"I stated," he said, "that the Republican National Committee reproduced in pamphlet form excerpts from this article under the heading 'Smear Hoover—Raskob order to his subsidized propagandists,' a copy of which I have now before me.

"I charged, and I repeat, that this pamphlet constituted a large part of the Republican publicity in the congressional campaigns of last fall.

REITERATE CHARGE.

"I charged that because of John Raskob's prominence as a member of the Catholic church his name in this instance, and in numerous other instances has been brought forward by the high command of the Republican National Committee with the definite purpose of attempting to relight the fires of religious bigotry which played so deplorable a part in the campaign of 1928."

Newport Gets Navy Contract

Washington, April 23 (AP)—The Navy today announced award of a $64,000 contract for work at the Naval Torpedo Station, Newport, R. I., to J. R. and J. A. Whelan Co., Inc., of Newport involving construction of an extension to the assembly shop.

JORDAN BROADCAST TODAY

A radio musical program, reminiscent of the traditions of Eben S. Jordan, Inc., will be broadcast under the direction of Will Dodge and Rob Burlin over Station WEEI this evening from 8.30 to 10 o'clock.

This event, ushering in the semi-annual "Jordan Day," will be dedicated to New England institutions. For the program, typical New England melodies have been assembled by Dodge, who was associated with Jordan when he founded the Boston Opera House. Harry F. Twomey, sales promotion manager, will be presented.

CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

The deciding game will be played for the Gilchrist store bowling championship tonight at the bowling alleys when the shoe department meets the floor managers.

Paul Goodhue is captain of the shoe staff team which is composed of Clarence J. Carlisle, buyer; Frank Dodge, Irving Miller and James Brothers. "Humphrey" Doyle is captain of the floor managers' team. Marty Walsh and Henry Buckley of the rug department, Frank Mintzer and Tom Cox, basement superintendent, make up the team.

TRIPP WINS RACE

Frank Tripp, stock boy in Filene's inexpensive dress shop, is basking in sunshine of many smiles and kind words in the store today, following official recognition of his thrilling race with an European-bound steamer to deliver a dress to a passenger.

The dress had been promised to the customer four days before the sailing date. It was ordered from New York and arrived one-half hour before sailing time from East Boston. Tripp undertook to deliver the dress but his taxi ran out of gas. In the frantic rush he was again delayed on a ferry, but he reached the pier as the gangplank was being pulled up, and delivered the dress.

BONNER IS APPOINTED

William Bonner has been appointed to fill the vacancy created by the death of William Cotton, receiver in R. H. White's furniture warehouse, in an automobile accident last week.

Cotton had been with the firm for 25 years and his passing is mourned by scores of friends throughout the organization. His son, Robert, part time student at Northeastern University, is on the staff of the house furnishing department of the same store.

VETERAN OF OLD WHALING FLEET IS DEAD

Oak Bluffs, April 23 (AP)—Death last night took Capt. George L. Donaldson, 70, one of the last of Martha's Vineyard's whaling captains. Capt. Donaldson, whose home was in West Tisbury, died after an illness of several months.

MASTER AT 24

Born in Edgartown and educated on the Vineyard, Capt. Donaldson went to sea and at 24 was a captain in command of his own ship, and followed the sea for 20 years as a whaling master.

On one occasion, mutiny broke out aboard his ship in the Arctic ocean and Capt. Donaldson was forced to shoot two of the mutineers to save his own life and the ship.

On another cruise, smallpox swept through his crew and laid low half his men. Capt. Donaldson put his vessel about and headed for Honolulu, the nearest port where medical aid might be found. But Honolulu was several weeks sail distant. Capt. Donaldson, taking up the role of physician, cared for his men with such good effect that when he reached port all but two had recovered. The health authorities insisted upon taking one of these men ashore, where he died. The man who remained on the ship recovered

WAS COUNTY OFFICIAL

A rheumatic affliction forced Capt. Donaldson to abandon the sea in his forties. He became a county commissioner, in which capacity he served 12 years and was chairman of the board for the past 12 years. He leaves two daughters.

250 Flee Fires in Picture Theater

Greensburg, Pa., April 23 (AP)—More than 200 persons fled from the Lyric Theater in Yukon, a mining town, when fires broke out near the movie operator's booth and in the basement last night. The theater was destroyed and a half dozen other buildings were damaged.

None was injured. Children screamed when the alarm spread. Firemen estimated the loss at $100,000. The origin of the fires was not determined.

'Hambone' Kelley in Hospital After Row

Joseph "Hambone" Kelley, South Boston pugilist, walked into the City Hospital early today to be treated for multiple lacerations of the head and face and legs and contusions of the shoulders, injuries which he said were suffered in a "private fight."

Man About Town

—By AL DUFFY—

You're Asking Me?

Dear Al

Watched the swanboats today, and wished I was a reporter on a paper so I could find out some things about the captains or propellers or whatever they call the men who make them go.

Where do they recruit the swanboat captains? Do they come from the navy or does the swanboat factory furnish them? When they go home at night and their wives—I mean their wife—Oh! straighten that out yourself—well when the women folks ask them what kind of a day did they have do they say:

"Well, it was pretty windy today rounding the point," or do they say, "Well, swanboating ain't what it used to be. Now I remember well the time the Italy all but tipped over, etc"

Could a swanboat race be promoted for the Fourth of July? It might be held in the Charles River Basin. Can't you see the crowds lining the shore and cheering for their favorite swanboat to win? Would the sordid taint of commercialism prevent such a contest? Do the captains get paid on rainy days? Is there a civil service examination? If so, how much does previous experience count? Do the captains have to keep in training during the winter, and if so, how do they train? What are their thoughts on diet? What is the correct way for the captain to cry: "Cast off" when he wants to start a trip?

I wish you'd look up such matters. A Man About Town should enlighten such a bucolic ignoramus as myself. By the way, when they bought the swanboats did they buy a lot of them or just a male and a female?

—HAL PEN TUESLUFF.

It is the mark of a considerate hostess, by means of the Humidor Pack, to "Serve a fresh cigarette." Buy Camels by the carton—this cigarette will remain fresh in your home and office.

CAMELS

Every CAMEL Package Now a Tiny Humidor

Switch over for just one day then quit Camels, if you can

All regular Camel smokers have noticed a significant change in the Camel package. Now their favorite cigarettes come air-sealed in moisture-proof Cellophane.

An improvement in appearance, true, but the reason for this change that cost $2,000,000 was not mere looks.

It was done to protect the fine mild quality of Camels until they reach the smoker.

The best tobacco loses much of its rich flavor and aroma when its natural moisture content is lost through scorching or evaporation.

That's why we have made every Camel package a tiny humidor—so that you may always be sure of getting Camels in fresh mild condition.

Factory-fresh Camels are air-sealed in the new Sanitary Package which keeps the dust and germs out and keeps the flavor in.

It is peppery dust and harsh dry tobacco that are unkind to a smoker's throat.

Make the switch to Camels for just one day, then leave them—if you can.

Shift in Wind Saves Home for Ten in Norwood Fire

HELEN HENRY

MRS. JAMES HENRY

STILL ON JOB AFTER ALL-NIGHT BATTLE

A kindly shift in the wind was all that saved the home of Mr. James Welch, in which his seven children and two grandchildren reside, from destruction last night in a $50,000 fire that destroyed the Fales grain mill at Railroad ave. and Hill st. Mrs. James Henry is shown with baby Helen. They fled to home of neighbors when the fire threatened to spread to their home. The picture at the right shows firemen still fighting the fire early today.

GRAIN MILL IN NORWOOD PREY OF FLAMES

Sparks From $50,000 Blaze Menace a Tannery Plant Owned by Ex-Gov. Allen

A family of ten have a change of wind to thank for saving their home as flames destroyed the Fales Grain Mill at Railroad ave. and Hill st., Norwood, next door to their house.

The fire, which caused a loss estimated at $50,000, was still smouldering today until the rain put the finishing touches to the firemen's task.

With blazing brands flying about their home, and also endangering a tannery owned by ex-Gov. Frank G. Allen, the family of James Welch, including his seven children, two grandchildren and a mite of a dog, had to flee at midnight to a neighbor's house.

The cause of the fire was undetermined. A general alarm was sounded, calling help from Dedham and Walpole, and scores of motorists thronged to the scene, attracted by flames shooting into the sky.

Congressman Fish to Speak in Boston

Many distinguished speakers, including Congressman Hamilton Fish, Jr., chairman of the National House of Representatives committee on communism, will take part in the patriotic mass meeting of Ladies Auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars, on Boston Common, May 1.

Other speakers are Governor Ely, Mayor Curley, A. C. Jordan, State chairman of National Defense; Brig.-Gen. Alston Hamilton; Rev. Wallace E. Hayes, national chaplain; Dr. Julian D. Lucas, commander of the Department of Massachusetts; Mrs. Mary O'Keefe, national patriotic instructor, and Mrs. Bessie N. Hanken of Revere, past national and State president of the auxiliary. The exercises will include a pageant with 300 school children taking part.

Need for Operation May Balk Sentence

After his attorney produced a doctor's certificate that he was suffering from acute appendicitis, George T. Haskell, 50, a stock broker, who pleaded guilty last October to the larceny of $5000 from Martha L. Hayes, was ordered examined by a physician by Judge Daniel T. O'Connell in Dedham Court.

Dr. Arthur Worthington will make a report to the court tomorrow afternoon.

COLD TONIGHT AFTER RAIN

Today's rain, hailed with rejoicing by farmers and brush fire fighters, will not last, according to the weatherman.

Although snow and rain quenched forest fires in the West and in New York State, Pennsylvania, and Maryland, as well as menaced the forest fire menace in New Jersey, the local downfall was scheduled to end tonight.

Sections of Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Nevada and the Sierra Mountains were covered by snow in a backfire of winter. In Western Nevada a severe drought was broken by the heaviest fall of the year which continued early today.

Heavy rains helped fire fighters in New York State, turning to snow near Jamestown. Rain and snow fell in the Alleghany Mountain region of Western Pennsylvania, extinguishing scores of fires and making motor travel dangerous on upland roads.

In New Jersey and Long Island a heavy downpour relieved a water shortage and removed the menace of forest fires.

The local official forecast: Light showers and colder tonight; Friday fair, moderate easterly winds shifting to northwest.

Everett Man Held for Death of Girl

Joseph Katz of Springvale ave., Everett, was arrested today, charged with manslaughter, in the death of Helen Koczorski, seven, of 1 Front st., Chelsea.

The child was knocked down by a truck driven by Katz near 4th st., last night, and died two hours later at Chelsea Memorial Hospital. Katz, who took her to the hospital and then went to the police station to make a report, was placed under arrest at 2 o'clock this morning.

'GAS' MAN HELD IN ATTACK

A controversy over the removal of gasoline pumps an drank, in which a revolver was alleged to have been brandished, resulted in the appearance in Lynn district court today of Israel Sternberg, proprietor of the Leblanc Cleansing Co., Fayette st., Lynn.

Sternberg was charged with assault with a dangerous weapon on William Gott, superintendent of a gasoline company, and with carrying a revolver.

He pleaded not guilty and was held in $500 for the grand jury by Judge Ralph W. Reeve.

In making the complaint Gott said he went to the cleaning establishment with two assistants, to remove pumps and tanks of his company's because Sternberg was not selling the proper gasoline from them.

Police Halt Youth Who Stages 'Nature Dance' in Street

It wasn't so warm today as it has been, but there's nothing so invigorating as a scamper in an April drizzle in the all-together.

What with rain and everything, Kenneth probably thought he was still on the sea and taking off from the boat which just brought him from New York.

Anyhow, here was Kenneth in mid-forenoon skipping blithely across Haymarket sq. in his birthday suit, dodging between-swiftly passing automobiles and gaping pedestrians and darting up to Portland st.

There his spring dance was interrupted by a couple of strangers who bundled him into a doorway to await arrival of Sergt. McFarland and a police van, in which he was taken back to Haymarket Relief Hospital.

Earlier today the youth, giving his name as Kenneth McManus of Milton, was taken to the hospital from the New York boat for treatment for alcoholism.

Plans Dance

The Gabriella Club will hold a formal dance at the Longwood Towers, Brookline, Monday, to obtain funds for the benefit of the Passionist Fathers. Miss Madeline L. Cadegan is one of the committee.

$50 for News Tips

Do you want to get money for being alert? If so, the Boston Evening American offers the opportunity. Each week $50 in prizes will be given for news and picture tips telephoned in to the News-Tip Editor at Liberty 4000.

What is a news tip? It's the information that something of interest to Greater Bostonians has taken place or will take place. Do you know, for instance, that an interesting picture is to be obtained, that an accident or an unusual event has happened, that there is going to be a business merger? That's a news tip.

If you have a camera, take a picture of some news event while it is happening. Bring your pictures to the American quick. Delay often spoils them for use.

There will be $15 given weekly for the best or the most unusual event news tip received; $10 for the next best; $5 for the next best, and $2 prizes for each of the 10 next most valuable tips.

War Mothers to Hold Arbor Day Exercises

EX-BROKER IS HELD IN DEAL

Another court appearance for Frank J. Gosselin, former Huntington ave. broker, today resulted in his being found guilty of larceny of $280 in a stock transaction.

The alleged larceny occurred June 10, 1930, through the sale of stock certificates owned by Leon L. Hayes of 4 Nantasket ave., Brighton. Judge Thomas J. Goode, in municipal court, before whom Gosselin appeared, continued the case until tomorrow for disposition. Gosselin, according to Inspector William R. Connelly, is under $500 bonds from Middlesex Superior Court in connection with a stock case, $1000 bonds from Suffolk Superior Court on a similar case, and State police hold a fugitive warrant for his arrest for the Syracuse, N. Y., authorities.

AUTO TEST PUTS 3 IN HOSPITAL

The injured:

Harold Freeman, 23, of Whitman st., Dorchester, the driver. Removed to City Hospital with injuries to back, left knee and right hip.

Just prior to the accident Freeman was turning the auto around when the accelerator stuck down which caused the car to leap forward

JAIL SENTENCE CAUSES ONE TO COLLAPSE

Somerville Fight Over Attention to Husband Is Aired Before Judge Sturtevant

Mrs. Evelyn I. Marks, of Tremont st., Somerville, warned Mrs. Phoebe Sousa, of Tremont pl., to keep away from Joseph Marks, her husband.

Mrs. Sousa swung a flashlight and sent Mrs. Marks to the hospital

In Somerville court today Judge Malcolm E. Sturtevant sent Mrs. Sousa to the House of Correction for three months.

MRS. MARKS NOT GUILTY

Mrs. Sousa appealed, was held in $1000 bail and collapsed on the floor of the courtroom. She was carried out.

Mrs. Marks was found not guilty of assaulting Mrs. Sousa and was discharged.

Mrs. Marks testified that last Friday her husband, and Elevated guard, came home in the morning, changed from uniform to street clothes and went out

She said she had seen Mrs. Sousa going out and had been given information that Marks and Mrs. Sousa were going to Wilmington together

She said shre went to the North Station later in the day and saw her husband there with two other men. Mrs. Sousa and two other women.

Later she met Mrs. Sousa, she testified, and warned her to keep away from her husband. Mrs. Sousa, she claimed, retaliated by hitting her over the head three times with a flashlight, and sending her to Cambridge Hospital.

PLEAD SELF DEFENSE

Mrs. Sousa denied that Marks was with her. She said she hit Mrs. Marks in self-defense. John Cardinal said he accompanied Mrs. Sousa and her two nieces to Wilmington and didn't see Marks.

Marks himself took the stand and denied he had been to Wilmington. He said he had been to the movies near the North Station.

Judge Sturtevant, in announcing his finding, said he would be called upon to decide whether Marks had been to Wilmington but believed he had been.

YOUTH HELD AS SWINDLER

An alleged $10,000 merchandise swindle from business concerns was charged today with the arraignment of Samuel Sherman, 24, of Grove st., Woonsocket, R. I., in federal district court on an indictment charging use of the mail with intent to defraud. He pleaded not guilty and was held in $1000 bonds by Judge James A. Lowell.

Two other arrests on secret indictments in connection with the alleged swindle are expected. Capias have been issued but the names of the other two were withheld.

According to Asst. U. S. Atty. John A. Walsh, Jr., the three men opened a men's furnishing store at 285 Salem st., Medford and then wrote to manufacturers in Boston, New York and Philadelphia, falsely stating their financial condition.

Merchandise valued at $10,000 is said to have been shipped by various concerns to the store, after which it was closed and the trio disappeared.

Miss Holmes Will Represent Gov. Ely

Miss Sybil Holmes, assistant Attorney-General, has been designated as official representative of Governor Ely to attend the reunion and banquet in Hotel Brunswick for women war veterans of New England Saturday evening, April 25.

The guest of honor will be Mrs. Anna C. M. Tillinghast, commissioner of immigration, who will speak on "Aliens and Their Activities in the United States."

Miss Alice E. Carey, woman lawyer, will be toastmistress, and other speakers will include Mrs. John J. Walsh, commander of All Nurses Post 206, and Mrs. Mary Colombo, of Comdr. Bessie F. Edwards Post, American Legion.

Patrick Dodge, 50, of 1202 Washington st., South End, fell dead in a Washington st. restaurant today after ordering breakfast.

The body was removed to Southern mortuary, where it was identified by James O'Brien, lodging house proprietor. Death was due to natural causes.

Delight Is Name She Has Begun to Hate

By FAITH BALDWIN

Author of "The Office Wife," "Alimony" and Other Famous

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR

Mary Lou Thurston, a beautiful and vivacious girl of the "home" type, orphaned by the death of her parents, lives with her aunt and uncle, Clara and Howard Sanderson. The former is private secretary to a publisher, and the latter an engineer. Larry Mitchell, energetic young newspaper reporter, is Mary Lou's pal. Sanderson gets a wonderful business chance to go to the Orient and take his wife as secretary. Mary Lou is to stay temporarily with Grandma Jennings, Clara's mother. Larry is eager to marry Mary Lou and take care of her, but Mary Lou convinces him they are merely good pals and asks him to help her get a job. She applies at the Lorrimer's and is claimed by the son of the house as his war bride, named "Delight." Mary Lou qualifies as companion for Travers, who seems to find her different from his remembrance of his wife." The Lorrimers plan for the first gay Christmas since the war. Mary Lou discovers her love for Lorry.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

MARY LOU, dressed in knickers and with a suede leather skating jacket, looked like a delightful if very effeminate boy. She pulled off the jacket, appearing in a soft brown flannel shirt and gay tie. Her lovely hair shone in the firelight and her cheeks were rosy red with the cold.

"Why is it," asked Jenny, "that, when we skate or ski, Delight always looks like something on the cover of an expensive magazine? Me, I go out, armed for battle and all that and only succeed in getting a red nose. But Delight is red where red should be and white—or, at most, pink—other places. Of course, she hasn't as much nose as I have. What do you think, Doctor Dan?"

Circulation," answered that gentleman briefly.

"Bah," said Jenny, triumphantly. "I exercise. I exercise like mad."

"In spurts. The rest of the time you eat too many sweets, smoke too many cigarettes, wear too high heels, dance too much and spend too much time in the shops."

Simple Child

"And Delight, I suppose," continued the unabashed Jenny, "is just a simple child of Nature."

Lorrimer was untying a great parcel of books which had reached Westwood House that afternoon

"Delight," he said, looking up. She sat down her cup and went over to him. Curious how she had come to hate that name, affected, she thought it, idiotic, the name of a silky, silly girl in a ridiculous novel.

"Yes, Larry?"

"I wish she wouldn't," remarked Larry to Jenny.

"Wouldn't what?"

"Wouldn't call him that. I always prick up my ears like an obedient and startled bird. Mary, Larry and Larry! Sounds like a couple of the Rollo boys. Too confusing."

"I call you Lawrence," offered Jenny brightly.

Go Too Fast

"That sounds too—formal."

"What do you suggest?" she asked.

"Well," he replied, thoughtfully, "Lawrence, dear' would be nice. But 'Lawrence, dearest' would be nicer still. However, I think 'Lawrence darling' would be almost good enough."

Jenny shook her yellow curls at him.

"Boy, you go too fast," she murmured.

Lots of reading matter," Lorrimer said. "We can dig ourselves

BOOKS OF VAUGHAN, MISSING BANK RECEIVER, SCRUTINIZED

MAY SHOW WHY YOUNG LAWYER DISAPPEARED

Expert Accountant Assisting F. D. Bonner, Appointed by Court as Successor

Searching examination of the books of Guy L. Vaughan, young Boston attorney, who mysteriously disappeared while acting as receiver for five Greater Boston banks, began today in his office, 53 State st.

Frederick D. Bonner appointed to succeed Vaughan as receiver, is being assisted by an expert accountant. The examination, which will be completed within a few days, is expected to reveal the cause of the young bachelor's disappearance five weeks ago.

WAGE EARNERS HIT

Hundreds of wage earners, many of them elderly men and women, who had deposited their life savings in the wrecked banks, had hoped that Receiver Vaughan might salvage at least a remnant of their money.

The anxiety and expense of months was increased when they learned that the man in whom they had pinned the utmost confidence had failed to return from Washington as he had promised.

Cursory examination of Vaughan's accounts by a bank examiner showed them to be so badly involved that Bank Commissioner Arthur Guy petitioned the Supreme Court for his removal and for appointment of Bonner to straighten out the snarled affairs.

LAST SEEN IN WASHINGTON

Bank Commissioner Guy said today:

"Our department has not received any information or clue as to Mr. Vaughan's whereabouts. We are completely in the dark. The last person to talk with him was Mr. Bonner. They met in Washington and Mr. Vaughan told Mr. Bonner he planned to return in Boston immediately.

"Hasty examination of Mr. Vaughan's books showed them to be involved. What a full examination will reveal remains to be seen. The police have not been notified. Whatever action in that direction may eventually be taken depends entirely upon Receiver Bonner and what his examination discloses.

"Some friends of Mr. Vaughan fear that he suffered a mental collapse due to overwork."

Law Student Fined $200 on Rum Charge

Rocco Mirabile, 26, of Cottage st., East Boston, former law student at Suffolk Law School, was fined $200 in East Boston District Court today for keeping and exposing liquor for sale and given two months in the House of Correction for destroying a search warrant displayed by the police when they entered his premises.

He threw the warrant into a fire, according to the police. The police said they had to batter down a door to get into the house.

TOO MANY CHILDREN ARE UNDERWEIGHT

Tasteless Diet Often the Reason for This Condition

Mothers are often puzzled to find the problem of getting their children to eat what is good for them. When they realize that this condition is often due to food tastelessness they are much satisfied.

The lack of true appeal of the food served is often the cause of poor appetites. The cereal may be tasteless; the fruit juice or the stewed fruit too tart or quite insipid; the vegetables unappetizing flavor.

By adding a dash of sugar to these foods they will be much improved in flavor. Doctors approve such use of sugar because it makes these foods which are rich in vitamins, minerals and roughage more enjoyable to the child.

A dash of sugar to a pinch of salt is a popular way to season string beans, spinach, carrots, tomatoes and peas. Salt overcomes flatness, and the sugar "brings out" the flavor. Most foods are more delicious with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

MEN GIVEN JOBS GO ON STRIKE

Four unmarried men, temporary employes at the Boston City Hospital, went on strike today when they were instructed to work as laborers on the lawns at the same wages they were paid for putting up screens and removing storm doors.

The quartet were hired through the municipal employment bureau nine days ago at wages of $3.50 a day and were classified as screen men.

The men called at the City Council Chamber in City Hall to register a protest and announced that they were on strike for $5 a day.

William J. Walsh, assistant city messenger, urged the group to return to work after explaining to them that $5 jobs at the hospital are filled by the Civil Service Commission. They decided to seek an audience with Mayor Curley tomorrow.

The strikers are Leo McCue of Parker st., Roxbury, father of two children; James Lennon of Bismarck st., Jamaica Plain, father of one child; Bronislaus Sebastian of Oakwood st., Mattapan, and Myer Krim of McLean st., West End.

SEAGER ADMITS VIOLATION IN USE OF CASH

Says Restriction on Use of Investors' Money Was Broken Only Once

An admission that a restriction on the use of money of investors in the Founders' Securities Trust and United Investment Trust had been violated, was made in federal court today.

Under cross-examination by Atty. Damon E. Hall, the admission was made by Charles D. Seager of Brookline, one of the respondents named in a bill in equity brought by three Kentucky brothers against the $25,000,000 concern.

Seager, who resumed the stand for the 10th day, said the violation occurred only once, and that no financial loss resulted. The use of investors' money was restricted to 2½ per cent, he testified.

Other respondents, directors in the two companies, are Stephen J. Richards, Needham; Stephen H. Tracy, Cambridge; Lothrop Stoddard, Brookline; First National Bank of Boston; Commercials Italiana Trust and Elmer H. Bright & Co., Cambridge.

The petitioners, Wood F., Edwin and Robert A. Arton, seek to place personal liability on the directors on the ground of conspiracy.

Questioned regarding his reports to stockholders, Seager denied anything was hidden. He admitted he had sent out pamphlets containing lists of stocks which he considered a good investment, including petroleum stock, although he could not recall the price of the latter.

PASTOR SCORES CONSTITUTION

"Youth will treat the Constitution with respect only when the Constitution becomes respectable."

Rev. Russell Henry Stafford, pastor of Old South Church, expressed this view today in an address on youth in political life at the fourth statecraft institute of the Women's Republican Club of Massachusetts.

"Youth will respect the Constitution," he added, "when it ceases being quasi-religious propaganda, for this, that or the other and becomes a political document.

"Radicalism attracts youth because it has interesting ideas, even though it is fostered by cracked brains.

"When we produce doctrines as intelligent and brilliant, but less perverted, than those of Carl Marx and Lenin, we will have done something to attract youth to politics in this country.

Gov. Ely was present at the opening of the institute which is taking place at the clubhouse, 46 Beacon st., and he lauded it as a means of brilliant discussion for acquainting interested people with the most advanced political ideas.

ADMITS GUILT, SHOCKED AT SENTENCE

Charged With Maintaining a Disreputable House and Admitting Minors

Mrs. Joan Fielding, of Commonwealth ave., Brighton, one of 13 persons arrested in the recent vice crusade, was sentenced today to serve six months in the House of Correction.

She pleaded guilty before Judge Williams in Suffolk superior court to charges of maintaining a disreputable house and allowing minors on the premises. Judge Williams remarked that the case was a serious one as he pronounced sentence, six months on each charge, the sentences to be served concurrently.

"It can't be true!" Mrs. Fielding exclaimed when she heard the sentence.

Special officers Hart and Douglas, who conducted the crusade for Dist. Atty. Foley, prosecuted the case.

Trial of the remaining cases will start next week. All involve three Dorchester high night school girls of minor age.

Governor Ignores Attack by Gleason

The attack on Governor Ely by City Councillor Richard R. Gleason at the Fenway Park ball game yesterday was today considered a closed incident by the Governor.

He refused to discuss the affair in any way, but eyewitnesses said he ignored the incident at the time, failing to even turn around when the troubles started.

Highway Relief Extension Asked

A bill to relieve permanently the cities and towns bearing part of the expense of maintaining and repairing state highways was sponsored by a large delegation of legislators today at a hearing before the House Ways and Means Committee.

Under the emergency highway bill signed by Gov Ely this relief is given for two years. Only Senator Donald W. Nicholson of Wareham and Senator Cornelius F. Haley of Rowley spoke for the bill.

Bloomfield Fights Hairdresser Bill

A bill to regulate, under a state board, hairdressers, cosmetologists and electrologists met with strenuous opposition today at a hearing before the Senate committee on ways and means.

Daniel Bloomfield, representing the Retail Trade Board of Boston Chamber of Commerce, denounced the proposed legislation as nothing more than an attempt to protect those now engaged in the businesses from competition.

The story of a family wrecked by wealth is told by Fannie Hurst in her great novel, "FIVE AND TEN," which begins TOMORROW in the Boston American.

Winning Poster of 'Be Kind to Animals Week' Exhibited

IT'S HER OWN POSTER

This is "Be Kind to Animals Week." Evidence of this is found on the third floor of the Boston Public Library where prize-winning posters are on display. The posters are the work of school children from all over the state. In all, 5583 posters were submitted in the contest, conducted by the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. At the left, Sybil Johnston of Braintree,

IT'S A GOOD JOB, SHE ADMITS

is looking at her prize-winning poster entitled "Two Pals." The work of Charles McLaughlin of Newton is being admired by Marjorie Day. It is entitled "Kindness Leads the Way."

TWO ON TRIAL IN MILTON HOLDUP

Testifying in the trial of Frederick F. McDonald and John J. Porter in the robbery of the Milton Savings Bank on March 21, a woman employe of the bank today said the defendants looked like the bandits who invaded the bank and scooped up $126.

Miss Bertha Rawlings, who was held at gunpoint by one of the robbers while the other vaulted over a grill and took the money, told of being confronted by one of the men, armed with two guns, and ordered to keep quiet while the robbery was in progress. The armed man, she said, looked like McDonald.

Following McDonald's arrest a month ago Miss Rawlings is said to have identified him from pictures at police headquarters.

Slashing of Three Probed by Police

Charlestown police began an investigation today of the slashing of three men, one sailor in the navy, in a fracas in Cid st pl, near the Navy Yard, last night.

Boyd Galantia, 18, of Hudson st, Charlestown, was kept at Haymarket Relief Hospital for treatment for a cut in the chest. Shermos Oraconi, 31, of Henley st, and Francis Anamelin, 27, of the U. S. S. Patoka were discharged after treatment for wounds.

Honored

Mrs. Robert Lincoln Hoyal, national president of the American Legion Auxiliary, in whose honor a dance and reception will be held, at the Longwood Towers, tonight.

Typo Convention Committee Meets

President Leo F. Greene of Boston Typographical Union, No. 13, has called a meeting of the various local committees handling the arrangements for the 76th annual convention of the International Typographical Union of North America for tonight at the new headquarters of the local in the Journal building, 282 Washington st.

DEATH PENALTY STUDY URGED

Whether Massachusetts, with its present system of crime detecting and court machinery, can afford to continue taking the chance of sending innocent men to the electric chair was put up to the Senate committee on ways and means today by Atty. William G. Thompson of Boston.

Thompson, together with a score of other prominent speakers, asked for a special commission to investigate the advisability of retaining or abolishing capital punishment in this state.

The hearing was conducted by Atty Herbert B. Ehrmann, who said the council of the Boston Bar Association favored the investigation.

Atty Thompson contrasted the police system here with Scotland Yard in England with its Oxford graduates. He claimed that the power here work under pressure to convict the wrong man if they cant find the right one.

DINNER IS GIVEN FOR MISS WONG

Miss Anna May Woong, Chinese actress, will be feted tonight at a dinner given in her honor by the Chinese Merchants' Welfare Association at 336 Massachusetts ave.

Invited guests include Lowell Thomas, world traveler and radio speaker; Atty.-Gen. Joseph E. Warner; Sen. and Mrs. Theodore P. Plunkett and Judge Emma Falls Schofield.

John Wong, president, and Philip Lau, secretary of the association, will welcome Miss Wong.

Injured in Subway

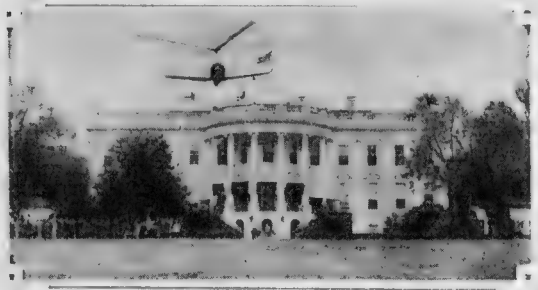
'LANDS ON A DIME' ON WHITE HOUSE LAWN



President Hoover and high government officials watched James G. Ray bring an autogiro plane to a safe landing on the White House grounds, the first of its kind to alight on that historic spot. The plane worked perfectly and the interested watchers saw Ray bring down his plane on the "proverbial dime." (International Newsreel photo.)

Officers 'Bawled Out' By Customer as They Raid House

Dry agents conducting a raid Saturday night in the home of Ralph Melanson, Ardell st., Quincy, were upbraided by telephone by a man who demanded delivery of a quart of whiskey for which, he said, he had paid $5.

Such was the testimony in federal court during Melanson's arraignment today on a charge of transporting and selling liquor.

He was held in $1000 by Commissioner Edwin C. Jenney. The agents didn't mind the call down, they said.

Purcell on Newton Police

HOPE WILLIAMS, NEW YORK SOCIETY GIRL, HEADS CAST FOR FILM

'The Penthouse' Will Be First on Calendar of New Movie Star

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor Universal Service

(Copyright, 1931, Universal Service, Inc.)

LOS ANGELES, April 23.—Among the circumcised things in the world is the signing of Hope Williams to a motion picture contract. Hope Williams, for the benefit of our movie readers, is a New York society girl who has achieved a phenomenal hit on the New York stage, first in "Holiday" and now in "The New Yorkers."

She has been offered everything but an interest in the film business to come out here and make a picture on her own terms. She has always refused offers up to now. Yesterday Joseph Schnitzer said Miss Williams had signed a contract with William Le Baron in New York and that she is coming West to make "The Penthouse," the original by John Howard Lawson, just as soon as she finishes in "The New Yorkers." Just between us, Hope Williams has the privilege of selecting her own material.

ANY IDEAS that Lionel Barrymore has to direct will have to be sidetracked in favor of his acting. His work in "A Free Soul" is of such a high order that the do is now out and whether the elder Barrymore likes it or not he will have to act Daryl Zanuck is borrowing Lionel from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for the lead in "The Star Witness," a dramatic story of the criminal courts by Lucien Hubbard. It's no surprise that Lionel can act for he is one of America's greatest actors as well as one of the pioneer film actors. But sometimes it takes a good picture to make the producers wake up to the talent right at their front door.

* * *

I FELT SURE that Harry Carey would be given a chance to make pictures after his work in "Trader Horn." I am only surprised that he hasn't had more offers. He will now star in the first of the series of pictures, "The Vanishing Legion" by Wyndham Gittens, Marie Beba Ford and Elmer Bergman, as independent production to be made by Nat Levine.

THE SAILING date of Mary Pickford has been definitely set for May 13. Mary leaves Saturday for New York, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Reimer Chalif, her cousins. They are making the trip to Europe with her. She will meet Douglas Fairbanks and after a few months in Europe, return home. What a lot of our stars are traveling this summer. Norma Shearer, who had to remain a few days longer for personal reasons, left today for New York to sail early in May. Yes of course, her husband, Irving Thalberg, is going with her. Also her son, Irving Thalberg, Jr.

SALLY O'NEIL entertaining a few friends in the blossom room at the Roosevelt Hotel. MARION MILLER wiring friends that she is leaving New York for Hollywood. LUPE VELEZ opening in Chicago on the RKO vaudeville circuit April 30. CLIFF EDWARDS getting pointers on how to be a movie agent from the M. G. M boys that is back in town in "The Great Lover." That's all today. See you tomorrow.

CIRCUS STARS AT PLAY

Vera Bruce, serialist, and Agnes Coleman, equestrienne, find time for a little fun between performances of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus, at Boston Garden April 30.

Beauties Like Circus Life the Best

Vera Bruce, serialist, and Agnes Coleman, rider of thoroughbred horses, have attracted the attention of circus-goers by their beauty as well as talent. But, being recognized as the outstanding beauties of Spangleland has not spoiled these young ladies of the Ringling Bros and Barnum & Bailey Circus. Each considers that a successful career in the world of "white tops" is far more worth-while than beauty laurels.

Miss Bruce is a member of the famous Codona trio of aerialists and twice each day she appears in the most thrilling exhibition of its kind ever witnessed. In a menage act, Miss Coleman rides Sonny Boy, a high-spirited horse in a remarkable exhibition of equestrianism.

This season, with more than 800 men and women performers of international fame, including scores of foreign acts new to America, the great Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus is presenting performances of a higher quality than ever before.

'Hard Work Wins,' Says Bancroft

Universal Service

Los Angeles, April 23.—"Do you consider success a matter of fate or hard work?" Louella O. Parsons, motion picture editor of the Hearst newspapers and Universal Service, asked George Bancroft during a radio interview yesterday.

"Success is not an accident. It is a matter of hard work," Mr. Bancroft replied. "I've never known a big name to be reached for the top who hadn't worked for his success. It's absolutely useless to put your wishbone where your backbone ought to be. Success means sticking to the job—making many sacrifices—giving complete concentration to what you are doing. Those things alone, however, are not sufficient to achieve success. You must also be endowed with ability as well."

* * *

This interesting radio interview conducted by Miss Parsons was the 11th in a series of weekly broadcasts with famous motion picture stars on the Bunkist program.

* * *

Miss Parsons, among other things, asked Mr. Bancroft if he liked being a bad man on the screen.

"That's a difficult question," he replied, "Yes and no. The public has a curious interest in gang stories. I, myself, like them so long as the villain is properly punished in the end. I'm old fashioned enough to believe in a moral. When I play underworld, or bandit roles, I try to show that no one who does wrong or even thinks wrong, can get away with it. I make it a point never to let a man who hurts others by word or deed win out."

Next week the interview will be held an hour earlier owing to daylight saving time. Miss Parsons will interview Lew Ayres at 4:30 Pacific Standard Time.

'Front Page' Thrill for Menjou

"The Front Page," at Loew's State tomorrow, marks the transition of Adolphe Menjou from high hat characterizations on the screen to that of a hard-boiled personage. For years, Adolphe Menjou has thrilled thousands by his faultless characterizations of men high in society. Ever since "A Woman of Paris," he has always been the well groomed, mild mannered "gentleman." But in "The Front Page," Menjou drops his familiar character for the first time in his screen career, and becomes a ruthless man, out to get everything he wants.

It's the fourth big thrill in his life, he says. The first was graduating with high honors from Cornell University, the second was receiving his commission as captain during the war, and his subsequent service in Italy; the third was his entry upon a film career, and now his fourth, which he terms the best of all.

Lewis Milestone, director of the famed "All Quiet on the Western Front," directed "The Front Page," and the actions of the stage play, Charles MacArthur and Ben Hecht also assisted in treating the play for film fare.

Bowdoin Square

Beginning today and continuing for the remainder of the week, the Bowdoin Square puts forth another entertaining picture and selected vaudeville program. Mary Pickford will be seen in "Kiki." Another picture is "The Single Sin." Laurel and Hardy delight in the comedy "Be Big." Seven vaudeville acts round out the bill. On Friday night Primo Carnera, the Italian heavyweight champion, will make a personal appearance.

Los Angeles 'Dirigible' Feature

Who is the leading lady of the Columbia thriller picture, "Dirigible," which comes to the Majestic for a run, beginning May 4?

It isn't Fay Wray, the young lady who has the love role opposite Jack Holt and Ralph Graves. So Columbia states; and, that company announces that in the casting, it deliberately assigned the "feminine lead" to the United States dirigible Los Angeles, and the company claims the aircraft did a stellar job acting before the cameras.

At Lakehurst, N. J., when the Los Angeles was ready to be used in filming Dirigible, the officers of the airship gave the command to take "her" out of the hangar and in a few minutes, "she" was soaring in the heavens under the command of Jack Holt.

What a leading lady the Los Angeles is! No other leading lady can compare with her in size.—And what a huge role she plays in "Dirigible!"

The story of "Dirigible" is the story of the conquest of the South Pole by aircraft. Danger, adventure, thrilling flying—all are built around a powerful theme of romantic love. This love Ralph Graves does not realize is his until he literally goes to the end of the world.

Molly Picon in Yiddish Stage Success

As the only daughter of a crook, ably played by Sam Kesten, Molly told in song and dance her disapproval of marrying a gunman and her desire to "mid-dain" it with an actor, admirably played by Leon Gold. Miss Picon, assisted by a chorus, sang and danced several numbers, generously responding to encores.

Genuine and sincere appreciation of their efforts was accorded the actors by a most receptive audience. They liked Molly Picon as the heroine. They applauded the comedy of Sam Kesten and Paul Barstein. They received well the acting of Lucy Levin, Charles Cohen, Tillie Rabinowitz, semi-principals, and the work of the good-looking chorus.

—With GEORGE UNDERWOOD—

Found, a Brave Man. | Wait, Says Conway.
Cartoonist Jenkins. | Many a Slip, Etc.
He Picks Stribling. | We Lean to Max.

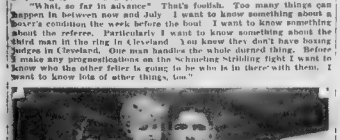
VIEWS DIFFER ON CLEVELAND SCUFFLE

A PARASANG on the starboard bow—Yo! Ho! And a bottle of hair tonic!—Burris Jenkins, the cartoonist, gives you his idea of what will take place when Max Schmeling defends his world's heavyweight championship crown against Young Stribling in the big bowl now nearing completion on the waterfront at Cleveland. Burris is a brave young man. He deserves the croix de guerre with three palms. He has violated all rules of the sports writer's guild by daring unhesitatingly, decisively and unequivocally, to pick a winner of a scrap for the championship of the universe so far in advance. There's many a slip 'twixt the pen scratch and the gong clang. The best made prognostications of sports scribes and men gang aft agley.

TAKE JACK Conway for instance wise, canny experienced old Jack. You can comb the country from the Great Lakes to the Gulf and from the rock bound coast of Maine to the sun kissed shores of the Pacific without picking a boxing picker the equal of the Boston Evening American's boxing picker. None of 'em can call 'em as right as does Conway. But when we asked Jack who he thought would win when Max the Mangler collided with Willie the Clutch he raised inquiring eyebrows and queried

"What, so far in advance" That's foolish. Too many things can happen in between now and July. I want to know something about a boxer's condition the week before the bout. I want to know something about the referee. Particularly I want to know something about the third man in the ring in Cleveland. You know they don't have boxing judges in Cleveland. One man handles the whole durned thing. Before I make any prognostications on the Schmeling Stribling fight I want to know who the other fellar is going to be who is in there with them. I want to know lots of other things, too."



BUT OUR hero, Burris Jenkins, who can draw like all creation—Burris comes pretty near being the champion sports cartoonist of the universe—and has mighty good judgment of boxing bouts, "dots" us no "buts" and "ifs" us no "ifs." Not even willing until he sees the whites of our eyes Burris takes his trusty pen in hand and fires away with the unequivocal prognostication that when the last gong clangs in Cleveland and the referee, or announcer, or whoever it will be, steps to ring center and raises the victor's hand in triumph he will clarion to the wide world.

"Winner and New World's Champion, Young Stribling of Gawgia, Suh!"

That would be perfectly lovely, wouldn't it? The eve before the Fourth of July and the world's heavyweight championship reverting back to the United States, where it belongs, and where it always rested until Max Schmeling, groveling on the floor and squawking "Rooster," "Chicken" or something or other, won it from our Sharkey.

Yes, it would be a great thing for us Yankees if Burris Jenkins's prognostication came true.

Jenkins says Stribling will outbox and outsmart Schmeling from the call, get a little too confident and run afoul of one knockdown smash, but will recover and outfight, outgame and outlast the Teuton Schlager in the final rounds.

I dunno—I dunno!

Here Schmeling showed himself to be a purty good long distance fighter in his brawl with Paolino Uzcudun—a purty good long distance fighter. The Basque Wood Chopper was a rough, tough pusson then, a rough hombre with a world of rugged strength, stamina and endurance. Schmeling rated himself along as a dinky slip in that 35-round embroglio with the tough Senor Uzcudun and finished like a quarter horse.

Seems to us, Burris, that 15 rounds out the fighter from over the Rhine a little bit better than they suit the King of the Cauchvacks.

WILLIE the Clutch never was much of a finisher. With his rough-house, scuffling, mauling, clinch-ing—Willie you know can hug like a June bride—he is inclined to tire and dog it before the 10th round.

On past performances, Burris, we would be inclined to think that either of those knights of the scrambled ears is to win out on stamina and endurance between the 10th and 15th rounds it is likely to be the scrappin' fool from Unter den Linden. It is likely to be Schmeling, unless Max steady going Der Max that we once knew has cultivated a habit of soaking upon wine or lips when they are red, got a White Light tan or some other of those things an athlete gets when he leaves the straight and narrow for the Primrose Path.

BUT the both of us can't be right Burris. If your prognostication proves right on July 3, we'll doff our chapeau to you and give three rousing cheers for the guy that brought the championship back to the U. S. A. Like all the rest we can get terribly patriotic on occasion.

Now look what you have went and done, Burris. You've made us come out with a premature prognostication, too. Now we'll get fired from the Fight Writers' Union, just as sure as you're born. You're one of those guys, Burris, who when you get into trouble has to get somebody else into trouble, too. We're off you for life.

But—Ha! Ha!—you haven't tricked us into it after all, Burris. Looking back over our ramblings we see we haven't come out bravely and unequivocally, as you have done, and unequivocally picked a winner. Note how we have run true to boxing writer's form, protected ourselves at all times by "it seems to us," "is likely," "inclined to think," "if" etc. pin. We haven't forfeited our standing in the sports writers' union, after all. We can still look our brother sports scribes in the face.

SOME TIME before the opening gong clangs on July 3, Burris may-Jack Conway and your humble columnist will get nerve enough to ome out and say what's what and who's who, like you do.

First, you know, we must wrinkle our corrugated domes in deep thought, watch both fighters box many rounds, take the blood pressure and hoof-measurements of both gladiators, analyze each under an immortal microscope, wade through lengthy reports from our corps of operatives and detectives, who we already have placed on the trail of both fighters, their relatives, managers, time keepers, seconds, bottle holders, all referees, officials, gunmen and pineapple tossers, cupped ith ears to the mouthings of every other expert from here to Tophet.

Then maybe before the opening gong clangs we will shut both eyes, gnit our teeth and explode "Schmeling SHOULD win."

And then Dee Max probably will go out and prove that we're all wrong, Burris, all wrong.

Somerville Cubs in Opener Sunday

The Somerville Cubs will open its home season at Lincoln Park, Somerville, on Sunday, with the Malden City Club.

The Somerville Cubs enter their eighth successive season with a background of 253 victories in 318 games played, having defeated the foremost of New England's ball teams.

Mayor John Murphy will be master of ceremonies and the 100-piece Fife and Drum Corps of Sacred Hearts will participate in this gala opening

Cubs Sell Pitcher Osborn to Pirates

Chicago, April 23 (AP)—The sale of Pitcher Bob Osborn by the Chicago Cubs to Pittsburgh may mean that the Bruins still are trying to add strength through purchase.

When Osborn was removed from the club roster yesterday the Cubs came down to the player limit of 23 players. Pitcher Dick Mentagus is due to go, leaving room for one more accomplished hand.

Giants Sell Herb Pruett to Newark

New York, April 23 (AP)—The New York Giants today announced the outright sale of Herb Pruett, left-handed pitcher, to the Newark club of the International League. James Moore rookie outfielder, and Harry Rosenberg, who was with the Giants last year, also were sent to Newark on option.

What the Stars Did

By the Associated Press.

Babe Ruth, Yankees—Accounted for five runs with two singles and a double before injury forced him out of game as Yanks beat Boston, 7 to 5.

Fred Richrdt, White Sox—Made four hits and a sacrifice in five trips to the plate, batting in four runs to beat Cleveland, 10 to 7.

Bob Grove, Athletics—Fanned seven Senators and allowed seven hits to beat Washington, 5 to 3.

Hughie Critz, Giants—Hit homer that started winning rally in Giants' 6 to 4 victory over Philadelphia.

ROUGH WATER HALTS TECH CREWS

Annapolis, Md., April 23 High winds and rough water today greatly handicapped the crews of Massachusetts Tech and the Naval Academy in the preparation for the races of Saturday. Coach Haines of Tech, believing his light varsity, stroked by Otis Lawrence, is a little off form, gave that crew a complete rest today and devoted himself to his big crew and 150 pounders.

No decision has yet been reached as to which crew will enter the varsity race here Saturday. Haines said today that he hoped conditions would permit a brush between the two tomorrow so that he could decide.

Haines tried to take his two crews over the course this morning but reached a point 100 yards or so above the railroad bridge. He was compelled to turn back and the boat with the big oarsmen nearly filled and was barely able to reach the boat.

This afternoon the crews of both institutions confined their rowing to the sheltered waters of College creek taking short spins and practicing some racing starts. Anything like a time trial was out of the question.

Grinkley and Jewett, who were moved from the naval J. V. boat to the varsity during practice yesterday, started out with it in Saturday's race. The change increases the weight of the crew slightly but gives it two more experienced and seasoned oarsmen.

Anna Harper in Wimbledon Tourney

San Francisco, April 23 (AP)—Mrs. Anna McCuns Harper of Oakland, Cal., first national ranking woman tennis player, will compete in the Wimbledon (England) championships this year for the first time Sha will sail from New York May 15.

The left-handed star is looking forward to another meeting with Miss Betty Nuthall, the young English girl who defeated her in the finals of the 1930 American championship

The Oakland matron will travel with three other American players John Van Ryn and the latter's wife, the former Marjorie Gladman, and George Lott of Chicago.

Southern Takes Lead in W. G. A. Title Play

By BILL GRIMES

Playing in a cold, drizzling rain, the Southern District went into undisputed possession of first place for the W. G. A. team match championship by defeating Northern, 5 to 4, this morning at the Dedham Country and Polo Club

Going into today's match South- ern and Northern were tied for first place, but the deadlock was resolved when Southern came out a 5 to 4 victory which was featured by Mrs R. K. Byers 20 hole win over Miss Eleanor Patton and Mrs F. H. Baker, Jr's, 2 and 1 win over Miss Grace English.

While Southern and Northern were battling for first place, Midland won its first match of the season by beating Eastern district 5 to 4 at Brae Burn and Central went into a tie for second place by winning a 6 to 3 verdict at Western Golf Club. This setback was the third that Western has received this season.

After the lead off players had failed, Midland came through over Eastern when five of the remaining six players each contributed one point.

Miss Edith Stevens of Eastern ran down a long putt for a 4 at the 19th to win her match from Mrs W. M. Ferris, Jr. Mrs. W. C. Quimby of Eastern took a 1 up decision from Miss Ruth Batchelder by winning the last hole

Miss Eleanor Peterson accounted for the third Eastern point by swamping Mrs J. D. Woodfin 7 and 6

With Eastern leading three points, Midland began to function Miss Frances Stebbins piled up a three hole lead to turn over Mrs W. J. Hainan and after she had lost the 20th hole they halved the remaining holes, Miss Stebbins winning 2 and 1

After being 2 down going to the 16th with Mrs. C. F. Rowley, Mrs. D. E. Deland squared the match at the home hole and accounted for Midland's second point by winning at the first extra hole Miss M. M Kennedy pulled Midland up to even terms with Eastern by defeating Mrs J. A. L. Hibbs, 4 2

Although Mrs F. R. Fitzsbrook put Eastern out in front again with a 1 up victory over Mrs F. F. Bentley the visitors' lead was annulled, for Mrs Duncan Wright

[illegible] the match again by defeating Mrs J. T. Pugh 3 and 2 Then Mrs C. L. Newton brought the deciding point, which gave Midland their initial victory of the season by defeating Mrs. R. W Brown 4 and 3

Sox and Yankees to See Londos Bout

Members of the Red Sox and Yankees will be at the ringside when Jim Londos and "Whiskers" Schmidt collide in a finish bout at the Boston Garden tomorrow night. Babe Ruth says he is anxious to see if "Whiskers" is as tough as he looks in his pictures.

Londos is on his way to the Hub from Chicago where he added one more to his list of victories on Tuesday night

Tiny Roebuck and Hans Steinke will engage in the semi-final of 30 minutes. Ray Steele will oppose Gus Tragos in another bout

The other bouts: Willie Davis vs Zelenko and Jack Washburn vs Jim Herlin, the Australian, who is making his first appearance in the club

RUTH IN HOSPITAL, OUT OF GAME FOR 2 WEEKS

BABE'S LEG IS BADLY HURT

By JOE CASHMAN

Babe Ruth will not be seen again in the current Red Sox-Yankee series at the Fens.

The world's greatest and highest salaried ball player didn't break any bones when he twisted his left leg and collapsed while climbing Duffy's cliff after a fly in the sixth inning of the opening game, but he did wrench his ankle, knee and thigh very badly and there is not a chance that he will play again for at least two weeks.

His absence also will be felt by the Yanks because with Ruth in the lineup they are prepared to tenders, and without him they are just another ball club to reckon with right now as he was performing better than he had ever done before in the spring since joining the club.

Usually a slow starter, he began this year by hitting a home run in the very first game, added two more to his string on Sunday last and threatened to regain the crown he lost to Hack Wilson last season before any of his rivals discovered that the race was on.

And his mates as he ever been their habit, kept pace with him and are leading the American League today as a result.

He never looked better than he did against the Sox before the fatal sixth. In the very first inning, he produced a single which scored the Yanks first run and in the last half of the frame he broke up a promising Sox surge by catching Oliver's long fly while laying stretched out on the left field lines.

In the fourth he produced another single which accounted for another run and in the sixth he hit a double which sent Larry scooting home.

Ruth's Work Won Game for Yanks

Three runs batted in and two scored was his contribution to the Yanks cause and since the enemy won the game by a margin of only two runs, 7 to 5, it can readily be seen how important a part the Babe played in the victory.

He finally collared while chasing an Oliver fly in the sixth, but it was after he had doubled in the first half of the frame that his downfall actually began.

Getting set to bat, hit to Pickering at third, and the Bambino to avoid being tagged, stepped short and had to jump to the bag. As the batter was being thrown out at first.

Then, in racing home on Lazzeri's hoist to Webb, he collided with Charlie Berry and was thrown very hard.

These two mishaps softened the leg, and it caved in when he tried to climb the hill.

The injury was one of the most painful, if not the most severe, ever suffered by the Bambino. He had to be carried off the field on the shoulders of his mates and was so helpless when he reached the clubhouse that the uniform had to be cut from his back while he lay stretched out and crying like a baby.

He has recovered from so many injuries, which apparently were more serious than the one that the Yanks are confident that he will return to the lineup before long as well as ever.

Babe's Age May Slow Up Healing

He very likely will, but there is nothing certain that he has already been in the big show for 18 years, twice as long as the average player lasts in that company, and he can't stand the knocks like he could in his younger days.

He may survive this one but he can't take many more and keep on going.

So it is certain that he will not be allowed back until it is definitely ascertained that he is letter perfect, much as the club and fans that won't be for a forte it will be that soon, unless we are greatly mistaken.

With Ruth out of there, the Sox have a chance to gain a few victories in the series. Despite the Bambino's great work in the opener, they came mighty close to copping the verdict, affe. going into the sixth inning six runs behind and indicated that if that famed pitching strength of theirs ever puts in its appearance, it is going to be just too bad for all oppos tion.

Natives Outhit Yanks, but Couldn't Win

The natives are sup. sed to be weak with the stick but they outbatted the slugging enemy making as many hits, 11, and one more extra base blow.

They couldn r however, overcome the four-run advantage Hod' Lisenbee allowed the hostiles to pile up in the very first frame. From then on, they outplayed and outscored the New Yorkers, but it was too late.

The crowd, of course, was disappointed over their failure to win but it liked the fight and spirit they showed in defeat and approved heartily of the way John "Shano" Collins acted in his debut as manager of the club.

The pilot lost no time in pulling Lisenbee and other pitchers out of the box, used very good judgment in the use of pinch hitters and employed all the material at his command in an effort to win.

ONE OF THE SMASHES LEADING UP TO CRIPPLING OF KING OF SWAT

When BABE RUTH'S left leg crumpled under him as he raced up the embankment after Tom Oliver's drive against the left field fence in the sixth inning of yesterday's game at Fenway Park it only was the first of three accidents suffered by the king of Swat in the hectic sixth inning. Reaching third after doubling home Lary at the start of the sixth, Ruth pulled up with a perceptible limp after Pickering had scooped up Gehrig's savage grounder and tossed Lou out at first. Babe had to hop back to the bag. Time was taken out before play was resumed. When Lazzeri flied to Webb the Home Run king raced for home, crashing into Berry with such force that both were sent sprawling as the picture shows. "Safe!" barked Umpire Guthrie. Experts and fans disagreed with the umpire. But photo tends to show Ruth touched the plate with his left hand. Left to right, you see BERRY, RUTH and UMPIRE GUTHRIE. Unconscious from the pain RUTH was carried to clubhouse by "DOC" PAINTER, HENRY JOHNSON, JIMMY REESE and giant JIM WEAVER, baseball's biggest player. X-rays taken at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital failed to show any breaks. The Babe was held for observation. It is feared that on account of Ruth's age, he's 37, the injured leg may not respond to treatment as rapidly as hurts suffered in earlier years. Every day the Babe is out of the game it means the Yankees lose plenty of coin.

MR. BOSTON

By JACK CONWAY

Johnny Buckley, Al Lacy and other keen judges of cauliflower were giving Al the once over.

"He looks like a fearless heavyweight," said Buckley. "He has only had four bouts and has a victory to his credit over Armand Emanuel. I don't think Emanuel is the greatest fighter in the world, but any youngster who can lick him has a future.

"Morro has also beaten Hank Birkie who has quite a reputation out on the Coast.

Mr. Boston

"Jeffries started Al on his boxing career. The former champion feels that the 22-year-old Italian can upset most of the heavyweight contenders.

"I first got a peek at Morro when I went to the Coast last winter with Ernie Schaaf. I had Sharkey give Al the once over, and Jack fell for him like a ton of bricks. He rushed me out to Jeffries' ranch and we arranged to take Morro over."

Morro, his training over, came over to meet Mr. Boston.

"You're handsome enough to get a job in the movies," remarked Mr. Boston as he sized up the six-footer.

"I'd rather be heavyweight champion of the world," remarked Morro good naturedly. "There are a lot of handsome guys but only a few fellows who can fight.

"I have been in Boston for five weeks and am delighted. The sooner Johnny Buckley sends me into action the better."

Tom Kirby Now With Leon See's Stable

"Tom Kirby, Roxbury light heavyweight, has cast his fortune with Leon See, manager of Primo Carnera," declared Mr. Boston. "Kirby was a free agent and See gave him $1000 to sign a contract. See was much impressed by the way Tom stepped around in the gym, and says he will inspire him so that he will carry his magic into the ring.

"Matchmaker Billy Ames of the Boston Garden is trying to close a bout between Al Mello, New England welterweight and middleweight champion, and Lou Brouillard of Worcester for May 15.

"With five straight victories to his credit, Jake Zeramby of Lynn is among the busy artillery at Sammy Fuller and Andy Callahan

"Mike MacNamee of Charlestown says old Rubbery Jaws Risko found a man he could outbox when he met King Levinsky.

"The New York Milk Fund, of which Mrs. William Randolph Hearst is active, is negotiating for a 15-round bout between Jack Sharkey and Mickey Walker which is plans to stage at Ebbetts Field, Brooklyn, in September.

"Johnny Buckley, for Sharkey, and Jack Kearns, representing Walker, have told Damon Runyon that the match is okay. The Milk Fund originally wanted to stage this contest on June 3, but has postponed the affair until September on account of Sharkey's June match with Carnera."

CUSTOMERS ARE NOT KEEN FOR CANZONERI GO

Failure of the cash clients to visit the box office and deposit legal tender there for the privilege of viewing on Friday night the lightweight championship fist-fight, involving the champion, Tony Canzoneri, and his British challenger Jack ("Kid") Berg, is the cause of this state of affairs.

Strong believing the match would be a super box office attraction, doubled the admission prices for the show, the house being scaled so that a sellout gathering would mean a gross gate of $126,000.

The clients, apparently, do not believe that the show is worth the prices, which range from $2.20 to $16.50.

At the conclusion of today's business, the advance intake was approximately $30,000. It is hardly possible that more than $30,000 worth of business will be transacted between now and the battle hour.

Masons Hold Pure Bouts at Arena

Plenty of action was given at the amateur boxing bouts held last night at the Boston Arena, under the auspices of the Massachusetts Federated Squire and Compass Clubs. Some of the best bouts of the year were witnessed by an enthusiastic crowd. Music was furnished by the Everett De Molay band, which played popular selections between rounds. There were 26 bouts.

The final bout in the heavyweight class brought together Howard Range of North Easton and Al Grayson of Boston. After a few moments of sparring in the first round, Grayson scored a hard right to the jaw, sending Range down for the count of nine. On regaining his feet, Ranges was sent down again for the full count by another hard right to the jaw, Grayson winning the bout on a knockout.

Hawaiian Amateur Boxes in Bare Feet

New York, April 23 (AP) Father Knickerbocker, about to get his first peep at the national amateur boxing championships in 26 years, already is blinking at some of the sights the winning youngsters are bringing to town.

The advance guard of the 1627 amateurs who start four straight night of leather slinging in Madison Square Garden next Monday night are taking in the sights. They are coming from 20 states, from the army headquarters at Baltimore and the naval base at New London, Ct., with a six-man team from the Hawaiian Islands wandering about the city, squinting at tall buildings and witnessing the first major league baseball they ever have seen.

One of the Hawaiians, a native lightweight named Benny Akaku-ka, believed to be the best fighter on the team, startled Amateur Athletic Union officials and set them to pondering the rules as soon as the squad reached a gym and climbed into togs to pose for pictures.

Benny was ready for the camera's coming of all but there were no shoes or socks on his brown feet. When the lack was pointed out to him he shook his head.

"No shoes," he said; "no shoes."

In the excitement that followed it was discovered that Benny fights in his bare feet. Back in Hawaii he even plays football that way. A. A. U. officials scanned the books and found there is no rule to prevent his continuing the custom in the national championships.

Shoes, Benny explained, would hamper him as much at this late date as bare feet would embarrass boys brought up in more orthodox ring circles. The prospect of soft-cone stamping on his toes didn't seem to bother him any

"If they step on me," he said, "I step on them."

Tufts Freshmen Beat Huntington

Tufts freshmen yesterday defeated Huntington School in tennis, 4 to 2, on the Huntington courts. The teams split even in singles, but the Jumbos won both doubles matches.

Started his pro career with Memphis in the Southern League in 1920 and was released to Clarksdale of the Mississippi State League the following year.
Memphis recalled him and the New York Yankees bought him in 1922. He was sent by the Yanks to Pittsfield, where he remained until 1924, when he was sold to Toledo.
The Giants took him on in 1925 and released him to Louisville in 1926.
The Cubs purchased him in '27 and kept him until '29, when they sent him to Los Angeles. He was drafted by the Reds last year, sent to the Senators via the waiver route and sold to the Red Sox for Bill Barrett late last April.
He was the Sox leading batter with a mark of .344, making 145 hits, including 36 doubles, six triples and 16 home runs.

12 TEAMS IN COURT FINALS

The final games of the annual basketball tournament conducted by The Boys' Club of Boston will be played Thursday evening when 12 teams, two of each division, will compete for championship honors at the Eben D. Jordan Memorial Gymnasium, Charlestown.

The competing teams are the remainder of an original entry list of 293.

Starting at 6:45 p. m. with the Pygmy contest, the six games will be run off in order on the central court of the big gymnasium. Accommodations for spectators, a facility lacking before because of the three courts being utilized, will be available for the title games.

TITLE GO PLANS COMPLETED

"Handsome" Dick Dunn, of Boston, who will "promote" Max Schmeling-George Godfrey all-Negro heavyweight title bout for the Madison Square Garden Corp., of Illinois, yesterday completed plans for the extravaganza which is to be staged in Cleveland's Municipal Stadium on July 5.

There will be three different prices in seats, as follows:

$5,000 at $5.49 including tax.
40,000 at $12.50 including tax.
$55,000 at $25.00 including tax.

This makes for a total of 110,000 seats and a gate of $1,500,000. According to Dunn, who used a blueprint in making his explanation 24,956 ringside and field chairs will be placed on the field running back to the boxes which will be sacrificed with the elevation of these seats.

Each chair will measure 20 inches, four more than those for the Dempsey-Tunney fights at Chicago and Philadelphia. There will be 30 inches between rows of chairs, which, says Dunn, will make for ample aisle room.

The elevation of the ringside and field seats will start with 3-16 of an inch in the first row ringside and increase gradually to nine feet in the last row of the field seats.

Yankees Send Two Players to Albany

New York, April 23 (AP)—Two more names have been clipped off the New York Yankees' roster. Bill Karion, catcher, and George Miner, right-handed pitcher, were sent to the Albany Eastern league club on option yesterday. Karion was with Springfield last season and Miner with the Jersey City International.

MISS FISHWICK SETS RECORD WITH A 66

London, April 23 (AP)—A record score of 66, made by Diana Fishwick over the Little Ralegh Club course in the British international team matches among England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales, is expected to stand a long time.

Although Miss Fishwick returned from the United States without a major conquest to her credit, her American tour very evidently has helped her game. She took lessons from Johnny Farrell and other well-known American professionals while playing in Florida last winter.

Her 66 yesterday was eight strokes better than the second best score, that of Enid Wilson. Miss Wilson and Molly Gourlay are expected to be Miss Fishwick's most formidable opponents in the British women's championship at Port Marnox, Ireland, June 8 to 13.

Unless Glenna Collett, America's leading woman player, who has already made four futile efforts to win the British championship tries again this year, the British women are unlikely to encounter any serious opposition defending the title from foreign invaders

The American entry for the men's open and amateur championship, although small also, is rather select, with George Voight entered both for the Westward Ho amateur classic and the open at Carnoustie, MacDonald Smith has been touring up his game at Carnoustie, his old home town, for several weeks, and Horton Smith, Joe Turnesa and Tony Manero are also expected over for the open.

H. W. (Bunny) Austin defeated V. Landau in straight sets, 6—0, 6—1, and then F. J. Perry, English youngster who has been playing tennis but three years, defeated H. Gallepe 6—2, 6—2, 7—5. Austin is a comparative veteran of Davis cup play but for Perry it was his first appearance in international tennis.

President Fora of Senators Resigns

Ottawa, Ont., April 23 (AP)—William Fora, president of the Senators, the local club of the National Hockey League, has resigned his post.

He said he took this action to give the Auditorium board, the only ones financially interested in the Senators, a free hand in dealing with the delicate financial situation.

The Senators have been losing money for the last two or three years, leading to negotiations last winter which threatened to take the franchise to some other city.

Rain Halts Match

Hot Springs, Va., April 23 (INS)—Play was to be resumed today in the women's Old Dominion golf championship. Rain stopped the matches yesterday.

GOOD GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON
"Golf's Greatest Teacher"

Those of you who are now familiar with my fulcrum principle and vertical, axe swing, will more readily grasp the real function of the right leg in the golf swing, since if you have adopted that sound golfing principle you must have noted the stiffened, resisting action of your right leg. Since it is desirable to turn or twist only your upper body, in the back swing, there must be some foundation on which this twist can be made. The foundation is, of course, your fulcrum, which in turn is your right leg. Here the gathering of strength there. Now what happens if the weight is definitely shoved over toward the right? Nothing would happen if you managed to gather your strength in your right leg just the same, except that you would be required to move back in precisely the degree that you first moved over. This introduces a moving fulcrum, which is not so good. A fulcrum should be fixed. Any motion in the fulcrum creates undesirable motion in the object being levered, in this case the golf club.

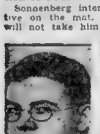
By JACK CONWAY

Gus Sonnenberg, in the best physical condition he has been in since he was tipping over rival backs for Dartmouth, will attempt to continue his wild mat surge when he clashes with Bibber McCoy in a finish bout, best two falls out of three, at the Arena tonight, under the direction of Paul Rowser.

Sonnenberg intends to keep active on the mat, and believes it will not take him more than six months to prove he is the class of the heavyweight wrestlers.



Jack Conway

During the last two years and a half, Gus has only lost from George on the coast last winter.

Sonny has never attempted to offer an alibi for his defeat by George. This writer, however, knows that Gus left a hospital in Albany to come to Boston to wrestle Jack Sherry for the Christmas Basket Fund of the Boston Evening American. He did so against the advice of his doctors.

The day following the Sherry match Sonnenberg collapsed at a Back Bay hotel. He was on the verge of pneumonia. He was removed to a hospital in Providence.

Rest Has Restored Sonny's Vitality

He remained in the Providence hospital for five days and then took a train for Los Angeles where he will bolster Sonny's spirits in such a manner that he was obliged to rest for the first time in three years. This wonder man, who engaged in 110 mat bouts during his first year as champion, had finally cracked.

Rest has restored Gus' vitality and he appears to be a better wrestler than ever.

The youth who has pinned Strangler Lewis to the mat in five matches believes he will go on to knock off the various grapplers who claim they are world's champion.

Sonny's success is due to the fact he is in a class by himself when it comes to scoring with the flying tackle. Other wrestlers have tried to imitate Gus' favorite hold, but nobody has come up to the high standard set by the former Dartmouth hero.

McCoy, who won football and baseball fame at Holy Cross, says he will halt the Sonnenberg surge tonight. Bibber has been winning steadily and believes he has mastered a defense for the Sonnenberg tackle.

Bibber is anxious to secure a match with Ed George and believes that the best way to attain this goal is by eliminating Sonny tonight.

The semifinal bout will feature the colorful Count Zarynoff and George Mamos. The Count also has visions of securing a tussle with George and does not intend to permit Mamos to block his advances. This tussle will be limited to 45 minutes.

They will toss Pat McKay, Irish heavyweight, at Al Morelli Boston College star, in another time limited match. McKay is by far the best opponent Morelli has been called upon to meet since he started blazing his way up the wrestling trail.

STRANGLER LEWIS JACK SHARKEY GUS SONNENBERG

ONE REIGNING MONARCH, TWO DEPOSED KINGS

It isn't very often that you can get three of a kind to pose together but anyway here you see ED "STRANGLER" LEWIS, new world's wrestling champion; JACK SHARKEY, still American heavyweight boxing champion and the man who would win the world's title back for America if Max Schmeling wasn't afraid to get in the same ring with him again, and GUS SONNENBERG, former world's champion. Sonnenberg originally defeated Lewis for the title and is gunning for a return match with the Strangler who regained his throne by defeating Ed George. Dynamite Gus tonight hopes to make a victory over Bibber McCoy, the former Holy Cross football and baseball star, one of the stepping stones to a title match with Lewis. Sharkey is in training for coming encounter with Primo

"Sonny has been wrestling in fine form," said Jack, "and I think he has too much strength for McCoy. It should be a tough match.

Worcester Boxer Wins in Montreal

Montreal, Que., April 23 (AP)—Vernon Cormier, featherweight from Worcester, Mass., pounded out a ten-round judges' decision over Lew Farber, New Yorker, in the feature fight of a five-match card here tonight.

Cormier carried an advantage of over seven pounds into the ring, weighing in at 123½ to 116 for Farber, and took every advantage of the extra poundage.

Yale Crew to Row on Coast

New Haven, Ct., April 23 (INS)—Don Grant of the Yale crew coaching staff is going back home in June. He will be accompanied by Yale's varsity 150-pound crew, who are to race a similar crew of the University of Washington on June 16, according to announcement here today.

Officials at Washington asked Yale to send a crew out to the coast this spring and the local board of athletic control approved the request.

Jockey Killed When Horse Hits Rail

San Mateo, Cal., April 23 (INS)—Apprentice Jockey Felix Roberts was dead here today from injuries suffered from a spill while riding in the eighth race at Tanforan yesterday.

Roberts was buried 25 feet into the air when Lat mate crashed through the fence afte a mixup on the back stretch.

122,500 Fans Turn Out for Opener

A total of 122,500 baseball fans turned out for major league home opening contests yesterday.

At New York, 45,000; at Brooklyn, 25,000; at Philadelphia 25,000 at Boston, 15,000; at St. Louis, 7500; at Chicago, 5000

The Pittsburgh opener with the Cubs, and the St. Louis-Detroit tilt slated for Detroit, were both rained out

Plain Facts about Tires

ANSWER: Positively YES! The LEE-WAY of selling with the same low net cash prices at all LEE dealers enables us to give you, at these prices, full LEE quality which has been recognized as "superior" for 48 years—in tires for 21 years.

QUESTION: Are these LEE of Conshohocken Tires equal to the best quality made by other manufacturers?

ANSWER: Yes! In material and workmanship they equal any and are better than most. In design and test they are not equaled by any other. In performance they are the longest wearing tires ever made. They reduce slipping to a minimum and consequently are unusually safe in braking and non-skid. For easy riding Lee users say they are the most comfortable of all.

TODAY'S TRUE STORY

"The Big Collection"

Love Saved His Life

IT WAS the little home of Melba's dreams. Always a poor girl, she had saved for it for five years; ever since she had come to Detroit from a small town in northern Michigan, to get a job after her father's death. Her mother had died when she was very young.

She was 22 now; when she arrived in Detroit she had been 17, and it hadn't been easy to get a job. Nothing had been easy.

At 22 she was still very youthful looking, with lovely, frank blue eyes; delicate skin, and a face whose prettiness was backed up by a slim figure that was perfection itself. . . And then a huge chasm absorbed the small business in which she had been employed, and the chain had not wished her to continue at the generous salary of $60 per week, to which she had been raised through hard work and devotion to her employer's interests.

And only a few months before Melba had taken the cozy unfurnished apartment and furnished it, on the installment plan, with all of the lovely things her hearty starved soul had craved all of the time she had lived in furnished apartments.

It had been, she admitted, a foolish thing to put down the several hundreds of dollars she had saved as a first payment on the furniture; but she had felt that, with her salary, it would be easy to pay off the installments . . . and now it looked like the end.

For several months Melba had been looking for another position; but none had materialized. She could easily guess who it was knocking on the door. She opened the door to face a handsome young man, not much older than herself; with deep, sympathetic brown eyes and dark curly hair.

"I called," he said, "to collect for the furniture."

Melba knew that installment furniture men were hard boiled. It probably wouldn't do a bit of good to ask for more time. Nevertheless, she said aloud:

"I'm dreadfully sorry; but, you see, I lost my position, and I haven't been able to find another as yet, so I've had to fall behind; but as soon as I find another position . . ."

"That'll be perfectly all right," the young man said, to her astonishment. "Make your mind easy and don't worry. What sort of position are you looking for?" Melba told him. He looked thoughtful and said:

"I get around town quite a bit. I'll see if I can't discover something you might be interested in; I'll phone you if I do."

Melba was so grateful she hardly knew what to do. It was a cold day, so what she did do was invite him to have a cup of coffee with her. For a long time they chatted. He, too, had come from a small town up state. She was sorry when he went. Somehow he had made everything seem different and she was happy again.

A few days later he called up and told her of a position he had heard about. Melba hurried right down town and got the job. It was only $45 a week; but, when he came around the next day to see if she had landed the job and took her to luncheon he said:

"You may have some trouble, since your salary is smaller than your old one, in keeping up the furniture payments. Don't worry about it at all. Take your time." That night they went to a movie. And then, for several weeks, Melba didn't see him. Finally one day there was a knock at her door. She opened it to find a fat, puffy man who glared at her angrily.

"Two weeks behind in your furniture payments," he growled, "we got to pull the stuff unless you come across."

"But!" she said, dismayed, "he told me that—"

The fat man clucked with disgust.

"Yeh, I know," he told her; "he paid the instalment last month and said he'd pay it this month, if you couldn't—but he ain't in and hasn't been in."

"Who are you talking about?" Melba gasped.

"Why the bird down the hall, of course. Last month I knocked at his door by mistake, and started bawlin' all over him because he was back in his furniture payments; and then when I found out my mistake he said he knew you, and gave me the money due, and told me that if you gave it to me not to say anything about his paying it, but to give back to him whatever you paid me. He said he'd keep the payments up if you didn't. But he's not there now."

When the installment collector had gone, after a last threat to return shortly, Melba went down the hall to the door the collector had indicated. She read the name on the door; went down in the building office. The clerk said:

"Mr. Mickey? Why! Didn't you hear about it? Appendicitis. Hospital. Getting along all right, I guess." All choky and trembly Melba hurried to the hospital. He moaned all over when he was permitted to enter the room.

"Why did you do it?" she asked, when she saw that he was able to talk.

"Because," he grinned, "I had seen you around the building several times, but you hadn't seen me. I was crazy about you at sight. Won't you let me pay your instalment payments for life . . . ? I assure you that if you say no I shall have a prompt relapse and die, even though they say it's all over now and all the danger past and that I'll be out of here in a day or so."

Melba could only say what her thumping heart dictated, and that was:

"Yes!"

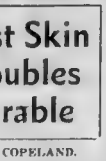
Most Skin Troubles Curable

By DR. COPELAND.

ITCHING of the skin from the presence of a parasite is known as "scabies." For some unconfirmed reason, it is believed to recur every year for seven years. This popular idea gave rise to the name "seven-year itch."



Dr. Copeland

Scabies is caused by a small parasite called the "acarus scabei." It burrows in the skin, producing decided irritation. A sort of rash develops. There is marked itching, usually at night.

If the skin is examined closely, tiny furrows may be seen. The parasite causes this by its burrowing. As a rule, the skin is reddened and scratched in the attempts of the victim to relieve the severe itching.

Any part of the body may be involved. The rash is most commonly found between the fingers and under the arms.

The disease is frequently met in institutions, in certain families, and among soldiers on a campaign. It is transferred by contact from one individual to another.

Cases that are not treated properly may last for a long time. It is not true, however, that they last seven years. Any itching of the skin that has persisted for this length of time is not scabies.

Itching of the skin may be caused by many things. Such diseases are numerous and often lead to much discomfort. If you have persistent itching it is best to consult a physician. He will advise you and outline the necessary treatment.

Answers to Health Queries

CRE. Q—What can be done for scars due to acne?

A—See a skin specialist for his advice. If the scars are not too deep, the X-ray is sometimes helpful in making them less noticeable.

E. J. H. Q—Would a stomach condition cause incessant coughing?

A—No. Have an examination to locate the source of irritation and then obtain advice and treatment can be outlined.

What's in Fashion Today

By AMOS PARRISH

NEW YORK, April 23—Candles are back in fashion. For reading — sewing — card playing. Not real live candles, of course, but candle lamps.

They're back in fashion because the kind of furniture that old-fashioned candles were used with is in fashion. . . English 18th Century. And lamps that look like candles look well with this furniture.

Not only that, but these candle lamps are attractive and look well in any room, whether it's 18th Century or not.

So you'll find that the most fashionable kind of floor lamp today is the one whose light comes from candle-like fixtures. And three candles are smarter than two.

You'll find these candle lamps in all three of the popular sizes of floor lamps. In the junior size, straight up and down and tall. In the lounge lamp which is also straight up and down, but lower, and therefore better for reading purposes. And in the bridge lamp, which has an arm turned out.

More Elaborate

The newest candle lamps are a little more elaborate than they were a while ago. The bases are heavier. Some of them are elaborated in the heavy Early English style and some in the lighter style of the 18th Century.

The junior lamp we've had sketched at the center is done in the lighter style; the lounge lamp at the right in the heavier style.

Then the candle arms on the junior lamp are a little more elaborate. They have more detail on them. But they're still quite simple—not fussy or tricky.

What kinds of shades are in fashion on these candle floor lamps? Silk or parchment? Whichever you prefer.

Parchment Shades

Parchment is particularly good for Summer, though, when the windows are open and dust flies in. They're easier to keep clean.

A rather heavy and opaque parchment looks best on heavier lamps. And one the lighter, more graceful ones, a clear, translucent parchment. They're usually decorated with overlays of gold or silver, conventional borders or natural looking, handpainted decorations.

Fashionable silk shades are of two kinds, stretched or pleated. They must be tailored, however, and so you find very little trimming except for bands on the edges. The most fashionable colors are gold, champagne, rosewood (a pinky beige) and green.

In addition to these English candle lamps there are two other types of floor lamps that look well with period furniture. One is the Early American oil font lamp with a parchment shade.

French Provincial candle lamps of tole (painted tin) are charming in any informal setting. We've had one sketched at the left with an amusing plaid paper parchment shade.

A little study of your room will quickly show you which type lamp will look best in it. Then consider your needs — whether the lamp is merely for light and decoration, or whether you need one for reading or bridge playing or other work where you use your eyes.

Because a too tall lamp isn't good for reading. And a too short one doesn't cast the light over the whole room.

Let Pride Come to Rescue

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX

We are two girls who fell very much in love with a couple of boys who go to the same school with us. When they found out we liked them they were pleased and showed us a good deal of attention. But girls are bound to do, we told everyone about it, and when the boys heard we'd been talking they suddenly changed. They make fools of us whenever they see us now. Please give your best advice because we still care about them.

BLUE AND LONELY

Dear Blue: Charge this little incident up to experience and the next time you become interested in boys don't tell "everyone." If you say, they make fools of you whenever you meet, I should think your pride would come to you. Your pride and you'd not want to make up with such unmannerly boys. And don't forget, if a girl makes a doormat of herself, she's likely to get a doormat treatment.

What Shall We Have for Supper?

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX

I notice in your column that you often advise girls to invite their men friends to Sunday night supper, as it is an easy meal to prepare and serve. Two or three of my friends have taken your advice and had such good times I am tempted to try my luck as a hostess too. But I really don't know what to have. Would you mind giving me a few suggestions? ANNE.

Dear Anne: Don't attempt anything elaborate at first, but have everything good and appetizing. Sandwiches are always a good choice and people like them. There are literally hundreds of different kinds. Have a few made of meat—chicken, or tongue, roast beef or cold ham. They are especially good when toasted, and, if you have an electric toaster, it's jolly to toast them at table. Cottage cheese, pimentos, olives, all make good sandwich filling, also chopped nuts and cheese. Home-made cake is always a treat, and if, you're not accomplished along that line, buy one at a good bakery and get it of the best quality. Nothing is quite so unappetizing as poor cake. Have good coffee—there is no excuse for any woman not knowing how to make that. If you want a second refreshment have fruit punch. If you care to attempt something more elaborate, salads are easy and appetizing.

Meat Loaf for Warm Weather

By MARTHA LEE

TASTY, JUICY meat loaf is always a popular dinner meat in our house. Prepared from the less expensive cuts of meat, either from the neck, shoulder or heel piece of the round, meat loaf is a very inexpensive yet truly satisfying dish that will serve as a hot meat for one meal and then sliced cold for another.

Martha Lee

It is always a good idea to cook two meals at one time, if possible, in particular now that the days are getting warmer and one likes to spend as much time as possible away from the kitchen. Meat loaf is just as delicious served cold with chili sauce or ketchup as it is served piping hot with a nice savory brown mushroom gravy.

The following standard recipe may be used as the foundation for a variety of excellent meat loaves.

MEAT LOAF

1½ lbs. neck of beef
½ lb. fresh pork from shoulder
½ cup bread crumbs, soaked in milk or water
1 cup canned tomato
¼ tsp. celery salt
1 tbsp. minced parsley
1½ tsps. salt
½ tsp. paprika
Dash of black pepper
1 tbsp. grated onion

Run the meat through the meat chopper twice; season with pepper and salt and let stand in refrigerator 2 hour or longer. Then add the soaked bread crumbs, tomato, onion, parsley and celery salt. Mix thoroughly, shape into a loaf, or press into a greased bread pan. Brush with beaten egg, sprinkle with crumbs and bake 1½ hours in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.). Baste with melted butter or bacon drippings and hot water. Serve with tomato sauce.

For a picnic Meat Loaf place hard cooked eggs end to end, through the center of the loaf, then mold the meat around the eggs. When served a slice of egg is in the center of each piece.

SPANISH OR ITALIAN MEAT CAKES

1 or 2 lbs. of finely ground bottom of round beef.
2 cans tomato soup.
2 or 3 onions.
Salt.
2 cans cold water.

Butter baking pan and form meat cakes; mix the tomato soup and water, grind peppers, onions, and stir into the liquid, salting slightly; put this liquid mixture over the meat cakes and bake slowly. Large potatoes may be baked at the same time and dinner will be ready to serve with very little effort.—Pearl A. Bishop, 385 Neals st., Wollaston.

Household Hints

CLEAN WHITE paint with warm water, using a little whiting on the wash cloth, and rinsing afterward with clear water.

To clean a paint brush boil it in vinegar 15 minutes or so, then wash in soap suds and rinse in clear water. Do this before using each different color as it makes a brush like new.

Clean painted washed with ammonia water, 4 tbsps. of ammonia to 6 qts. clear water (lukewarm). Then rinse with clear water and rub as nearly dry as possible.

Finely chopped nuts added to marmalade, especially orange, after opening, gives it a better flavor.—Mrs. Gladys Marshall, 428 Massachusetts ave., Boston.

YOUTHFUL FASHION FOR SPRING. PATTERN 9059

SMALL GIRLS share in the vogue for ensembles that smartly emphasize contrast in color and fabric. The model sketched has a cunning jacket and a flared skirt of navy blue flecked in turquoise. The sleeveless bodice and collar are turquoise. Hand embroidered initials in navy add a chic note.

Pattern 9059 may be ordered only in sizes 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12. Size 4 requires 2 yards of 36-inch fabric and ¾ of a yard contrasting. Transfer Pattern 571 is Fifteen Cents additional.

To get a pattern of this model, send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred). Please write very plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern ordered.

Address all orders to Boston Evening American Pattern Department, 332 West 18th Street, New York City.

The Marry-Go-Round--Love's Young Dream

By HELEN ROWLAND.

IT IS no longer considered a crime for a woman to make up, in order to be beautiful—unless she fails.

* * *

It is never lack of time, lack of courage or lack of opportunity that keeps a man from pursuing a woman; it is nothing on earth but lack of interest.

* * *

* * *

A man will spend hours and lie away nights planning to tell a woman that "all is over" between them—and then feel positively piqued when she cheerfully agrees with him.

* * *

The hand that rocks the cradle no longer rules the world—because, in most families, it's a hired hand from Sweden or Ireland.

* * *

At 20 a girl likes to show how sophisticated she is by ordering the most expensive French dishes on the dinner-card; at 30 she knows enough to show how companionable and considerate she is, by ordering a nice rare steak and fried potatoes.

* * *

Many a man congratulates himself on being a prize diplomat, because his wife is too diplomatic to let him know that she has found him out.

* * *

There was malice in her tone. Larry jumped and glared down at her. Mrs. Lorrimer . id faintly.

"Why, Jenny!"

But Jenny, who had brought a suitcase no bigger than a special delivery stamp, which meant that she was staying for dinner, was half way out of the room, in a flash of scarlet.

"She didn't mean it, you know," said Larry, embarrassed, to no one in particular. He was red as Jenny's costume, to the roots of his reddish hair.

"Don't be too sure!" said Doctor Matthews.

Shortly after the New Year Mrs. Lorrimer, Mary Lou and Travers Lorrimer went to Lake Placid after accompanying Mac to the splendid sanitarium into which Lorrimer had gained admittance for him. The doctor in charge expressed extreme optimism and was certain of a complete cure. Mac's routine was to be simple enough, consisting of food and the keen, cold, mountain air and rest—principally rest. He was heartbreakingly grateful to Lorrimer.

"Gee, Lieutenant," he kept saying, "gee, I don't see why you go to all this trouble for me!"

The least he could do, he assured Mary Lou, for this "great guy" was to get well. And his dark eyes glittered in his emaciated face with an amazing resolution.

Mac had been very good medicine for Lorrimer. For once Lorrimer was forced to disregard himself and think of someone else.

Commodities to Signal End of Adjustment

Deflation Is Regarded as Having Run Most of Its Course

—By M. S. Rukeyser—

Stuart Chase, in his newest book "The Nemesis of American Business," conceding that most recent criticisms has been destructive, seeks to draft a constructive credo for economic reform. Purporting to speak for the average person of intelligence, Mr. Chase draws a prospectus of what he wants.

Standard business executive take notice, for Mr. Chase was astute enough to warn about the "myth of American prosperity" before the panic while they were complacently singing hymns in praise of the new era.

In summing up the engineering specifications for a new order, Mr. Chase stresses changes which will make the individual more vitally alive. Of these he thinks that good health is regarded as the most important single factor.

Thirdly, this critic would like to live, and have his neighbors live, "free from the fear of want."

Fourthly, Mr. Chase would like to live in a community where he "could do the kind of work that is most fun."

* * *

Mr. Chase's prescription, whatever one may think of the details, is timely at this period when a major readjustment is under way.

* * *

The back of a commodity price advance, prior to 1929, misled numerous economists, who saw in the apparent lack of inflation room for continued good business. But in the light of hindsight, it seems that what had been a negative, invisible inflation of commodity prices. That is to say, that even though commodity prices on the average did not advance since 1925, but in fact went off, they did not decline as far as increased output and lowered costs warranted

According to the bureau of labor statistics index, prices at wholesale declined 18 per cent in 1930, and 24 per cent since July, 1929. Since the 1925 peak, the decline has equalled 29 per cent.

In the readjustment of 1920-21 when commodity prices fell with unprecedented rapidity and severity, the descent from top to bottom amounted to 44 per cent. Inasmuch as the readjustment was completed in a year, the business community took a bitter dose of medicine, and quickly readjusted itself to the new level. Commodity prices at present are nearly 20 per cent lower than at the lowest level reached a decade ago.

Though precisely timed predictions are futile, it becomes increasingly evident that we have run most of its course, with the prices of numerous basic commodities at or near the end of deflation. Low prices will help to bring their own cures through ultimately stimulating consumption and curtailing production.

The economics of the Farm Board are somewhat obscure. It has for weeks sought to prepare public opinion for the probability that it would establish huge losses on wheat acquired for stabilization purposes. The latest policy appears to be to sell the accumulated surplus abroad. This is intended to exempt the American farmer from evil results of dumping. But the economics of the world are not so simple. If the American government dumps wheat in competition with foreign growers, it will doubtless help further to pauperize American foreign customers and thus injure world trade and the prospects of recovery.

In fairness, it should be pointed out that statistical authorities vere gave the farming communities and banks a breathing spell for orderly liquidation. The accomplished little more except in the way of liabilities which remain to be liquidated.

SLASH IN N. Y. REDISCOUNT RATE NEAR

By FRANK H. MELOON

State St. has been hearing a rumor this week that a slash in the New York rediscount rate is near, as one result of the visit of Montagu Norman, head of the Bank of England, to the United States. Journal of Commerce hears the story and says the cut from 2 per cent to 1½ per cent is now widely expected in Wall St. Official explanation, if any is offered, is expected to be that the move is to check the gold inflow.

Re-election of Thomas N. McCarter for the 29th successive time as president of the Public Service Corp. of New Jersey furnishes an outstanding example of long continuity in office. Mr. McCarter's record, however, is excelled by that of President Charles L. Edgar of the Boston Edison Electric Illuminating Co of Boston. Mr. Edgar was elected president of the big Boston utility away back in 1900, when Jacob Rogers, then its president, passed away.

Government interference with a private industry that adds to employment and helps pay the tax bills reached out in an odd way when Walter Chrysler, motor magnate, sought to have the name of the Plymouth Motor Co., Chrysler subsidiary, registered as a trade mark. The U. S. Patent Office, which down through the years has worked in mysterious ways its "wonders to perform," was reported as ruling "Plymouth" was too common a name to be "sewn up by business."

Earnings records of National Biscuit company show net income of $4,840,670 for the first quarter of 1931, a gain of 3.7 per cent over the previous year's record. Net income of $18,503,816 in 1930. Per-share return on the common covered exactly the 70 cents earned, as compared with the previous year, on a capitalization increased by the acquisitions of 1930 and early 1931

Today's News of Live Stocks in Wall Street

Wall st. saw plenty of signs today that the market had been sold to a standstill in the last week or two. The short side of the market was overcrowded and the bulls were in an excellent position to force the bears into covering, except that they appeared to lack leadership.

Steel's Early Rally Due to Report

In connection with today's early rally in U. S. Steel, it was reported that the directors Tuesday would declare the usual dividend of $1.75 a share on the common stock, though net income in the period is not expected to exceed 50 cents a share.

Allis-Chalmers Is Held Steady

Allis-Chalmers was held steady most of today's session, despite the report for the initial quarter, showing it for 12 cents a share short of the dividend requirement. The Allis-Chalmers report shows net profit of $482,807, against $1,170,837 in the corresponding quarter of 1930. Orders received each month bookings thus far this year have shown an increase over the preceding months.

Bethlehem Lower Rate Expected

Bethlehem rallied after dipping over 2 points under its opening today. A reduction in 4 or 5 per cent in the dividend for Bethlehem when the directors meet a week from today.

Fox Film Down to Low on Move

National Steel Operations Gain

Kelvinator Shows Business Gains

Kelvinator rallied today after announcement that its business is running higher than ever before in the face of downward curve all through April. Orders received this month to date total 14,453 units, compared with 16,370 for the entire month of April, 1930. Unfilled orders on hand are 45 per cent ahead of last year.

Drug in Move Against Trend

Drug has moved against the general trend at times and has acted better than many other issues. This company has been showing a moderate increase in earnings since the beginning of the current year. Drug a management has been able to maintain earning power during the period of expansion of the business, despite the difficulties which are normally encountered during co-ordination. etc.

Waldorf System Attracts Attention

In this period, when so many unfavorable reports for the first quarter are coming out, the showing by Waldorf System for the period has attracted attention. Net was equal to 70 cents a share, compared with 67 cents a year ago. This was a new record. The best showing in the first quarter was made in March

Borg-Warner's Dividend Earned

Authorities in the automobile accessory field are confident that Borg-Warner will make a comparatively better showing than many others in this line. They have been predicting that the company can earn its present dividend of $1 a share in a narrower margin

Run-in of General Motor Shorts Planned

Interests frequently identified with successful operations on the constructive side of General Motors in the past are said to be planning an early drive against the extensive short interest lodged in that issue. In this respect, it is pointed out that earnings of the company are showing a marked improvement and that net income during the first half of the year will cover the dividend requirements by a margin of more than 15 cents a share

Motor Sales for April Same as in 1930

That is to say, based on current operations, earnings of General Motors for the first half of 1931 will result in net income of between $1.65 and $1.70 a share on the common. Incidentally, it is understood that April sales are running at approximately the same level as in April, 1930

Reports were current that important buying orders had been placed in the "buy low" line account of banking interests closely affiliated with the company.

Supporters Remain on Constructive Side

At the same time, however, it was evident that interests who recently took an important "long pull" position on the constructive side have not altered their views. On the contrary, these interests continue to add to their holdings on reactions. As pointed out here recently, however, the more important "long pull" buying is confined to reactions

STOCKS RALLY NEAR CLOSE IN WALL STREET

New York, April 23—Stock leaders rallied smartly in late trading today, after sinking to new low levels in the liveliest trading session since February.

After a premature effort to rally late in the morning, stocks plunged about 1 to 5 points, many to new lows for the bear market.

LOSS 18 CANCELLED

Comeback in the last hour, however, cancelled most of the loss, and lifted several prominent issues 1 or 2 points above yesterday's final levels.

The closing tone was firm, and the day's transactions aggregated 2,500,000 shares.

General Motors' quarterly earnings statement, showing profit of 61 cents a share, or close to the 75-cent dividend requirement, was a bullish factor in the afternoon, and that stock closed fractionally higher.

U. S. Steel also ended the day with a ¾% of a point gain, after dropping 1 ¾ to a new low at 124¾.

Issues to a point or two above recent lows included American Can, Atchison, Bethlehem, Byers, National Biscuit, International Harvester, North American and Pennsylvania.

AUBURN ON RAMPAGE.

American Telephone recovered after a 4-point drop. Brokerage house, Baltimore & Ohio and Fox failed to regain much of losses of like amount.

Adherents to the Dow-Jones theory would regard the decisive penetration of new low records by the bear market by the industrials as "confirming" the new low for the rails, thus indicating that the major trend was still downward.

This same theory, however, indicated a major uptrend during the abortive advance earlier in the year, so it cannot be regarded as infallible. The Standard Statistics Average of 223 issues averaged 1.31 points below the December low.

Quarterly earnings statements and semi-annual statements continued to appear are keeping sentiment pretty generally bearish, although the low state of corporate earnings has been well understood for some time.

U. S. Steel is expected to report next week first quarter earnings of between 25 and 50 cents a share, but to declare no regular quarterly dividend of $1.75.

There seems little prospect of easy commodity money before or for the second quarter, however, and Wall Street wonders how long the Steel Corporation will dip into surplus to maintain its dividend on the current basis.

GEN. MOTORS' REPORT GIVEN

New York, April 28 (AP)—Preliminary report of General Motors Corporation shows first quarter net earnings of $28,600,000, compared with $44,968,587 in the first quarter of 1930.

The net income, which includes equity in undivided profits of subsidiary and affiliated companies not consolidated, equal after preferred dividends to 61 cents a share on 43,500,000 shares of common stock, against 98 cents a share on the common in the first quarter last year.

The General Motors statement, showing a stronger cash position, and 61 cents of the 75 cents quarterly dividend earned, was regarded in Wall Street as favorable in view of the general shrinkage of corporate profits in the last quarter.

The net available for the common stock fell short of the quarterly dividend requirement by only little more than $3,000,000.

Curb Selling Is Halted by Rally

New York, April 23—A late rally checked heavy selling on the Curb today. Closing prices were irregular. Electric Bond & Share, after breaking to a new low since early in the year, closed unchanged. Oils were soft all day.

U. S. Leather to Reopen Subsidiary

New York, April 23 (AP)—Salamanca, N. Y., plant of Elk Tanning Co., subsidiary of U. S. Leather Co., is expected to resume operations with a full complement of workers early in May. The plant has been idle since January.

Cotton Steady in New York Market

New York, April 23—Cotton futures closed steady today, 1 higher to 3 lower. May 10.06@10.08, July 10.21@32, Oct. 10.67@68, Dec. 10.89@90, Jan. 11.01@02, March 11.21. Spot quiet; middling 10.05.

Grains Are Lower at Chicago Close

Chicago, April 23—Grains closed lower today. Wheat was heavy, ¼@¾ cents down; corn, ¾@1 down; oats, ¼-⅝ off, and provisions showing 5 to 45 cents setback.

Utilities Merged

Listening Post

SALUTE is a word well thought of at WNAC. Up to this writing there is the "Stage Star Salute, then the "Salute to Advertising" and the "Yankee Network Salute. Some former second lieutenant must be suggesting them.

MARTHA LEE radio and newspaper cooking authority, read a snappy poem concerning an odor that grew beside a rose. It was yesterday morning (WAAB at 10:30) and had a sympathetic appeal on behalf of the poor onion. Tears came to our eyes. One would have thought we were peeling a Bermuda.

* * *

* * *

Dear N. F. T.:

What singer on the air is said to have the best diction?

JEANNE DRISCOLL.

CONTRAST is pronounced in the Fox Fur Trappers program tomorrow night (WEEI at 9:30). Danny Weeks' Orchestra will play "Little Old Church in the Valley" right after which Earl Nelson sings "I'm Up on a Mountain."

TWO ANNOUNCERS (we should name them) attempted to embarrass us in a local studio yesterday. They wanted an argument settled as to whether Rimsky-Korsakoff was one or two individuals. Think of them not knowing. We threatened to reveal their ignorance to the station director and they dropped the subject.

* * *

JOHN CLARK, program boss at WBZ, is considering a novel sign, but hesitates to have it made and hung where temperamental performers can see it. Here's the thought:

"Twinkle, twinkle, little star, But remember where you are."

THIS EAR AND THAT AIR (get it?) Return of Arahesque proves that a program may be down, but it's never out . . . Ben Grauer, special sponsor should sign Rosetta Duncan, for her "topsy" bits. . . . an ideal kiddies broadcast . . . Lowell Thomas is remaining in Boston the rest of the week. . . . Wonder if Sandino has a radio set? . . . Maybe he heard what President Hoover said about him. . . . Sorry to hear that we won't hear Abe and David any more. . . . Seth Parker in person again next Tuesday. . . . Aileen Stanley arrives Saturday. . . . Rod La Rocque doesn't like to broadcast. . . . who cares? . . . Some songs grow old quickly these days. . . . there's a reason. . . . Righto, that it.

THE MOST FAMOUS last word. . . Goodnight!

N. F. T.

On the Air

The U. of Pennsylvania relay carnival at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, April 24 and 25, which calls together college champions of the track and field, will be broadcast in detail over WAAB from 2:30 to 5 tomorrow and Saturday. Ted Husing will roam around the field with a knapsack transmitter on his back, and Lawson Robertson, U. of P. track coach, will assist him in describing the events. In similar fashion CBS expects to broadcast the Harvard meet May 25.

SHOW PEOPLE are crowding the other right smartly these days. Tonight o'er WEEI at 8 Our Lady has invited George Jessel, "The Mas Singer," to do a solo turn. Georgie will convert in spirited fashion, sing and do humorous monologue . . . Ethel Norris of "Great Day" and "Rain or Shine" has been corralled for the Radio Roundup, WNAC at 11:30 this eve . . . And tomorrow from WNAC at 2:30, Daniel Frohman, dean of American theatrical producers, will call to the loud speakers all those who have stage aspirations. Frohman will tell what opportunities the theater offers as a career.

LOUD SPEAKING: True Story hour goes NBC July 6 . . . And just to get even CBS has signed the NBC maiden, Kate Smith, who will be heard in a series starting Sunday. . . . Linus Travers is writing a book which he has titled "Production Grinds," which calls for a closeup of the versatile Mr. Travers. He was graduated from Brown in 1927, and became announcer for WEAN. Providence. A yr. there and he was drafted to WNAC, where he was soon appointed production manager. Some of his feats are the first transatlantic b'dcast from Boston, first air adaptation of a talkie, Somerville's Tercentenary b'dcast, and introducing President Hoover during the American Legion convention in Boston.

Port of Boston

By JAMES J. DELANEY

Lowell Thomas, radio speaker and author, gathered material locally yesterday on a fishing trip to Cape Ann on the beam trawler Boston College. Just before the start of the trip Thomas addressed members of the trade from the rostrum on the floor of the fish exchange.

Some 500 pounds of fish were caught off Gloucester. Some of them were used to make a fish chowder for the party which included Mrs. Thomas, Carroll J. Swan of the Boston Advertising Club Feature Ed Wilbur, president Massachusetts Fisheries Association; Edmund J. Dunn, president of the trade from Port Arthur; Francis J. O'Hara, representing the owners of the ship, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hose.

The trip was sponsored by the New England Council. Members of the crew gave an exhibition of fishing on a large scale for the benefit of the party.

CRIPPLED SHIP DOCKED

The steamer Saguache, which was beached at Deer Island Monday night, is undergoing repairs at Simpson's dry dock, Boston. The bottom plates on the port side amidships were shattered. The ship was floated at high tide yesterday and towed to drydock. It had struck a ledge off Graves Light when outward bound for New York and went aground at Deer Island on returning to port.

The vessel's pumps were useless, as the water in the holds put out all fires. Powerful pumps operated by a lighter alongside ware placed on board. All 38 members of the crew remained on board.

RATE WAR AVERTED

Five of the 11 steamship companies which filed notice of their intention to resign from the Far East Freight Conference have withdrawn their resignations and averted a threatened rate war in trade between North Atlantic ports and the Far East. The conference established rates over these routes. The five lines back in the fold are: Barber Steamship Co., Roosevelt Steamship Co., Nippon Yusen Kaisha, Osaka Shosen Kaisha, and Kokusai Kisen Kabushiki.

POLITICS

Notes and Gossip About People You Know

JONES MAY BE MAYOR

Rep. John Jones will be the next mayor of Peabody if the boosting of his colleagues in the House can bring it about. They hope to hear an official announcement any day now that Representative Jones' hat has been cast into the ring.

KNOWS HIS LIGHTS

Rep. Joseph P. White of Jamaica Plain is making a name for himself as a member of the House committee on power and light. He has shown a grasp of the subject that has pushed him to the front.

OLD HOME TOWN CALLS

Rep. Edward J. Sandberg of Quincy is planning a voyage to his birthplace in Sweden this summer. His wife, who was born in Norway, will accompany him and visit her birthplace, too.

PLAN NORWAY VISIT

Another legislator who contemplates returning to his birthplace on the Scandinavian peninsula is Senator Christian Herter of Worcester, who was born in Norway. His wife, born in Denmark, will accompany him.

SEES NATIVE DANCE

Rep.-Rep. Charles H. Sullivan, Jr., has just returned to Boston from Havana where he had the pleasure of observing the rumba danced in native surroundings.

HANRAHAN A PUBLISHER

Ex-Rep. Barney Hanrahan of East Boston has turned publisher. He is one of the proprietors of the East Boston Leader, the latest addition to the journalistic field on Noddle Island.

GAROFANO MISSES RACE

For the first time in many years Rep. T. A. Garofano of Saugus missed seeing the B. A. A. Marathon this year. He spent the holiday with his mother, who is ill. The Saugus legislator was formerly a classy runner and his idea of a good time is watching the sport.

HE HAS AIR VISION

Rep. William H. Hearn of East Boston, one of the sponsors of the million dollar Stranduay along the East Boston waterfront and booster of a bigger and better airport, expects to see airplanes from Europe land at the East Boston airport before he dies. Representative Hearn is a live wire and always has the interests of his district in mind.

GILMAN EXPLAINING NOW

Rep. George Gilman of Boston has doubtful honor of being the only member of the House to vote against the enactment of the $1,500,000 bill for extension of the prison colony at Norfolk. Two hundred members voted in favor. Rep. Gilman is doing plenty of explaining.

INSPECTOR NAMED

Daniel Donnelly of 182 Emerson st., South Boston, has been appointed an inspector of castings in the water service of the public works department by Mayor Curley.

RUBY ROOTS FOR SOX

2 GET SEWER JOBS

Thomas P. McMorrow of 25 Athelwold st., Dorchester, and Joseph W. Girroir of 152 Church st., West Roxbury, have been appointed permanent sewer inspectors in the public works department by Mayor Curley.

ALCAREZ IN RACE

Theodore Alcarez of O st., South Boston, has decided to be a candidate for the City Council from Ward 6 next fall. He will be graduated from law school this summer, and if he succeeds in passing the bar, will open an office in that district.

HE CAN "FIGGER"

Walter Luby of the street-laying-out department is quite a mathematician. Associates in that department consult him on many problems that puzzle them. Incidentally his hobby is numerology.

READING METERS

James F. Ryder of 157 Brayton rd., Brighton, has been appointed a permanent water meter reader in the public works department by Mayor Curley.

UMPIRE IN RACE

The coming campaign for City Council in Ward 15, Dorchester, promises to be one of the most interesting in the city. City Councilor Francis E. Kelly will be opposed by Ralph Brodney, twilight league baseball umpire, and one of the best known men in the district. Both men are aggressive types and it is expected that residents of the district will witness plenty of political fireworks this fall.

MORGAN MERRYMAKERS

BEATRICE KADISH CARMALEEN BUTLER

CARMINE CERULLO ROSE LODICO

Four hundred executives, employes and guests gathered at the Hotel Kenmore at the Morgan Furniture Co.'s annual party. Carmine Cerullo was chairman of the committee in charge, and among those who assisted him were Beatrice Kadish, Rose Lodico and Carmaleen Butler.

FILENE TO BE STEFFENS HOST

New York, April 23—Characters from the pages of Lincoln Steffens' autobiography will meet the author at a dinner to be given next Monday night by Edward A. Filene in Steffens' honor at the Ritz Carlton here.

Characters from the book who will be present include Bainbridge Colby, Clarence Darrow and Mrs. Darrow, Arthur Brisbane, Bernard M. Baruch, Abraham Cahan, Miss Anne Morgan, William Travers Jerome, Ida M. Tarbell, Herbert Bayard Swope, Don C. Seitz, Samuel Crowther, Wallace Irwin, Edwin Lefevre and others.

Their acts and words are woven into the thread of Steffens' life as the reporter tells of his 50-year career as writer, husband and philosopher.

Dr. McGuire Dies

Buffalo, April 23 (AP)—Dr. Edgar G. McGuire, 54, professor of surgery in the University of Buffalo Medical School for 14 years, died last night after an illness of two years.

MORGAN PARTY DRAWS 400

Among executives attending were Abner Cohan, president, and Mrs. Cohan; Sidney B. Kogal, vice-president and treasurer, and Mrs. Kogal; Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Cohan, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Kogal, Jack Pullman, E. A. Brest, L. V. Gaffney, advertising manager, and Mrs. Gaffney; Leo Rheinhers, Boston store manager, and Mrs. Rheinhers; Richard Pierce, Somerville store manager, and Mrs. Pierce; Robert Lewis, Waltham store manager, and Mrs. Lewis.

The entertainee in charge was headed by Carmine Cerullo, aided by Rose Lodico, Samuel Brown, John Tamerkin, Beatrice Kadish and Carmaleen M. Butler. Hazel M. Donehey proved a popular entertainer.

PRESS CLUB TO STAGE FROLIC

The finest vaudeville acts on the American stage will be seen in the big attractions at the eighth annual frolic, dance and style show of the Lynn Press Club at the Ocean House in Swampscott, Friday, May 22.

Between the vaudeville there will be the presentation of the style show on an elevated stage in the large dining room of the New Ocean House, it was announced. Clement E. Kennedy, president of the New Ocean House, Inc., arrived home last week from Vinoy Park, St. Petersburg, Fla., and signified his intention of assisting the Press club members in making this year's affair bigger and better than any of its predecessors.

Don't Be Skinny

Gain pounds of weight in few weeks with new IRONIZED YEAST—a special combination of dried brewer's yeast plus iron—or pay nothing

It seems almost unbelievable how fast new Ironized Yeast has added pounds of good firm flesh—on men and women, children and old people. Nervousness, tired feeling changed quick to new strength and pep; constipation, indigestion vanished.

People ask—what is the wonderful power in Ironized Yeast that has transformed sallow, lifeless, blemished complexions into fresh, smooth, lovely skin. No wonder thousands of women pour in letters praising the marvelous youthifying effects of Ironized Yeast.

Yet the answer is simple. Ironized Yeast is two tonics in one—special weight-building dried brewer's Yeast and blood-enriching, strengthening Iron. The yeast is the same used in making malt and which makes malt so beneficial. It is especially cultured and concentrated to give the utmost in flesh-producing value. Double-tested for strength, purity and potency. Used by doctors and big hospitals.

To this concentrated dried brewer's Yeast is added three kinds of easily assimilated Iron to quickly make rich, red blood and tone the nerves and muscles. By this special process Ironized Yeast is made many times more effective than Yeast and Iron taken separately. Contains no starches, flours or gas-forming fillers. That's why Ironized Yeast works so quickly. Pleasant little tablets—no nasty taste, no gas or bloating. Never spoil, safe for all.

Go to any drug store today, get a full size treatment of Ironized Yeast, and take the little tablets as directed. If after this generous trial you are not delighted with quick results, your money promptly refunded by manufacturer.

THE PENALTY of GRAY HAIR

Gray hair—age—slipping. All these unpleasant ideas seem to go together. Yet, it is not at all necessary. Gray Hair often comes to a young head and people who have it are neither old nor unattractive. But how often you hear people say, "Why, she has gray hair" and—she is on the shelf.

This penalty need no longer handicap the woman who uses Canute Water. The first few drops of this wonderful properties which actually restore gray hair to its original color. No complicated "color plan"; no danger of getting brassy shade when your hair is blonde. Not only the one kind of hair, but all kinds—it really is surprising what successful youthifying results it gives.

Any Canute Water can be used in the privacy of your own home. Many women use it on a "hush-hush" thing: they simply do not mention it. You need not mention it either. Just buy a bottle from any good druggist—get rid of the handicap of gray hair. Canute Water is so safe, so scientific and sure that your dealer knows it is to your interest that he will refund your money. Sold and recommended by Liggetts, Rexall's Houghton & Dutton, Epstein Drug Co., Inc., or any good druggist. The Canute Co., Milwaukee, Wis.—Adv.

Woman Lost 19 Pounds of Fat---Cost 85 Cents

Table Tells How Much Women and Girls Should Weigh

How would you like to lose 19 pounds of fat in a month and at the same time increase your energy and improve your health?

How would you like to lose a load of unhealthy fat that you don't need and don't want and at the same time feel better than you have for years?

How would you like to lose your double chin and your too prominent abdomen and at the same time make your skin as clear and clear that it will compel admiration?

How would you like to get your weight down to normal and at the same time develop that urge for activity that makes work a pleasure and also gain in ambition and keenness of mind?

Get on the scales today and see how much you weigh—then get an 85 cent bottle of Kruschen Salts which will last you for 4 weeks. Take one-half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning — cut out pastry and fatty meats—and when you have finished the contents of this first bottle weigh yourself again.

Then you can laugh at the people who pay hundreds of dollars to lose a few pounds of fat. They will know the safe, swift and pleasant way which you have found. And you'll also know that the 6 salts of Kruschen (each one of which is necessary to certain glands should reasons to function properly)—have presented you with glorious health.

After that you'll want to walk around humming a tune—because one 85 cent bottle of Kruschen Salts is worth one hundred dollars of any person's money.

Leading druggists America over sell Kruschen Salts. Buy one bottle with the definite understanding from the very first you will be joyfully satisfied or money back.

Mrs. G. L. of Shepardsville, Kentucky, writes: "I have reduced 15 pounds in 31 days with Kruschen and feel like a three months a day." All strugglers know all about Kruschen.

"I'M going, going"

THE modern Miss needs no "time out" for the time of month.

If you've ever taken Bayer Aspirin for a headache, you know how soon the pain subsides. It is just as effective in the relief of those pains peculiar to women!

Don't dedicate certain days of every month to suffering. It's old-fashioned. It's unnecessary. Aspirin will always enable you to carry on in comfort. Take enough to assure your complete comfort. If it's genuine aspirin it cannot possibly hurt you. Bayer Aspirin does not depress the heart. It does not upset the stomach. It does nothing but stop the pain.

Headaches come at inconvenient times. So do colds. But a little Bayer Aspirin will always save the day. A throat so sore you can hardly swallow is made comfortable with one good gargle made from these tablets. Neuralgia. Neuritis. Rheumatism. Pains that once kept people home are forgotten half an hour after taking a few of these remarkable tablets. So are the little nagging aches that bring fatigue and "nerves" by day, or a sleepless night.

Genuine Bayer Aspirin tablets cost so very little after all, that it doesn't pay to experiment with imitations!

BEAU IDEAL

CHAPTER 32

The Warden's Caller

I DASHED to the door and slammed it behind me, marched whistling to the prison-gate.

"Come on, Bo!" growled the outer guard, standing by the open inner gate. "Thought you was never coming."

I came on merrily, and, as a puzzled frown gathered on the face of the guard, I once more cleared up the situation with dispatch.

Lamb-like he marched before me to The Fort, and was quickly locked into that silent room.

I rushed back to the office, and, found the bookkeeper still unconscious, and was greatly relieved to discover that his heart was still beating.

When I stepped out of that office and locked the door behind me, I was in complete charge of that State prison. For a short moment later, the gates stood wide open. All I had to do, to be free, was jo out of one of them, proceed to the prison garage, and in the warden's own car, depart in peace—easily a warder or two got about his lawful occasions in the prison car.

But even one additional hour before the news was broadcast might make a difference between successful escape and a burst for freedom, inglorious and ineffective.

Thus thinking, I hurried across to the "Administration-block," and set about smashing the telephones and telegraphic apparatus, and cutting every wire that entered the administrative building.

Tackles Warden

This work I bethought me that, ere borrowing his car, I might put the Warden where he would do least harm for the longest time.

If I made off at once, leaving him peacefully reclining, he would arise and stroll over to the prison at about 9 o'clock—and then he would be up.

If, however, I put him "under restraint," not only would the discovery be postponed, but when it did arrive, the absence of the Warden would inevitably increase the confusion.

Straight from the "Administration-block" I hurried, passed across the wide-open gateways, and walked boldly up to the front door of the lonely house, close by, where, with his wife and elderly Irish housekeeper, dwelt Warden O'Shaughnessy.

Mercy! Put into the house? I had not stopped to think of the bolted doors, nor of fastened windows. How was I to place the Warden under arrest, if I couldn't get to him?

I will say the warden was prompt, and distinctly peevish.

"What's up, then?" roared the warden.

"Don't rightly know, Sorr," I replied, "but I was towld to run looks the divvle."

"Who are you?"

"Guard Mulligan, Sorr . . ."

"I'll be there . . ." snapped the warden, and, as, clad in a long overcoat and pajamas, he stepped out into the darkness, he felt the prod of an automatic.

"Up with them, quick!" I snapped. "And step back into the house."

"Do exactly what I tell you—and make it snappy—for I can shoot you here and now, and make my getaway."

"Sure thing," drawled the Warden. "Who are . . . ."

The Warden hung in doubt for the fraction of a minute, glancing at the pistol leveled at his stomach. I raised another and pointed it at his face.

"Jump to it, Warden," I said. "You can die if you want to, but I'd like to spare your life."

He promptly turned about, and led the way downstairs and out of the house to the garage.

"Have you got the key?" I asked.

"No."

"Get it then, quick."

"There isn't one."

I laughed, even as I realised with some chagrin that I could have come straight to the garage and taken the car without this waste of precious minutes.

But then, again, I reflected, it was well worth the lost time, to have the Warden safely under lock and key, and to postpone the hour of discovery and pursuit in the morning.

The Warden threw open the garage door.

Locked Inside

A minute later, the Warden was locked inside one of the strongest cells in the prison, and I was on my way to the prison gates, with a most useful collection of the prison keys. There was a better scheme than locking him with the rest. The longer it took them to find the Warden, the longer it would be before pursuit was organized.

As I passed through the prison gates I occurred to me to think. If I chose to do so, I could release every single convict in that jail.

I thought of Rosemary, and my heart hardened to stone. Had any one of them dared to lay a hand on her, I would have shot him. In cold blood, and killed that killing no murder, but an execution.

And then I thought of two convicts, neither of whom was any more real criminal than was I myself—the boy called Kid Sailor and old Snipe Fresn. I would give them their chance.

As soon as the old chap's bewildered mind had grasped the idea, he thanked me, with tears in his eyes.

"No, son," he said. "I'm tired. I wouldn't have a hope to keep straight, for the bulls wouldn't let me . . . No, God bless ye, son, and thank ye from the bottom of me heart, but go while the goin's good . . . And lock me in again for fear I'm tempted, or they think I'm in it and beat me up."

"I'll do all the shooting that's to be done," I said, "and that's done. There's a boiler-suit, or overalls, or something of the sort, on the wall of the Warden's garage, so you'll have that much disguise."

"The Warden's garage!" ejaculated the boy ,as I locked the door of his cell behind me.

"Yes," I said, "we're going for a joy-ride in his car."

And in speechless amazement he followed me as I ran towards the prison gate.

STOMACH TROUBLE
Mr. Lloyd Merriam, 45 Pembroke St., Boston, says: I had suffered from stomach trouble for six years following an attack of typhoid fever. I suffered great distress and had spells of vomiting. I learned that the ray would be necessary. I read of Dr. Walsh and learned that he was very successful in the treatment of troubles like mine. I had him treat me and my temperature was 107°. In an incredibly short time I was well. It has been about a year and one half since Mr. Walsh treated me. I am entirely well and I have had no trouble since. I am glad to tell you of my experience in the hope that others who suffer as I did may benefit by my experience. I took my treatments at the Walsh Institute and I hope Dr. Walsh will be as successful in treating you as he was in curing me.

Occupy Nicaragua!

Hoover Ultimatum Invitation to Lawlessness

Under the first bitter fruits of its renunciation of responsibility for the protection of the lives or the property of Americans or others in Nicaragua, the Hoover Administration did not have to wait long.

A revolution in Honduras broke out within forty-eight hours after the Hoover Administration broadcast to the world its unanimous ultimatum to Americans in Nicaragua to flee to the coast lines to the nearest port.

Many of the outlaws that have been helping Sandino to maintain not only Nicaraguans, but Americans and other foreigners, come from Honduras.

If the Hoover Administration would not protect American life and property in Nicaragua, it was a fair conclusion that it would not protect American life and property in Honduras.

In other words, the Hoover ultimatum to Americans in Nicaragua was an invitation to lawlessness throughout Central America which has been quickly accepted in Honduras.

In the meantime the failure of the Hoover Administration to carry out the Coolidge program in Nicaragua, and the repudiation by the Hoover Administration of the traditional American policy which that program was designed to uphold, have been condemned throughout the United States.

In the wake of this condemnation, American warships have been rushed to Honduran ports, and Mr. Hoover's Secretary of State now insists that the ultimatum to Americans in Nicaragua did not mean what it seemed to say.

The only way to undo the damage that the Hoover-Stimson repetition in Nicaragua of the Wilson-Bryan attitude toward Americans in Mexico has already done is to go in force to the protection of American life and property wherever it has been put in jeopardy.

If the Hoover Administration wants the American people to believe that it has finally decided to return to the Coolidge program and the traditional American policy on which that program was based, President Hoover will forthwith—

Demand that the Nicaraguan Government wage a warfare against these outlaws that shall not end until Sandino and his chief gangsters have paid with their lives for the murders they have committed.

Offer to the Nicaraguan Government all the Marines necessary to police the ports and towns of Nicaragua until the Nicaragua National Guard has rid that country of Sandino and his outlaws.

Send General McCoy, who inaugurated the Coolidge program in Nicaragua, by airplane to Managua to inform President Moncada that unless he keeps his promises to the Coolidge Administration to organize immediately a national guard of sufficient strength to avenge the massacre of Americans and prevent future massacres, the American Government will have to occupy Nicaragua until it is restored to the rank of a responsible nation.

Rats

And Humans

Whether you get your brains from your parents or from your surroundings is being tested at the University of California.

The experiment is not performed on human beings, but rats, which are easier to observe and which produce several generations of descendants in a short time.

Half of the rats are morons. The other half are intelligent. The moron rats are mated with other morons, and the wise rats with other wise ones.

The tests made thus far, over three or four generations, show that the first class grows more stupid, and the second more brilliant from generation to generation.

Whether this applies to human beings none can be sure. Geniuses have been born of very ordinary parents, and intelligent parents have produced very ordinary children.

Usually, bright men marry dull women, and bright women marry dull men. Thus nature discourages the birth of abnormally stupid or abnormally intelligent children; keeps most of humanity on the same general level.

Science, sometime, may change that.

Look and Feel Younger

Barbers and beauty specialists are largely responsible for the improved health of American women, according to Frederick L. Collins in the new issue of Harper's Bazar.

The barber lifted a load of 3500 tons of hair from 14,000,000 women's heads. That made them feel so much younger they wanted to look the part in other respects and proceeded to patronize about 30,000 beauty shops. As a result of their bobbed hair and bottled complexions women began to look so healthy and youthful from the neck up they just naturally set to work on the rest of their anatomy. Says Collins:

"Grand dames who had never listened to the family doctor were quite willing to listen to the beauty doctor. They realized that there was no use sticking young heads on old bodies, and that is where the health movement began."

That American women have made marked gains in health during the past ten years is not a matter for argument. The proof is to be found in the cold figures of insurance companies.

Blow Hot, Blow Cold

Is the world going to turn into a frozen snowball, or will it get hotter and hotter? What climate is ahead of us in the next few dozen million years? The New York chapter of the International Philosophical Society has been trying to work it out.

The members haven't been able to agree, so they sought out Einstein, who obliged them with a simple reply:

"The results so far achieved from the theory of heat do not, I feel, justify this extrapolation, except in so far as we consider as a final consequence the assumptions held tenable at the present time."

There is more in this than meets the eye. Or, perhaps less. Maybe it is a polite way of saying, "How should I know?" Anyway, the future looks good for the overcoat trade. Also for sherbs and parasols.

New York Day by Day

Washington Square

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, April 23—Old World visitors usually select Washington Sq. as one of the most idyllic spots on Manhattan Island, preserving the mellowness of its years without shabbiness. Among its diffusing and gentle shadows there is still the glow of old grandeur.

In the tiny square remains the wooden band stand of the small town. If the weather is seasonable weekly concerts are held. Rustic benches fill with bare head mothers and children, dreaming old men and handsome lovers. New York's confusion seems far away.

Yet only a few steps through the arch Stanford White designed and there is the clatter of lower 5th ave. Lining the square are red brick homes with wrought iron fences enclosing patches of green and offering that clean lined residential solidity of the smaller city.

Vine-clad porches give a rosy vigorousness and there are fresh lace curtains, gaunt hall clocks and crepuscular basement dining rooms. Cats nap in windows and dogs laze on the lawns. The square was the pivotal point of Knickerbocker aristocracy as early as 1840, and never lost that sedate look.

Henry James once wrote, while living in the square: "There is an established repose not found in other quarters. The square has a riper, richer, more honorable look than any of the ramifications of the longitudinal thoroughfares—the look of having had something of social history."

Aside from James, Edith Wharton lived there and wrote many of her most enduring pages. O. Henry once resided there. As did Mark Twain and later Harris Merton Lyon, Theodore Dreiser, Will Irwin, Samuel Hopkinson Adams, Samuel Merwin, Sinclair Lewis and many others.

* * *

* * *

When Ryley Cooper was fishing in Florida recently his companion was a quaint old cracker who told of the shooting of one of the town characters. "Why did they shoot him?" inquired Cooper.

"For overbeariness," was the reply.

Cooper looked puzzled and the cracker explained: "He was the overbearinest feller in the county."

* * *

New York has no "Little France" in the manner of its "Little Italy," "Little Hungary" and the like. There are about 30,000 French citizens but they are widely scattered. Cooks and seamen hang out in boarding houses near the West st. docks. Servants and hair dressers center between 24th and 34th on 8th ave. The newest French colony is on the fringe of Morningside Heights. Et voila!

* * *

Strangers frequently miss the appearance of Chinese women in the squirmy streets of Chinatown. There is a fable they are hidden away in the underground honeycomb. The truth is they are excluded by immigration laws. Chinese often marry West Indian negresses, Russians and women of the Mediterranean races.

He sat on a slight knoll along Riverside Drive, a curly haired youth, suggesting Stevenson's vagabond with a "bed in the bush with stars to see." He called out: "Hey, buddy, a hot dish of chili wouldn't go bad with that sunset, eh!"

Some pessimist down in Biloxi, Miss., telegraphs: "In case you still think life is worth living by 1932, here's your Happy New Year."

And another Gloomy Gus in Phoenix, Ariz., writes: "It is quite probable that you give fleeting entertainment to many with your writings, but very fleeting. But so far you have given nothing to posterity. Who'll remember you a year after you are gone?"

You haven't heard the news. I'm to be stuffed for the parlor mantel.

We Love Laugh-Makers

By WINIFRED BLACK

FOR GOODNESS sake—did you see how they've been mobbing Charlie Chaplin over in Europe?

They're so crazy about him, he has to hide in alleys and back doorways to keep from being buffeted by his enthusiastic admirers.

Hurrah! for him, and hurrah! for the people who want what they want when they want it, and aren't ashamed to say so in good, loud, vulgar voices.

Isn't it pathetic to see now the world dotes on anyone who can make them laugh.

Oh, yes, we all admire the man who gives millions to charity.

We all take off our hats to the woman who spends her time and her strength taking care of the poor and the weak and the helpless.

But we really love the one who makes us laugh.

Or who shakes us out of our bored disgust with the commonplace of living and makes us cry.

We're all so terribly bored—there are so many dull people in the world.

Scientists, educators, philosophers—they are wonderful and useful beings, but for me and my world give me the singers and the poets, and the comedians and the people who make me laugh at myself and cry over the sorrows of other people.

Roses and violets, and lilies of sweet perfume—who ever thinks of them when the banker or the broker or the insurance man is talking!

They've come from a happier world—these comedians and poets. And every real comedian must be a poet at heart—and when we see them or listen to them the noise of the busy, sordid, practical world dies away and we hear again stealing through a kind of hyacinthine haze—the voice of Pan playing on his reed pipe down by the laughing river.

Listen, World! -:- By Elsie Robinson

People With Whom You Can't Get Along

THERE ARE certain people you can't get along with.

You've tried for years, but it's No Go.

Yet you won't acknowledge that you're licked. You insist stubbornly, that things are bound to come right if you try hard enough. So you go on trying . . . wasting around . . . getting into brawls . . . missing and making . . . getting up, only to start another battle . . . worrying, weeping, wearing yourself and everyone else out.

Elsie Robinson

Doesn't matter whose fault it is. If you can't get along with anyone, there's only one course to pursue—

LEAVE THEM ALONE!

Don't get mad about it. The other fellow has as much right to Be Himself as you have to Be Yourself. He has committed no crime against you if his notions do not happen to jibe with yours. He is really under no obligation to like you and you are under no obligation to like him. And the world will get along just as well if you don't—provided you're both tolerant and generous and fair to each other. Indeed, the world will get along much better if you cut out all this bellyakin, stop pestering each other, get back on your respective jobs and—

LEAVE EACH OTHER ALONE!

And this doesn't mean merely a business "associate, or a passing stranger. It may mean your father or mother, your sister or brother, your oldest neighbor. The fact that you share the same parents, the same home, the same street address, is no guarantee that you'll have a single notion in common. You may live with your own family fifty years and yet have less understanding of them than you have of the man you met yesterday. But what of it? They may be very estimable people even though they do not understand or even like you.

You may be a worthy citizen even though you're not keen for them. You all have jobs which are much more important than mutual admiration. Then why waste your life in attempting the impossible? Why insist on "getting along" when you haven't the makings? Be courteous. Be fair. Be thankful, when possible. But—

LEAVE THEM ALONE!

And that means more than leaving them alone with your body. It means leaving them alone with your mind. If you can't get along with people, stop picking at them in your thoughts. Stop wondering what they're going to do to you. Stop wishing you could do something to them. Realize once for all that they're different and that they have a right to be different . . . and that you'll never mix. So stop trying. Stop peering. Stop sniffling. Forget them and get busy.

"But that seems so cold blooded!" You protest. "We ought to love everyone. Love's the most beautiful thing on earth——"

Sure it is—when you find the real article. But much of our so-called love is simply a fancy title for a lot of high-powered cussedness and silliness. Such as a desire to gabble and gush . . . or a yen to run someone's else life. All of which will buy you nothing but grief. AND YOU HAVE IT COMING TO YOU, IF YOU INDULGE IN THAT SORT OF SAPPINESS OR SNOOTINESS.

Compromise Alone Can Solve Prohibition Problem

By Bainbridge Colby

IF it were possible to conceive of the skipper of a ship so opinionated as to nail down his compass in accordance with some preconceived and wholly theoretical idea of direction, we would have an ACCURATE picture of the mentality of the fanatic dry and the equally bigoted wet.

The mind is a good deal like a compass. If one's thought is to be a safe guide for action, it must not be nailed down by prejudices that cannot be budged, or convictions that are fixed and unalterable.

BAINBRIDGE COLBY

The mariner in the one case, by his attempt to subjugate his compass, loses it altogether, and the bigot, WHO MISTAKES CONVICTION FOR TRUTH, loses the safest pilotage a man can have—candid and untrammeled thinking.

* * *

We are making NO progress in the solution of the prohibition problem. The Wickersham commission—as representative in personnel as a commission could be—has completed its painstaking survey of the results of ten years of experiment with the theorem of national prohibition. Its members, representing every section of the country, have swept every section of the country with their investigation and while disagreeing on remedies have agreed on the fact that NATIONAL PROHIBITION IS A FAILURE.

What do we propose to do about it? Shall we persist in a demonstrated failure? Are we unable to appreciate facts? Has light ceased to illuminate? Is error to continue unaffected by the truth?

We seem dedicated to preconceived notions, for or against the Eighteenth Amendment, and unwilling to address ourselves to the plain duty of its revision—with our experience to guide us, and the appalling evils that have resulted from prohibition, to spur us on.

We cannot stand still, and suffer a law to continue which draws not only upon itself, but UPON ALL LAWS, A GROWING POPULAR CONTEMPT.

* * *

THERE MUST BE A BROAD APPROACH TO THE PROBLEM WITH SOMETHING AKIN TO THE STATESMAN'S QUEST FOR THE RECONCILEMENT OF CONFLICTING EXTREMES OF OPINION.

The speech of William Randolph Hearst, delivered last November in a nationwide radio broadcast, was in this vein:

"I have no sympathy," said he, "with the extreme wets, whom I have opposed for forty years. On the other hand, I have little sympathy with the unreasonable drys."

He showed that he clearly perceived that the naked repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, and the return of liquor regulation to the several states, would simply result in the continuance of many of the evils of prohibition in both the wet and the dry states, with secret drinking in some and unrestricted drinking in others.

He frankly proposed a solution, in the nature of a compromise between extremist views on both sides of the issue, seemingly realising, as Herbert Spencer, one of the most influential of modern thinkers, said, that "PERPETUAL COMPROMISE IS AN INDISPENSABLE ACCOMPANIMENT TO A NORMAL DEVELOPMENT"; or, as Edmund Burke put it, that "ALL GOVERNMENT, EVERY HUMAN BENEFIT AND ENJOYMENT, EVERY VIRTUE AND EVERY PRUDENT ACT, IS FOUNDED ON COMPROMISE. WE BALANCE INCONVENIENCES; WE GIVE AND TAKE."

* * *

The true solution, Mr. Hearst insists, must provide for the retention of control of liquor legislation in the federal government, with permission of its restricted manufacture under federal licenses, and a carefully regulated distribution.

Speaking, as he says, "IN THE INTEREST OF TRUE TEMPERANCE TO PATRIOTIC TEMPERANCE PEOPLE," he urges them, in view of the inevitable repudiation of prohibition, "not to let the situation fall into the hands of the wide-open wets, but themselves to reject a policy which has proved a complete moral, legal, social and political failure, and SUBSTITUTE A POLICY WHICH SHALL PROVE AN ETHICAL, ECONOMIC AND PATRIOTIC SUCCESS."

There are signs that the leaven of his thought is working in the popular mind.

Only a few days ago the press dispatches carried a statement by William M. Forgrave, former superintendent of the Massachusetts Anti-Saloon League, that, although still convinced that the Eighteenth Amendment is right IN THEORY, he believes that "a system which would provide for the sale of alcoholic beverages, in restricted quantities at cost, through Government agencies, to licensed citizens, would no doubt be NEXT BEST TO PROHIBITION ENFORCED, and BETTER THAN PROHIBITION NOT ENFORCED."

He appeals to serious minded citizens to have a well thought out plan to be adopted as a substitute for the Eighteenth Amendment, apparently assuming that IT WILL BE "REVISED" as recommended UNANIMOUSLY by the Wickersham commission.

He warns them not to leave the direction of the movement for revision to those who have no program except the restoration of the liquor traffic as we knew it prior to the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment.
